

BARGAINS FOR ALL

AT THE MILLHEIM BARGAIN STORE.

We mean every word when we say that we are going to discontinue the mercantile business and will sell our goods.

AT AND BELOW COST!

We still have a lot of Ladies Dress Goods, Cotton Jeans, Woolen Flannels, Cambrics, Muslins and a general line of Notions, Ladies' and Children's Wools, Cotton Hose, Cotton Yarns, Shawls, Overalls, Skirts, Glass and Queensware, Drugs, Toilet Soaps, Woodenware, Hardware and Table Cutlery.

GOODS & PRICES

before purchasing elsewhere especially on BOOTS & SHOES, HATS, CAPS & BUGGY WHIPS.

Thanking the people for past patronage, and soliciting a continuance of the same we remain,

RESPECTFULLY YOURS, E. C. CAMPBELL & SON.

Local Paragraphs

Try us for fine job printing.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL.

First-class job work done at the JOURNAL office.

Candies by the carload, for Christmas, at D. S. KAUFFMAN'S.

The boss cigars for the money can be had at Stover's grocery on Main street.

E. W. Mauck lately made some improvements on his premises on Penn street.

The Spring Mills band will furnish the music for the county institute at Bellefonte.

We are glad to report that the general state of health in this town is excellent at present.

The leading physicians of the county are using and prescribing Shedd's Little Mandrake Pills.

Mrs. S. J. Hering and daughter, of Penn Hall, spent a day among friends in this place last week.

Mr. M. C. Stover, of Farmers' Mills, was a welcome visitor at this office last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Emma Decker, of Huntingdon, is home on a visit to her parents, Squire Eisenbuth's, Main street.

All the goods at Kauffman's store take the lead because they are the best and can be had for the least money.

Mr. W. A. Brown, of Spring Mills, the leader of the Challenge Land, is about organizing a band in Bellefonte.

Insurance agent Geo. W. Swartz, of Bellefonte, is staying at the residence of his brother, Henry Swartz, south of town.

Clayton Weaver is beginning to make some improvements around his lately purchased property on Penn street.

There will be preaching in the Lutheran church in this place next Sunday forenoon by the pastor, Rev. Deitzler.

Harry Clapp's new house on Penn street is under roof. The building promises to make a stately appearance when completed.

The Clinton county teacher's institute is one week ahead of Centre, and will convene in the Lock Haven court house, Dec. 19th.

An immense lot of fine Clothing, Suits and Overcoats just received at D. S. KAUFFMAN'S. Come in for the bargains we offer now.

Hymen don't seem to gather a very great crop this season. Probably the matrimonial harvest will be richer in the new Leap Year.

Those Hanging Lamps at J. W. Stover's are beauties and are just the thing to present to your wife or mother as a Christmas gift.

The festival on Christmas eve to be held by the Lutherans is the only public event slated for the Holiday season in this borough.

Mr. Williams, of Logansville, Clinton county, an uncle of our townsman, Irvin Williams, was the latter's guest several days this week.

If you have any regard for your children's health when they have a cold don't give them anything but Shedd's Excelsior Cough Syrup.

I have used Joseph's Oil for sore throat, headache and toothache with the best results.

A STOIN GERMAN, Custer City.

Rev. Wortman desires us to announce that there will be regular services in the U. B. church in this place next Sunday forenoon.

There cannot be an effect without a cause. Therefore, use Warner's Log Cabin Hops and Bucuro Remedy, put the stomach in proper condition, and avoid ill health.

The "Pink Pound Auction" at the coming Lutheran festival will be an immense thing for the young folks and will be sure to create much merriment. Don't fail to attend it.

It will do you good to take a look at J. W. Stover's new advertisement in this week's issue and better yet to go and see his fine stock of goods which he makes mention of in his ad.

Mrs. Sarah Catherine is in Union county this week attending the wedding of her niece, Miss Kittie Musser, a daughter of James Musser, of Hartletown which takes place to-day.

I don't propose to do business for the fun of the thing. Business is business, and prices and quality are prices and quality. Come and see me and I'll explain.

D. S. KAUFFMAN.

FATAL SHOOTING ACCIDENT.

Just as we go to press news reach us that Calvin Fisher, the oldest son of Major Fisher, of Penn Hall, accidentally shot himself while out hunting in the mountain near Price's gap, yesterday morning. He was out with a party and having strayed away from them was missed until noon, when search was made. He was found at the foot of a log, dead. It is supposed that he had got on the log and reaching for his gun to pull it after him the trigger caught and the load discharged into his body. His death is thought to have been instantaneous. This is a very sad affair and everybody sincerely sympathizes with the bereaved parents.

