THE most important business transacted in Congress last week was the consideration of the river and harbor bill. Nearly the whole of the Pennsylvania delegation voted against the

THE present democratic majority in Congress is 43. To overcome this only have to hold their present districts, but gain 22 more for their side . This is a bigger job than the Repub lican side can bandle and therefore the prospects for a democratic majority in the next congress are not so bad.

HON S. P. WOLVERTON, of Sunbury, has been mentioned by the Northum . berland County Democrat, as a pos sible candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor. It is a question as yet whether the gentleman will allow his name to be presented to the state convention, but there is certainly a very strong feeling in his favor among the democrats of his own as well as neighboring counties.

GEORGE R. JENKS, who resigned his position as Assistant Secretary of the Interior states in his letter of resignation that "other imperative duties" compel him to give up his Government position. An article in the Herrisburg Patriot of the 18th, throws some light upon the immediate cau se of his resignation. The will of the late John E. DuBois, the founder of the village of the same name, in Clearfield county, is being contested by the niece of deceased, Mrs. Thos. S. Flood of Elmira, N. Y. The article goes on to say that prior to 1874 Mr. DuBois trequently besought Thomas S. Flood to remove to DuBois and to manage the estate with a view to re alizing on the various parcels of the property, that he, the owner, then ill might be better able to distribute it among the various heirs. Mr. Flood made frequent visits to Mr. DuBois, and in 1874 went to DuBois and remained four years as the manager of the property, returning to Elmira to manage his own affairs. Mr. Flood again after being importuned by Mr. DuBois, last fall, took charge of the old gentleman's property. Mr. Flood has in his possession letters bearing date January, February, March, April, May, June and July, 1884, all of which urge him to come to DuBois and take charge of the old man's property, reference being made to real estate, as well as other property.

Now it is held that if John DuBois' estate was deeded to John E. DuBois on January 17, 1884, the old man had no right to negotiate with and actually employ Mr. Flood to look after this property, with such promises as he had made, and that letters in John DuBois' peculiar handwriting show that he was at different dates of writing the owner of the property. The Assistant Secretary of the Interior, George R. Jenks, counsel for John Dubois, resigned his Government position to assist in the management of the DuBois property, John

"I hereby respectfully tender my resignation of the office of Assistant Secretary of the Interior, and request its acceptance at your earliest convenience on or before the 15th of May, instant. I deeply regret to sever official relations with a chief whose considerate wisdom has illuminated and lightened official labors and rendered their performance a pleasure. I regret to part with my associate, whose courteous and cordial demeanor in our common work has impressed me with pleasant memories. But other imperative duties require me to return to you the trust committed to me. With the belief that the love of right and truth which has characterized your past official career will ensure success to your future, I am yours tru-G. A. JENKS."

POWDERLY ON THE BOYCOTT.

The Grand Master Workman Asks Some Pertinent Questions.

derly, Grand Master Workman of the Knights of Lator, has sent out the folcott as practised by the workingman. What has it to say of the boycott as practised by the employer of labor? Let me state a case as it occurred during the early part of this year. A manufacturer, employing hundreds of men, learns that the men have organized an Assembly of the Knights of Labor. He at once discharges every man of them. The men did not ask for shorter hours, more pay or a change of majority the republicans would not any kind. A committee waited upon the manufacturer to ascertain his reasons for the discharge of his employes. His answer was: "They have joined the Knights of Labor, and I will not employ a member of that society. I can manage my own business myself.' The men have been turned out on the street for exercising their rights under the laws which allow them to "pursue happiness" in their own way.

> been filled by imported men. Will you give me your opinion, editorially, of such action as that? Would you advise the men to sever of Labor in order to regain their former positions? If so, would you advise them to give up their religion should the employer resort to the same coercive > measures h In case the men belong to the Masonic order and the employer discharges them and refuses employment to them until they abandon that society, would you advise them to leave it in order to secure employment? If not, what would you advise?

In case an employer makes war upon the Masonic order, would a discharged member of that organizatian be justified in telling a brother Mason of the injury done him? If the brother Mason is a merchant, and is handling the goods manufactured by the man who discharged his fellow member, would he be justified in refusing to handle these goods until the manufacturer made amends by re-employing the members of the order?

Up to the present time the press has dealt with this question with but one standpoint. I believe it will deal fairly by it from all sides.

A copy of this letter is mailed to each of the leading journals. Do me the favor to make your reply on or before the 19th of this month, if possible, and oblige the undersigned with a copy of Very truly yours, T. V. POWDERLY.
