Mr. Bumiller. Editor of MILLHEIM JOURNAL, Dear SIr :--We are sorry that owing to the pressure of business in your office you had not time to verify the statement which was current about town, that some of the hands we have learning have been working with us six weeks, etc., etc. We desire you to insert in the col-umns of your influential paper the following de-nial and explanation, with the hope that in so doing we do not encroach too much on valuable space. Firstly, we did not get possession of the build ing we are now in until the first days of March. Secondly, we have been in Phila. three times since our first shipment of machinery, the last of which we were absent ten days and as it took at least ten days more to lay shaft-ing, put up winding and knitting machinery, it zan readily be seen that they, the hands, could not have been anything like the time stated by yox populi working daily for us. Our Jonathan Spangler lost a valuable hors by distemper, which turned into lung fever The horse was the family pet, could not have been anything like the time stated by vox populi working daily for us. Our original intention was to have hands taught in present building, paying them off whet learned, until we got into the new building thus enabling us to start with a number of partly experienced operators; but after consul-tation with the BuildingCommittee and Archi-tect we discovered that unavoidably the facto-ry building could not be completed as soon as was expected. We then went to Phila, and procured some machines in order to give each the grain grow fast and the potatoes planted early are up already.