An infant child of C. W. Duck, of Penn township, died yesterday afternoon.

The general terms at Christmas are "Give." But the "Give" is naught when compared with the prices at D. S. KAUFFMAN'S mammoth store.

Geo. Mensch, who was injured recently on the railroad, was brought home yesterday afternoon, and is now lying at his residence on North street.

Along with the rest of our merchants E. C. Campbell & Son make a change in their advertisement this week. Our readers should not fail to scan the advertising columns in this issue.

A marked improvement has been made on Centre street, between Penn and Water by the building of substantial boardwalks from the corner of Lamey's premises to the corner of Snook's lots.

We know of no place where you can see such a complete stock of candies for the holidays as at Stover's grocery on Main street. He has the finest French mixtures.

Among the list of instructors and lecturers billed for the Centre county teachers' institute we notice the name of Prof. C. L. Gramley, of Rebersburg, who will have the musical department in charge during the week.

Mrs. Mary Keen, Penn street, is laid up with rheumatism and suffers considerably. Hope the lady may get rid of her affliction speedily so that she may enjoy the happy holiday season with the rest of the world.

Among the attractions at the Lutheran festival next Saturday a week will be the "Pink Tea Party," to be arranged by the ladies. We are also informed that the rink is to be handsomely decorated for the occasion.

We are requested to announce that the offers of wood which have accumulated from the changes and repairs made in the town hall will be sold at public sale on next Saturday afternoon. A chance to buy cheap firewood.

For the past week or more Miss Emma Edmunds of Aaronsburg, has been canvassing our borough with several good books, among them "Samantha at Saratoga." We understand she meets with encouraging success.

Among the attractive holiday advertisements appearing in this week's JOURNAL is D. S. KAUFFMAN'S large and important proclamation, important because it will serve as a reliable guide to judicious buyers. Read it.

FOR SALE.—The undersigned has for sale a good horse, harness, buggy and sleds. For terms and further particulars apply to J. F. HARTER, Millheim, Pa.

Among the new advertisements in this week's issue, L. B. Stover's holiday announcement will be of particular interest to our readers in and around Madisonburg, and we would call their special attention to what he has to say.

The two lots situated on Penn street and adjoining W. T. Mauck's residence, were sold by the executors of the estate of Saml. Weiser, dec'd, to J. W. Stover, for $500. All the claims and liabilities of the decedent have now been disposed of.

Miss Carrie Kerlin, residing with Mrs. Maria Frank, on North street, has been lying seriously sick since last Sunday with convulsions. Carrie's many friends are truly sorry to hear of her sickness and hope she may soon be fully restored to health.

The finest line of Jewelry ever shown in Millheim can now be seen at J. W. Stover's, on Main street. When in want of a real nice and valuable Christmas present to give to some friend you should by all means inspect Stover's stock of jewelry, watches and clocks.

For the next ten days all other topics will be dwarfed in the general search for Christmas presents, and Mr. Deiningner, of the Journal store, is out with his annual announcement in this issue, telling you where you may get the newest things, what they are and what they cost. Read his column.

The pike company shows at least some enterprise in putting up fences along the road leading to Coburn at places where the high banks on the one side of it makes it very dangerous to come along with horses on dark nights. It is a decided improvement which will be highly appreciated by the traveling public.

We are told there will be quite a scramble for the position of Notary Public in this borough next spring, when the term of the present incumbent, Mr. B. O. Deiningner, will expire. It is said that already four applicants are in the field for the notaryship, of an office of public faith, as it is a gubernatorial appointment.

We beg those of our subscribers who find the expiration of their subscriptions stamped on their papers to make settlement of the amount due before January 1st, 1888. We have notified a great number of our patrons in this way during the past three months but very few have responded. Please remember that a debt to the printer is like any other debt—it got to be paid.

The recent rains have removed all danger of a possible water famine in this section. While we never suffered for water in the degree which the Centre Hall Reporter and some of the Bellefonte papers reported to their readers, we are glad to state that Millheim has enough water now for its own use and to supply three or four of its neighbors with water. We never saw the use of any way in making a mountain out of a mole-hill.

