CONTINUATION OF

Foreign Intelligence,

Received by the ship Hunter, arrived at New-York from London.

LONDON, Nov. 13.

Thirteen persons, accused of having been in correspondence with Gen. Van Damme, when he besieged Nieuport, and who endeavored, by their influence among the inhabitants of that place, to facilitate the surrender of it, have been arrested at Ghent.

The indictment against Brissot, and the other arrested deputies, was drawn up on the 25th ult.

The infamous Egalite, in obedience to the decree of the National Convention, is arrived at Paris, in order to take his trial with Brissot, and the other arrested deputies.

Mr. Elliot, minister plenipotentiary from the King of Great Britain, in delivering to the States-General of Holland, the declaration relative to the affairs of France, accompanied it with a memorial, in which he said, "That his Britannic Majesty doubted not but that the sentiments contained in this declaration, were perfectly conformable to those of the other powers of Europe.

The States General, in reply, thanked Mr. Elliot for the above communication, and prayed to him to make it known to the Ministry of his Britannic Majesty,— "That, as the cause of the present war have been the same with his Britannic Majesty as with their High Mightinesses, who are united by the bonds of strict alliance; so the end which the States General have proposed to themselves in continuing it, have never been other than that expressed in the said Declaration; to wit. To repulse an unjust aggression; to co-operate in the defence of their allies; and to obtain an honorable and solid peace, as well as a just indemnification for the immense expences occasioned to the Republic and its allies, by the violence of their common enemies. In consequence, the States General fully partake of the sentiments of his Britannic Majesty, and will enjoy the utmost satisfaction, when the French nation, restored to itself, and united under a government which respects the sacred bonds of civil society and the rights of other nations, shall be able to renew its relations of peace and union with other states; and enforce the maintenance of them."

FROM THE LONDON GAZETTE.
WHITEHALL, Nov. 6.

The following dispatch was received this morning from Sir James Murray, &c. &c. by the Rt. Hon. Henry Dundas, his majesty's principal Secretary of State for the Home Department.
Champlin, Oct. 30, 1793.

SIR,

"I have the honor to inform you of the success of an attack upon Marchiennes, which, by order of his Royal Highness, took place last night.

"Eight battalions were put under the command of Major General Kray, for this enterprize. They marched at midnight from Orchies in three columns, each column headed by two officers and 60 volunteers, supported by 300 men. These were not permitted to load. The rest of the troops of the different columns, with their cannon, followed at some distance. A detachment from the corps of Major Gen. Otto, posted by Denain, marched about the same time, formed in 4 columns, in similar order that the town might be attacked at once upon all sides. The latter troops were discovered by the enemy's out posts, and prevented from penetrating by the opposition which they met with. Those under Gen. Kray, one column of which advanced upon the high road from Orchies, and the two others upon the left of it, got, about 2 o'clock in the morning within a short distance of the town before they were perceived.

"The volunteers at the head of the column which was upon the road, fell in with a picquet about 200 yards from the gate, which they surprised, killed the greater part of it, and pursued the rest so closely, that they entered the place along with them. The troops in the town made little resistance. After being driven from the market place, where they had assembled, they retreated to a convent near it. They there proposed terms of capitulation, which Gen. Kray consented to, as they surrendered prisoners of war, with the sole condition of the officers being permitted to wear their swords.

"There are 1629 prisoners, officers included, most of them troops of the line. There are likewise 12 pieces of cannon and 22 or 23 tumbrils taken. There are supposed to be about 300 of the enemy killed. The loss of major gen. Kray's corps is between 70 and 80 killed and wounded. The loss upon major gen. Otto's side is unknown, but it is not imagined to be considerable.

I have the honor to be,
with the greatest respect, Sir,
your most obedt. humble serv.
JAMES MURRAY.
Rt. hon. Henry Dundas, &c.

FRANCE. NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Sitting of October 22.

REPORT FROM TOULON,
October 11.

"At Toulon, the force of our enemies in ships, is 25 frigates, or armed ships: 200 cannoneres have been sent on shore from the ships, for the protection of the forts. There are 2000 English soldiers, 2000 Spanish, 1500 Savoyards, 5000 Neapolitans, 2000 Sclavonians; in all, about 10,700 men.

"The report is common at Toulon, that a large convoy is daily expected there with 6000 Portuguese, 6000 Spaniards, and 2000 more English.

"The 14,000 whom they expect, added to the 10,700 already at Toulon, will form an army of from 24 to 25,000 men; and as soon as these corps are joined, the plan is, to make a fortie in force, in order to march to Aix, where they mean to re-
