JOHN MOORE, the editor of the Williamsport Breakfast Table, has quite a lively time of it just now. He prints articles reflecting on the character of certain men and next he is mixed up in a libel suit.

THE following paragraphs are an extract from an able article which appeared in the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette of recent date, and which discusses the business situation of the country in a cool and reasonable manner and at once impresses the reader that the writer possesses good sound judgment:

It is difficult to satisfy the average business man, whether merchant or manufacturer, with a moderate volume of trade, even if it is fairly remunerative, at least in this country, where energy is at a premium and the "making haste to be rich" is too frequently the all-absorbing ambition.

Nothing short of a boom in the markets to make a large increase in sales and percentage of profits is accepted as the desirable limit of prosperity. But it should be considered that this cannot be permanent, for there must be a limit to an advance in prices, which always stimulates production and finally overstocks the markets and produces a reaction and a depression, which brings stagnation and loss.

The recuperation in trade which is now in progress, has all the indications of being healthful and permanent. It has not been rapid, and it is not likely to be overdone. Commodities which have been selling below the cost of production have generally advanced in price to where they can be produced without loss, and in most instances at a fair profit, and yet are cheap enough to go steadily into consumption.

Business has been lifted out of the slough of despond and is now progressing on its journey, not without meeting some obstacles, but with ability to overcome them, pursue its proper course and take in the legitimate and moderate profits to which it is entitled.

There are some labor troubles, but they are of limited significance, and, for the most part, they are such as might be avoided if it was not for a few persons whose occupation would be gone if they did not stir up trouble and contention between workmen and their employers.

Wages have been higher than they are now, but it is doubtful whether there was ever a time when the purchasing value of wages was any larger; all of the prime necessities of life and most of the comforts and luxuries are obtainable at a much lower cost than when higher wages were paid.

With material evidence of prosperity at home, we are sure to make progress in the recuperation of business, although our foreign trade is not wholly satisfactory, and although prices are likely to remain upon a comparatively low plane for an indefinite time.

We are happily free from any entangling foreign complications, and whatever may occur in Eastern Europe—whether war breaks out or peace continues between the large powers or the smaller countries—our home trade cannot be disturbed.

This country is large enough, and its interests and industries are sufficiently diversified to make an interchange of commodities within itself large in volume, and a source of profit not only to producers but to all who participate in the movement, of which the transportation interest is the most important.

A prosperous condition of our foreign commerce is greatly to be desired, but we seem destined to have a good home trade in any event, and the other will follow in the course of time.

DR. SAWBONES says the surest way to take a cold is to be always hugging the stove. Mr. Mingle the Only One.

But May Be the Returns of that Land Swindle are Not All In Special Dispatch to THE PATRIOT. WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 19.—In 1880 Mr. S. Q. Mingle, a music teacher doing business in this city, entered into a correspondence with F. Foster Smith and J. B. Benton, representing themselves as the United States Land and Investment Company of New Jersey.

As was printed in yesterday's PATRIOT, Mr. Mingle was swindled out of 6,000 acres of land in Clinton and Centre Counties. The land company agreed to pay Mr. Mingle six $1,000 bonds and only sent him three, which on investigation proved to be not worth the paper they were printed on.

These bonds were supposed to have been issued on lands in Texas which it was claimed were valued at $1,000,000. Mr. Mingle had Smith and Benton arrested Tuesday in New York and they are now in Ludlow street jail. When seen by a PATRIOT reporter this morning Mr. Mingle refused to make any statement. He said: "I was swindled by these men who wrote me glowing letters about the company and that is about all. My lawyer has advised me not to make any statement, as it might injure my case. I will not say anything either for or against it."

Failing to get any information from the swindled music-dealer, your correspondent interviewed several business men and discovered that the Land Company had flooded this county with circulars about a year ago, but failed to catch anyone except Mingle.

STORM AND FLOOD.

The New York and New Jersey Coasts Under the Sea—Fierce Snow and Rain Storms.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The water of the Atlantic Ocean seemed to lose its equilibrium this morning and sloped over this way. Never before has such a high tide rolled in upon the city and incalculable damage has been done along the water front.

At 10 o'clock, when the tide was at the full, the water was said by the ferry authorities to be nearly three feet higher than it had ever been known before. The bridges in the ferry houses on the North River were tilted up by the tide to an angle of thirty degrees, and the incoming boats scraped along on top of the rack guards.

West street was a sight to behold. The foot of Cortlandt street was a sea. The water was over a foot deep in the middle of the roadway, and the tide came bubbling up out of the culverts like in a bubbling mineral-water spring. All the basement saloons and stores along the water front were from one to four feet deep in water.

In Vesey street, between Washington and West streets, business was suspended at 9 o'clock on account of the water flooding the cellars and ground floors of the business houses. Everett's Hotel and dining rooms at 11 o'clock had the floor submerged by over two feet of water.

In Barclay street the water had not attained the height that it had in Vesey, though all the cellars were flooded and everything in them movable floating about.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 24.—The tide at high water this morning was higher than it has been since 1867, when 70 feet of the Light-house Cottage, on Massachusetts avenue, was washed away. The tide-water is on every avenue in the city, except Atlantic, and boats are brought into use to convey residents to and from their homes.

The ocean ends of all the avenues are flooded, and Indiana avenue, on which the Brighton is located, from Pacific avenue to the beach, is impassable. The wind, which has been blowing a gale for two days from the northeast, died out during the night, so that the sea ran down, and no great amount of damage was done, though the board-walk is washed away in many places and property along the beach front is somewhat damaged.

The works of the Drainage Company are damaged to the extent of about $4,000. No trains on the Camden and Atlantic or West Jersey Railroad have arrived. The tide was so high over the meadows that the tracks of both roads were floated out of position.