PRIVATE SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—The undersigned, one-half mile south of Rebersburg, for sale cheap. The property consists of a lot of ground with a good two-story frame dwelling house and all necessary outbuildings erected thereon. Running water close by and good tearing fruit trees on the premises. For terms apply to or address G. P. GABERTY, Rebersburg, Pa.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The forty-first annual meeting of the teachers' institute of Centre county, will be held in the Court House, at Bellefonte, commencing Monday, Dec. 20th, and continuing until Friday, Dec. 23rd, 1887. Opening session, Monday 10 o'clock a. m. The general good which has resulted from these interesting assemblies in the past in the way of valuable information and pleasant social intercourse should induce all teachers and those in sympathy with the education, to order for excursion tickets may be obtained by directors and teachers for their families and friends by address, with 2-cent stamp enclosed for freight and postage, the county superintendent, Prof. D. M. Wolf, Spring Mills, Pa., not later than Friday, Dec. 23rd, 1887.

Mr. Wm. Wolf, of Haines township, an old and regular JOURNAL subscriber, called at this office on last Saturday and after attending to business, unwrapped a tumbler filled with apple-jelly and requested us to give the article a fair test. He told us too that in connection with his cider press he procured a steam evaporator for the purpose of reducing cider to jelly. By this process he manufactures from a barrel of cider about eight gallons of clear and delicious jelly in less than ten minutes. The enterprise proves a success in every respect. We have used the jelly on our table and are prepared to pronounce it a No. 1 article. At Stover's grocery on Main street several tumbler full are kept on sale.

The rumor is now afloat that editor J. A. Fiedler, of the Bellefonte Gazette, has legislative aspirations. Since the Republican party is on top of the pile in this county, the republican timber will not permit any opportunities to slip by them that may carry them into office. It remains to be seen if Fiedler is bold enough to knock down the Per-simmon.

Mrs. Hartman, the estimable wife of our undyming, R. B. Hartman, attained her sixty-third birthday anniversary on last Monday and her children, all of whom are married, and many of her grandchildren remembered her by coming to her residence and brought with them a fine lot of gifts suitable to the occasion. Of course it was an enjoyable meeting and all parties concerned were the happier for it.

HOLIDAY EXCURSION TICKETS.—In pursuance of the usual custom, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell Christmas and New Year excursion tickets between all ticket stations on its main line and branches at reduced rates. The tickets will be sold on December 23d, 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st, 1887, and January 1st and 2d, 1888, good for return trip until January 3d, 1888, inclusive.

In the Altoona shops are now being constructed gondola cars of 60,000 pounds capacity. The greatest change over the old style of cars is in the trucks. They will be lowered several inches and each be supplied with three sets of wheels. In height the new gondolas will almost equal that of a box car. The managers of the road are confident that by means of this massive rolling stock the car famine will soon be made a thing of the past.

THE LUTHERAN FESTIVAL.—At a congregational meeting held on Monday evening by the members of the Lutheran church final arrangements were made to hold a festival in the evening on Saturday, Dec. 24th, 1887, proceeds to be for the benefit of the church. There will be oysters, ice cream, cakes, &c., to serve to patrons, as well as other attractions to make the affair successful and enjoyable. A generous public are respectfully requested to give this festival their hearty support.

THE SCENE AT THE COURT HOUSE on Monday morning was one long to be remembered. The occasion was the hearing of a motion for a new trial for Luther J. Shaffer, and, if not granted, the sentencing of the convicted murderer of Mrs. Nora Culvey, President Judge Mayer, and his two associates, Judges Crawford and Chestnut, were on the bench when the clock struck ten and the prisoner was taken to the prison in the usual way and took their seats. There was a great stir in the audience and a general rising to get a better glimpse of the prisoner. But the instant the gavel fell for order and soon all was again quiet.

Mr. Abrams, the senior counsel for the prisoner, then arose and in a low voice read his reasons for application for a new trial.

His Honor, Judge Mayer, then said: "The reasons assigned here we have already considered during the progress of the trial and will not be read a second time. You are precisely what we considered when trying the case. If the counsel have anything new to offer, which will justify it, the Court will appoint a day to hear the argument. If the reasons for a new trial are not new, they will be refused."

The District Attorney, Mr. Brown, then said: "If the Court please, a verdict of guilty having been rendered by the jury, a motion for a new trial having been filed and overruled, it now becomes my duty as District Attorney to move for judgment of death."

The evidence adduced on the trial discloses the commission of a crime almost unparalleled in atrocity, and in your moments of reflection its heinousness must appall you. In this, your dire extremity, human agency is powerless to afford you any relief or bring you any consolation. Let me attempt to prepare for you the great change that awaits you, and turn your thoughts to the only source of true consolation to be found in this world, who is able to save to the uttermost those that call upon him in sincerity.

