

Democratic County Com. for 1886.

Table listing Democratic County Commissioners for 1886, including names like Belmont, Harris, and others.

By all appearances the silver question will be a "hard nut to crack" for congress.

A BILL providing for the admission of Montana Territory as a state was introduced in senate by Mr. Voorhees during Monday's session.

The committee on invalid pensions of the House agreed to report in favor of the bill increasing the monthly pensions of widows from $8 to $12.

The Judicial Salary bill was passed. It gives all the United States District Court Judges $5,000 a year, and prohibits them from appointing their relatives to office in their courts.

The total amount of the appropriation for improving rivers and harbors was limited to $11,000,000, by the respective house committee last Friday. Now for a struggle to divide these $11,000,000 to best advantage among the needy districts.

Gov. CURTIN, after having refused to serve as chairman of an insignificant committee, in justice to himself and his state, is given a place on the committee on naval affairs, A. S. Hewitt having surrendered his place in favor of Curtin. This looks more like business and fairness. Broad statesmanship should always have the preference to factious schemes in filling important house committees.

THE DAUPHIN COUNTY COURT decided against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in the out Pennsylvania Railroad question. The decision of Judge Simonton meets with almost universal favor, as it compels great railroad corporations to obey the dictates of the constitution as well as other people have to obey it. The Pennsylvania now determines to appeal to the Supreme court, but nobody expects a change of Judge Simonton's decision, except the company itself.

A DISGRACEFUL political action, which very much resembles the election fraud of 1876, was that committed by the Ohio legislature, when they pitched out the democratic members of the Cincinnati district and filled their places with republican rivals and so managed to reelect John Sherman to the United States senate, and avoid the danger of a possible election of the democratic candidate Allen G. Thurman. Then, in order to still the pangs of their consciences, some of the members proposed an amendment to examine the rights of said democratic members to their seats in the legislative halls, and if the examination should result in their favor, to reinstall them. A poor way of throwing sand into the people's eyes.

THE PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION BILL passed the House and the serious question of who shall fill the executive chair in case of the President's and Vice President's death is satisfactorily decided. The bill has the President's approval and signature and is now a law. The Presidency, according to the bill, will after the Vice President, devolve upon the members of the cabinet in the following order—Secretary of State, Secretary of Treasury, Secretary of War, Attorney General, Postmaster General, Secretary of Navy and Secretary of Interior. This seems a fair disposal of an important matter, and Congress may be congratulated for getting rid of it at this time. Besides putting seven lives between the presidential chair and the people, it is a most gratifying thought to the democracy that the succession is by this new law securely put within their party. If the law should become part of the constitution yet it would settle the question for all future time.

Presidential Succession.

The Bill Passed Exactly as it Was Adopted by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, January 15.—The House took a whole afternoon's session on the Presidential succession bill and sat continuously until after six o'clock in order to finish it. There was a prior order for an evening's session on pension bills of a private character, but on motion of Mr. Mason, chairman of the pension committee, who stated that there was very little business of that kind ready, the order was vacated. The succession bill was thus pressed to a final vote and was adopted without alteration as it came from the Senate. With the president's signature it will become the law of the land.

More Work for the Altoona Machinist.

ALTOONA, January 15.—The Pennsylvania Railroad issued an order today to all the employes of machine shops that on and after Monday next time will be increased to ten hours instead of eight, as heretofore. This is good for Altoona and the workmen are jubilant.

Thought it Was an Earthquake.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—An explosion of 250 pounds of dynamite at Ardsley, N. Y., where work on the water tunnel for New York City is in progress, demolished all the buildings near, and shook all the houses in the village. The shock was felt for many miles around, and dispatches detailing an earthquake sensation were sent from all the towns. No one was seriously injured, though there were some narrow escapes.

The Loss by Fire at Beaver Falls.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., January 15.—The Beaver Falls Car Works Foundry and Machine Shops were burned to the ground this morning, together with the Chinese headquarters and every building on the square facing Sixth avenue, except the old Mansion House. The fire started in the foundry, but from what source is not known. It destroyed over $50,000 worth of paterus and rendered four families homeless. The total loss is estimated at from $120,000 to $200,000.

