Michael Metz Executed at Uniontown.

Convicted of Murder Upon Circumstantial Evidence—"Me Hang for Nothing" the Last Words Spoken.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 12.—Michael Metz alias Michael Metz, the condemned murderer of Rocco Cassidenti, on September 26, 1885, was hanged in the jail yard at this place shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon. The execution was witnessed by 150 people. Metz spent the hours after 12 o'clock in close communion with his Maker. Just after 2 o'clock the doomed man with Rev. Fathers Kettell and Yerman walked to the scaffold. He was limp and seemed almost lifeless. He trembled with inexpressible emotion as he stood upon the gallows. "Me hang for nothing," was all Mike Metz said in response to the Sheriff's question: "Have you anything to say?" Mike stood erect trembling like a leaf. The sun shone direct upon him. The priests ascended the gallows, locked arms and were followed by the doomed man between the Sheriff and his deputy. On the scaffold they stood and the priests with Mike recited the scriptures. Just after the clock struck two the priests descended, the rope was placed around the doomed man's neck, the white cap was drawn down over his head, the Sheriff and deputy bade him farewell and they then left him. An instant later the trap was sprung and the tenantless clay of the alleged murderer hung dangling in the air. There was no noticeable suffering and death followed in just 12 minutes and 10 seconds.

Metz was convicted entirely upon circumstantial evidence. The dead body of Rocco Cassidenti was found in a sugar camp in Spring Hill township, this county, with two bullet holes in his head. Metz was seen with the murdered man the day previous and was arrested on suspicion of having done the killing. Metz had on his person when arrested a $100 bill and a $50 bill, identified to be the bills drawn from a bank three days previous by the murdered man. Cassidenti had deposited in an Italian bank in New York $400.

A Senator's Downfall.

A Former New Jersey Legislator Committed to House of Correction.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—A sad story was told in Magistrate James L. Brown's court this morning—a story which serves as a first-rate temperance lecture. A wretched couple were arraigned before the Magistrate. They were James Welsh, and Sarah, his wife. The Society to Protect Children from Cruelty charged them with drunkenness and neglecting their little ones. They have four children—Thomas, aged 15; Joseph, aged 13; Sylvester, aged 11, and Vincent, aged 5 years. All are bright, handsome boys. They formerly lived at Hampton Junction, Monmouth county, New Jersey.

Welsh was a blacksmith and was well-to-do. He was a bright man and was quite popular. He took an interest in politics and was sent to the New Jersey Senate. His downfall dates back eleven years, when he gave up his business and came to this city. He began to drink, and soon his fortune of $15,000 was swept away. He sank lower and lower, and finally sold his household furniture and spent the money for drink. Not content with this, he squandered his son Thomas' earnings amounting to about nine dollars a week. It is said that Mrs. Welsh is quite as dissipated as her husband. The magistrate committed the couple to the house of correction for six months. The two eldest boys, Thomas and Joseph, were entrusted to a relative, and the youngest, Sylvester and Vincent, were handed over to the Society to Protect Children from cruelty and placed in a home.

Persons who have suggestions to make to editors about how to run a newspaper should write them out and send them by mail. Unless this is done the editor may interrupt them in the midst of their remarks to ask for a chew of tobacco, in which case their comments may become disjointed and the desired effect not produced. Write it out by all means, and be sure to write on only one side of the paper, so that the editor can use the other side.
