AN EXCITING SCENE. - People returning from Bellefonte on Tuesday afternoon brought the news of an exciting incident which occurred in the Court House that forenoon. An Italian, by the name of Vincent Julto. having been tound guilty of stealing a watch from Richard's jewelry store, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary. After reeral merchandise. D. S. Kauffman & ceiving his sentence he took his seat within the bar. An eye witness who sat near the culprit tells us that he noticed him nervously counting his beads as if praying and then quickly pulling out a table fork which was in his inside coat pocket, he stabbed himself five times in quick succession in his left breast, at the same time falling from his chair. The heavy vest he was wearing prevented the sharp prongs of the fork to enter his body very deeply. The instrument was at once taken from him and he was carried to the Grand Jury room, where he again attempted suicide by trying to choke himself to death with a strap. He was then taken to jail and the first thing he did there was to break a piece of glass from a window with which to on the market to-day is Ely's Cream | cut his throat, and it was found advisable to put him in shackles. The fellow is thought to be cranky and it is feared that he will yet find a way to kill himself.

> -On Sunday afternoon, Stella, the only daughter and oldest child of Mr. & Mrs. Wm. Miller, of this place, was buried. She was a bright and lovely little girl in the blooming age of six years and three months and was a great favorite both of her bereaved parents and of regretful friends. On Monday previous to her untimely death she had a heavy fall while playing in the yard. striking with her forehead the wheel of a baby carriage. Nothing serious was thought of this mishap at the time. But on Tuesday evening she took violently sick from overheating herself and was in an unconscious condition nearly all the time up to her death on Friday forenoon. One of the attending physicians declared that her death resulted from congestion of the brain. The funeral was largely attended, the M.E. Sunday school taking part almost in a body, while the town people were strongly represented. The services which were held in the M. E. church at 3 o'clock were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Heckman, who preached a fix. yery touching sermon, assisted by Rev. Wasson, of the U. B. church. From the church the white coffin containing the corpse was carried to the cemetery by four young men, followed by Stella's Sunday-schoolmates and friends. At the grave the infant class sang an appropriate hymn. Wheeling, W. Va., April 26th, 1886. EDITOR JOURNAL:-Perbaps the readers of e Journal would be interested in a letter from this city. It contains about thirty-three thousand inabitants, is situated on the Ohio river and has this commercial advantage besides that of three railroads and extensive manufact uries which are located here, such as furnaces, nail factories, glass works, pottery, wholesale houses, and a large number of industries of all

In a city of this size and make-up of every na tionality under the sun, it may be assumed that there is considerable wickedness. Saloons abound, the Sabbath is desecrated, by open vioence of law and order and the works of the evil one are bold and open.

To counteract these tendencies and create purer atmosphere morally, the churches are doing a good work and prominent among the faithful and devoted city pastors is Rev. E. H. Dornblaser, of the English Luth. church, who is growing in favor and popularity not only among his own people, but in all the benevolent enterprises of the city he is deeply interested. His work steadily increases and additions to the church are made every few weeks.

The hope of the is the place of the christian mothers and sisters to ask legistatures that they be rightly taught and guarded from the snares of the direst enemy of the home-the saloon. Temperance work is much needed in all our cities and villages. A sentiment for total abstinence from all intoxicants and uncleanness and favoring prohibition should be encouraged and fostered. There is too much conservation and lethargy on this mestion which so closely affects the sanctity of the home and social circle. Even among temperance people and church members there is a poseness of opinions and lack of conscience. It is well to agitate-agitate! The churches and philanthropic enterprises are the bulwarks of civil and religious liberty and are the potent owers which support and uphold our Republic. Miss Jennie Smith, the evangelist will hold a series of meetings here in a few weeks. Her miraculous faith cure, after nineteen years of inffering, has given her a national reputation.

A few days ago accompanied by my friend, Miss Nannie Britt, whose recollections of her lovely visit in your beautiful valley are often recalled, I spent a few days in the country with some German friends of the finest cuiture, who have been residents of America for a number of years. The mother, Mrs. Helwig, is almost seventy years old and it is a pleasure indeed to hear her play Beethoven, Mozart and the grand music from the old masters with a touch and soulful expression that shows study. The Easter services in all the churches were largely attended, the sermons were eloquent, the music fine and the floral decorations were very profuse and beautiful. The city missionary is Miss Boyd, who goes a

An Efficient Remedy

In all cases of Bronchial and Pulmonary Affections is AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. As such it is recognized and prescribed by the medical profession, and in many thousands of families, for the past forty years, it has been regarded as an invaluable household remedy. It is a preparation that only requires to be taken in very small quantities, and a few doses of it administered in the early stages of a cold or cough will effect a speedy cure,

Has preserved the lives of great numbers of persons, by arresting the development of Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Pulmonary Consumption, and by the cure of those dangerous maladies. It should be kept ready for use in every family where there are children, as it is a medicine far superior to all others in the treatment of Croup, the alleviation of Whooping Cough, and the cure of Colds and Influenza, aliments peculiarly incidental to childhood and youth. Promptitude in dealing with all diseases of this class is of the utmost importance. The loss of a single day may, in many cases, entail fatal consequences. Do not waste precious time in experimenting with medicines of doubtful efficacy, while the malady is constantly gaining a deeper hold, but take at once the speediest and most certain to cure, family where there are children, as it is a most certain to cure,
