Raining in Kansas.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., April 21 .- A heavy rain has been falling for two days. Grass needed it, and wheat and oats would have been a failure if it had not come soon. The wheat and oats crops are now safe, and corn stands a very fair chance. Most of the peaches are all right, and there will be a fair crop. A LEGISLATOR THRASHED.

He Offers to Sell the Votes of Fellow Members at Ridiculously Low Prices.

LANSING, Mich., April 21 .- Representative Milo H. Dakin, of Saginaw, found himself in pretty hot water last evening in the state house of representatives. Dakin is a shingle inspector and packer when not helping to run the state government, and ranks in the house as a labor representative. There is a bill before the house to amend the charter of Saginaw. Dakin went to the legislature who, he told the mayor, would oppose the bill unless their votes were bought for it. Opposite the name of each member was his alleged price for his vote. The mayor said: "Ab, is that so?" and went back to Saginaw to raise the money, as Dakin supposed. Instead, however, he raised a different kind of breeze about Dakin by inform ing the members whose names were on this list. They held an indignation meeting, and about 5 o'clock last evening Dakin was cornered in one of the committee rooms and roundly thrashed. The attention of the house was thus and brought to Dakin, andihe will probably be expelled. The prices named by Dakin for various members of his list were absurdly small, even if they were purchaseable representatives, and it is claimed that what Dakin wanted was that, as a rule, the day's work on the of the ground or in the loose manure. to get the money from the mayor and road is "cut short at both ends;" that In the South, potatoes raised in this pocket it himself.

MARVELOUS CHANGES.

What the Future Will be to those who

Refuse to Believe. Is this country unconsciously undergoing a wonderful change, is the change to take place before we are aware of the fact, and when it has taken place will we wonder why we did not see it before it was too late?

Those that see the changes early avail themselves early, and thereby receive benefit.

The shrewd iron man sees the iron nterest transferred from Pittsburg and Pennsylvania to Birmingham, Alabama, and in his far-sightedness sees the furnaces in Pennsylvania torn down er advance of 35 and the Buckeye State and deserted for this new and prolific field. It is claimed by the iron men of Alabama that the low price at which iron can be produced there will revolutionize the iron interests of the world.

We have seen the grain-growing centres of this country shifted to the West. We have seen the pork-packing industry flit from Cincinnatti to Chicago, and from thence to Kansas City and Omaha. Southern cotton mills undersell New England and American markets, and challenge the world.

We have seen and are seeing all this take place before our eyes, and know that other changes are taking place equally as prominent, and we wonder as we behold them. Ten years ago the insurance companies only required an analysis of the fluids when they were taking insurance for yery large amounts. To-day no first-class company will insure any amount unless they have a rigid analysis of the fluids passed, and if any traces of certain disorders are apparent, the application is rejected. In their reports they show that the death of sixty out of every 100 people in this country, is due either direct ly or indirectly to such disorders. The Brompton Hospital for Consumptives, London, England, reports that sixty of every 100 victims of consumption also have serious disorders of the kid-

Among scientists for the treatment of this dread malady the question is being discussed:

"Is not this disorder the real cause f consumption ?"

Ten years ago the microscope was comething seldom found in a physician's office; now every physician of standing has one, and seldom visits his patients without calling for a sample

Economic Way of Raising Potatoes.

A most successful way of raising potatoes in the South, the Americal Agrithan eyer under the keen gray eyes of what is called a "lazy bed," which is done by applying manure very heavily in the rows and then covering the whole ny,' said the old man pityingly. 'After bed with straw, leaves, corn-stalks, or He's put 'em thar, blamed if He won't any coarse litter. By this plan, no working or weeding is required and the growth is not stopped by the first hot, dry weather, as the ground is kept cool and moist, which greatly increases the yield of the potatoes and makes them of much better quality.

A good plan, by which several objects are combined, is to select a field which fill the furrows entirely up with coarse The prevailing arguments against the manure, keeping on in this way until contract system are that persons not all are planted. Stanton and the President.

We quote the following anecdote from 'Recollections of Secretary Stanton," by a clerk of the War Department, in the Century: "When Mr. Stanley, of War caused to be filled out one of the blank forms used for notifying military by the President, and when he had signed it and caused the seal of the Department of War to be attached to it, he concluded that it would be well to have the sign manual of the President affixed to the instrument. He sent the commission to the White House, with the request that the President would sign and return it immediately. Mr. Lin- safe. coln took the document and read it carefully, and then began turning and twisting it about, as though in search of something. At last he handed it to the bearer and said, ironically:

"Did Mr. Stanton say where I was to put my signature ?" "No sir," replied the astonished

"Can you tell me," asked the President, "whereabouts on this paper I am to put my signature ?"

The clerk looked at the commission and saw the ample signature of Mr. Stanton immediately at the foot of the body of the instrument, with the counter-signature of the Adjutant-General to the left. He also saw a neat, snuglooking white space beneath the signmanual of the Secretary of War which Mr. Lincoln might have occupied to any place provided for your signature, Mr. President,' and was proceeding to orders in this line. explain how the omission obviously came about when the President interrupted him and said in a dignified tone: Take the paper back to the Secretary of war, with my compliments, and say that the President will promptly sign any proper commission that may be sent to him for Governor Stanley or STOVES, anybody else."

Gaining Our Children's Confidence.

Few mothers really think what a grave error they are committing in repelling the confidence of their little ones. The time may come, all too soon, when the children who are thus repelled, will refuse to have confidence in mama, when she would give all she holds dear in the world to gain it. Chilwe of the present generation are to die dren must have somebody to talk to and confide in, and if mother does not have time to listen to them, is it any er's safe cure, the only recognized more than natural that they will seek a confidant elsewhere? Smoking Under Water.

Says an expert swimmer in the New York Sun: "It looks very strange to see a man go under water with a lighted cigar in his mouth, smoke calmly at the bottom, and come to the surface with the cigar burning as nicely as if he were smoking in his easy chair. Apparently he defies all natural laws, but of course, he dosen't. It is a simple trick, but it requires practice. Just as I throw myself backward to go down, I flip the cigar end for end with my tongue and upper lip, and get the lighted end in my mouth, closing my lips water tight around it. A little slippery elm juice gargled before going in prevents any accidental burning of the mouth, Going slowly down backward, I lie at full length on the bottom of the tank and blow smoke through the cut end of my cigar. Just as I reach the surface again, another flip reverses the cigar, and there I am smoking calmly. The reversing is done so quickly that nobody notices it."