Two Statesmen Seriously Ill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Senator Miller, of California, and Representative Rankin, of Wisconsin, who have both been lying critically ill for some time with Bright's disease of the kidneys, are reported as gradually growing worse. The Senator has been unable to go to the Capitol since his arrival from the Pacific Coast, but Rankin, after a desperate effort, made his appearance upon the first day of the session and was sworn in, though since that time he has been losing strength and his death is expected within a day or two. He is now partially paralyzed and delirious most of the time. Until very recently both patients were reported as improving, and their friends were much gratified, but at the present time the friends of the member from Wisconsin, have given up all hope, and the family of the California Senator are anxious about the result of his illness.

Huntingdons Tale of Sorrow.

Severe Weather Compels Worthy People to Appeal for Aid to Sustain Life.

HUNTINGDON, Jan. 17.—There are more hunger and suffering among the poor people of this city this winter than ever before in its history. The recent extremely cold weather has compelled the disclosure of many cases of destitution that were before concealed. There has been scarcely any work for laboring men who have not had regular employment, especially since the building of the water works was suspended, and men of sober and industrious habits have been unable to provide for their families. During previous winters there was a relief society, but now there is no organization of this kind, nor other systematized charity here. The applications to the Directors of the Poor of the county for aid have been unusually numerous, and because of their number, those officials have become more careful and reluctant than ever in granting it. The industries that have just been revived will employ but a small proportion of those in need of work, and the fact that there are prospects of work for a few is likely to bring more people here than there are places for.

—Just So. The wise and prudent man now procures a bottle of Dr. Kessler's Celebrated English Cough Medicine and keeps it in the house to be prepared for croup and whooping-cough emergencies. It never fails. It never disappoints. Instructions for treatment of croup and whooping-cough on each wrapper. Nothing like it for colds and all lung troubles. Dissatisfied buyers can have their money returned.

A Sudden Summons.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The community was profoundly shocked yesterday afternoon at the announcement of the death of Miss Katherine Lee Bayard, eldest daughter of the Secretary of State. She received the guests at the large reception at their home last night, and was gayer and more spirited than she had been for some time, as for a week past she had been suffering from a severe cold and neuralgia. The physicians pronounced the cause of her sudden death heart disease.

Miss Katharine Lee Bayard was the eldest of the six daughters, and through the long period during which her mother had been an invalid she had been given all the charge and responsibility of the family. All leaned and depended on her, and her younger sisters had a love and admiration for her that was unusual among sisters. She was a clever and brilliant girl, whose wit and repartee was proverbial; and she was always surprising her friends with some unexpected turn and phase of her character. She was a most fearless rider, and at hunts and riding parties would not hesitate at putting her horse at anything.

The Cabinet circle and society in general will pay respect to Secretary Bayard's family by canceling all engagements of this week.

—MUST GO. The horrible nauseous worm-seed compounds called vermifuges and worm syrups, many of them as worthless as they are obnoxious, have had their day. It's downright cruelty to compel a child to take them, when Mc Donald's Celebrated Worm Powders, so easy and pleasant to take that children will take them and never know a medicine is being administered, can be procured for the small sum of twenty-five cents. Any case of failure to cause expulsion where worms exist, the money promptly refunded.

Stories of the War ILLUSTRATED IN EVERY ISSUE.

A Paper for the Homes of the Land—Sparkling and Original in Every Feature.

On the First of January a new departure in every feature of the Weekly Times was made. Every number will be liberally illustrated in its War contributions, which have so long been a specialty in its columns, and in its Stories, which will be greatly enlarged from the pens of the best writers, and in current History, Biography, Politics, Art, Science and the leading events of the day.

The time has passed for the weekly journal of the city to fill the place of a newspaper. The daily newspaper from the great centres of news now reaches into every section of the land. Every inland city and every town of importance have their daily newspapers, and the local weekly, with the wonderful progress in provincial journalism, meets every want that the daily newspaper fails to supply. The metropolitan weekly of to-day must be much more than a newspaper; it must be a magazine of family reading; it must lead the magazine in popular literature; it must lead it in popular illustration, and it must meet every requirement of the intelligent reader of every class.

Stories of the War

Will be published in each number from the ablest writers who participated in the bloody drama of civil strife, and each will be profusely illustrated. The most entertaining and instructive Stories from the best writers of fiction will appear in each issue, with illustrations.

TERMS: Sold by all news agents at five cents per copy. By mail, $2 per year, or $1 for six months. Clubs of ten, $15, and an extra copy to the getter up of the club. Address, THE TIMES, TIMES Building, Phila.