The sentence of the Court is that you, Luther J. Shaffer, be taken to the place of execution, and there be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul.

When Judge Mayer had concluded these solemn remarks, the prisoner again took his seat, and the Court adjourned until the next day.

THE SCENE AT THE COURT HOUSE on Monday morning was one long to be remembered. The occasion was the hearing of a motion for a new trial for Luther J. Shaffer, and, if not granted, the sentencing of the convicted murderer of Mrs. Nora Culvey, President Judge Mayer, and his two associates, Judges Crawford and Chestnut, were on the bench when the clock struck ten and the prisoner was taken to the prison in the usual way and took their seats. There was a great stir in the audience and a general rising to get a better glimpse of the prisoner. But the instant the gavel fell for order and soon all was again quiet.

Mr. Abrams, the senior counsel for the prisoner, then arose and in a low voice read his reasons for application for a new trial.

His Honor, Judge Mayer, then said: "The reasons assigned here we have already considered during the progress of the trial and will not be read a second time. You are precisely what we considered when trying the case. If the counsel have anything new to offer, which will justify it, the Court will appoint a day to hear the argument. If the reasons for a new trial are not new, they will be refused."

The District Attorney, Mr. Brown, then said: "If the Court please, a verdict of guilty having been rendered by the jury, a motion for a new trial having been filed and overruled, it now becomes my duty as District Attorney to move for judgment of death."

The evidence adduced on the trial discloses the commission of a crime almost unparalleled in atrocity, and in your moments of reflection its heinousness must appall you. In this, your dire extremity, human agency is powerless to afford you any relief or bring you any consolation. Let me attempt to prepare for you the great change that awaits you, and turn your thoughts to the only source of true consolation to be found in this world, who is able to save to the uttermost those that call upon him in sincerity.

The sentence of the Court is that you, Luther J. Shaffer, be taken to the place of execution, and there be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul.

When Judge Mayer had concluded these solemn remarks, the prisoner again took his seat, and the Court adjourned until the next day.

THE SCENE AT THE COURT HOUSE on Monday morning was one long to be remembered. The occasion was the hearing of a motion for a new trial for Luther J. Shaffer, and, if not granted, the sentencing of the convicted murderer of Mrs. Nora Culvey, President Judge Mayer, and his two associates, Judges Crawford and Chestnut, were on the bench when the clock struck ten and the prisoner was taken to the prison in the usual way and took their seats. There was a great stir in the audience and a general rising to get a better glimpse of the prisoner. But the instant the gavel fell for order and soon all was again quiet.

Mr. Abrams, the senior counsel for the prisoner, then arose and in a low voice read his reasons for application for a new trial.

His Honor, Judge Mayer, then said: "The reasons assigned here we have already considered during the progress of the trial and will not be read a second time. You are precisely what we considered when trying the case. If the counsel have anything new to offer, which will justify it, the Court will appoint a day to hear the argument. If the reasons for a new trial are not new, they will be refused."

The District Attorney, Mr. Brown, then said: "If the Court please, a verdict of guilty having been rendered by the jury, a motion for a new trial having been filed and overruled, it now becomes my duty as District Attorney to move for judgment of death."

The evidence adduced on the trial discloses the commission of a crime almost unparalleled in atrocity, and in your moments of reflection its heinousness must appall you. In this, your dire extremity, human agency is powerless to afford you any relief or bring you any consolation. Let me attempt to prepare for you the great change that awaits you, and turn your thoughts to the only source of true consolation to be found in this world, who is able to save to the uttermost those that call upon him in sincerity.

The sentence of the Court is that you, Luther J. Shaffer, be taken to the place of execution, and there be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul.

When Judge Mayer had concluded these solemn remarks, the prisoner again took his seat, and the Court adjourned until the next day.

THE SCENE AT THE COURT HOUSE on Monday morning was one long to be remembered. The occasion was the hearing of a motion for a new trial for Luther J. Shaffer, and, if not granted, the sentencing of the convicted murderer of Mrs. Nora Culvey, President Judge Mayer, and his two associates, Judges Crawford and Chestnut, were on the bench when the clock struck ten and the prisoner was taken to the prison in the usual way and took their seats. There was a great stir in the audience and a general rising to get a better glimpse of the prisoner. But the instant the gavel fell for order and soon all was again quiet.

Local Correspondence.

AARONSBURG.

