GOVERNOR PATTISON, accompanied by attorney general Cassidy and other prominent men during last week visited the Mt. Joy, Chester Springs and McAllisterville Orphan schools, in order to make a personal investigation of the reported state of affairs in those schools. The discoveries they made at these schools fully manifest the outrageous treatment the poor children receive at the hands of their principals and teachers. The fare with which the children are fed is in most cases miserable, their clothing shamefully scant and ragged, the bathhandreds of children being compelled to wash in a few Molasses barrels and in the same water, and one towel is made to answer for twenty children. The beds are filthy and deal out a eves are predominant simply for want of cleanliness. And all this is going on while the state, or rather the people of this state, amply pay for the proper maintenance of the soldiers' or phans.

the Philadelphia Record visited the Chester Spring school, to inspect the same, they were again convinced of the truth of the heavy charges brought against the schools. On this occasion the Governor had to put up with the rudest insults thrown at him by the for the quiet and dignified bearing of the mighty waves. the state executive, some of the boys would even have assaulted his person. No doubt they were instructed by their superiors to behave in this disrespectful manner, but alas, where is the discipline that should prevail in such institutions.

school, which was visited by the Governor on Monday and Tuesday, a petition was handed to him, signed by more than 50 boys, complaining of hunger and asking for relief. Children of that school, who were before the committe as witnesses, say that their food is often so stale and full of worms that many are sickened by the sight, but for fear of punishment dare not complain. Some of the children were recently so horribly beaten by the principal with white thorn rods that they now lay in the infirm-

And in the face of all this State Superintendent Higbee, under whose direct supervision all these schools were for many years, has the extraor- ing. dinary boldness to defend the management of the schools, and attemp ts like Pontius Pilate to "wash his hands in innocency."

If he and his lieutenants are no shamefaced enough to speedily hand in their resignations, it is the uniform verdict of the press and people of or address J. L. Loomis, Passenger Pennsylvania to turn the whole pack Agent, Middle District 111 South of rascals out.

CONGRESSMAN HAHN, of Louisiana was found dead in his room at Willard's hotel, Washington, on Monday morning. Upon examination by the Coroner and Dr. Bliss it was found that he had bled himself to death, a blood-vessel near his heart having bursted from violent coughing. The body of Mr. Hahn was taken to New Orleans, and both houses of Congress adjourned early out of respect to the memory of the deceased.

YESTERDAY was St. Patrick's day, and by direction of Parnell, the Irish leader, that day was to be elaborately celebrated in all cities of Ireland, with a view of gathering all the people favoring independent government. Official papers announce that proposition for a radical change of the Irish government are to be laid before the English purliament this month yet.

APPROVAL BY THE PEOPLE

The President is receiving letters from all parts of the country, from all classes of citizens, and from every walk and occupation of life, congratulating him upon his attitude with reference to the Senate. It is evident that in interposing a check to the Senate's arrogant pretentions he has touched a popular chord. The correspondence in question presents a bewildering variety of standpoint and interpretation, but an absolute unanimity of approval as to the President's course and of condemnation as to the Senate's. The letters are from merchants, politicians, professional men. scholars, women, artisans and laborers. They are couched in every school of rhetoric, and bristle with all conceivable eccentricites of grammar ing accomodations are of the poorest, and orthography. But in every one Kessler's Celetrated English Cough of them there is unmistakable evidence that the President has struck the key to which the people's heart rings true.

It is at once instructive and pathetic to look over these great sheaves of nauseous smell, and sore heads and letters, the spontaneous tribute of the citizens. Those from the old full of meliow retrospect; those from the young throbbing with confidence and hope. Each gives in his own way and from his personal point of view the light in which the controversy strikes him. Each has a characteris. ular organization written about, and tic version of the controversy, colored | they will be more personal sketches of On Wednesday of last week when by his experience and individualized the regiments and their enrollmen the Governor and Attorney-General, by his environment. Mr. Edmunds may spin his artful web of special pleading. Ingalls may sneer and sting, and Logan vex the shivering welkin with his Beeotian bawl but the nation will ask itself whether it was not time to draw a line beyond which the Senate's arro- vania. gance might not pass, and with one voice it will applaud the President for To cap the climax, at the Mercer drawing it. Nay, it will forgive the Senate much for having forced the issue.—New York Star.

Engineer Mohr's Feculiar Death.

ALLENTOWN, March 13.-Thomas Mohr, an engineer on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was killed this afternoon under peculiar circumstances. An engine of improved pattern had just been and it was taken out to-day to be tried on the New Jersey division of the road. bert. The smoke-stack was made higher than on the standard locomotives, but it safely passed under a number of overhead bridges until Hokendauqua was reached. Here is a bridge crossing the track that has been the cause of many deaths. It was believed, however, that the engine would pass clear of the bridge, and it came along at a rapid rate. The smoke-stack was too high, and in the collision it was broken off, crashed through the cab and instantly killed the engineer. The body was taken to Wilkesbarre, where the dead man leayes a wife and family.

PETFRSON'S MAGAZINE for April opens with a very beautiful steel-engraving, viz: "The Little Pitferer," after a picture by the celebrated Ger man artist, Meyer Von Bremen. Then comes a double-size colored fashionplate, which all the tadies will rave over; two colored patterns; and some fifty wood-cuts of fashions, embroideries, etc. The stories, all original, are eyen better than usual. "On The Roxbury Sands" is one of great power. "Sister Dorothy," by Edgar Fawcett, is a society novelet of very high merit. "The Burglar Alarm," by Frank Lee Benedict, is intensely funny. "The Millionaire's Daughter," by Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, grows in interest and force with every number. Altogether, we do not see how any lady can do without "Peterson." The terms are but Two Dollars a year; and now is a good time to subscribe. Address CHARLES J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