Aaronsburg will have a wedding in the near future.

J. C. Rote and family, from Ax Mau are visiting the gentleman's mother, Mrs. S. M. Rote.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Rote and wife were visiting for several days in the west end of the valley.

Local Correspondence.

SMITH TOWN.

Farmers are putting in full time at ploughing.

J. H. Frank is busy pulling stumps. He takes out some monsters, requiring six horses to drag them.

Miss Agnes Bierly, of near Rebersburg, is at present in our midst, working.

We notice Mr. E. E. Bressler about again. Well, Henry, how did you enjoy that visit?

Mrs. Ada Singhler, of Altoona, is here on a few weeks' visit, being the guest of Mrs. Emma Kimpfort.

The Sunday Grit had an increased circulation among our people last Saturday.

Last Saturday W. F. Smith was to Millheim and while there some pickpocket relieved him of the tobacco he carried in his pocket. William is sharp, but the Millheimers got ahead of him that time.

Miss Annie Bierly, who has her home in Millheim now, was visiting here.

Lewis Fessler is dealing in black Spanish chickens. He raised them himself and takes great pride in them.

REBERSBURG.

A party of hunters from this place spent a week in the Seven Mountains.

Mr. Keller was hercabants luying up cattle.

A few of our citizens were over to Lock Haven to take in the murder trial.

Triswite & Co., have placed their saw mill on their lately purchased woodland and in a few weeks they will be ready for business.

Willis Cole spent a few days in this vicinity visiting friends and relatives.

Nathan Haugh lost a valuable horse.

Jerry Brangard, of Halsburg, is busily engaged in hauling his farm implements to his farm, which he recently bought from Jared Haines.

The break in Wm. Meyer's mill is being repaired and the mill will soon be in running order again.

Clem Gramley, Jacob Gephart and Austin Gramley were over to Nittany Valley buying up cows and returned home with seven head.

A stranger arrived at D. D. Royer's and they didn't turn her out into the cold either but gave her a hearty welcome. Dan feels his oats considerably since the important event.

POB MILLS.

President Adam Gutschall, of Shamokin, was here last Wednesday, and left several large orders, one for yellow pine timber, 10x14, and 36 feet long.

In the sweet by and bye we will have a telephone from the boarding house to the round house. Engineer James Bonawitz is determined to train old Bloss, the donkey, by the word "go." What makes Jim so mad that whenever he has some good-looking girls on board and has to stop and get off to get something at the running gears, away goes old Bloss with girls and all. The wire was stacked at the boarding house gate several nights ago.

Joe Cantner and son, from Coburn, are prospecting in Pine Swamp. Hope they will open our silver mine.

There are strong indications for a mild winter in Pine Swamp. On one of the warm days of last week the hornets were out in full force and a lot of them took up quarters in Jeff Swanger's empty dinner bucket. Jeff was in the dark about the stinging colony in his bucket and took them away, goes old Bloss with girls and all. The wire was stacked at the boarding house gate several nights ago.

John Welby and crew will soon be perfect in digging graves for cattle as they bury one or two almost every week.

Merchant Vonada has quite a stock of Christmas goods on hand.

We notice Pike Co. is at last putting up a fence at quarter places along the pike. This gives the public some safety in traveling over the road, but no credit is due the contractor, as it was only done when they were compelled to do so. And now they should be compelled to turn the pike over to the township and thus benefit the public.

GREENBRIAR.

Daniel Getzel sold two of his horses to Jacob Snook for $500.

Local Correspondence.

REBERSBURG.

A party of hunters from this place spent a week in the Seven Mountains.

Mr. Keller was hercabants luying up cattle.

A few of our citizens were over to Lock Haven to take in the murder trial.

Triswite & Co., have placed their saw mill on their lately purchased woodland and in a few weeks they will be ready for business.

Willis Cole spent a few days in this vicinity visiting friends and relatives.

Nathan Haugh lost a valuable horse.

Jerry Brangard, of Halsburg, is busily engaged in hauling his farm implements to his farm, which he recently bought from Jared Haines.

The break in Wm. Meyer's mill is being repaired and the mill will soon be in running order again.

Clem Gramley, Jacob Gephart and Austin Gramley were over to Nittany Valley buying up cows and returned home with seven head.

A stranger arrived at D. D. Royer's and they didn't turn her out into the cold either but gave her a hearty welcome. Dan feels his oats considerably since the important event.

POB MILLS.

President Adam Gutschall, of Shamokin, was here last Wednesday, and left several