NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Thursday, January 2. The procurator Syndic of the depart-ment of Garde, in a letter dated Nimes, Dec. 22, announced, that they had learnt that inftant, that the army of the eaftern Pyrennees had completely defeated the Spaniards. On the motion of Leonard Bourdon it was decreed, that the separate numbers of the work containing the fine actions which illustrated the revolution, should be fent to the municipalities, to the armies, and all the conflituted authorities. They are to be publicly read on the 10th of every month, and the teachers and fchool-mafters are to make their pupils get them by heart.

A commonalty expressed its attachment to the Convention, and fent, befides many former presents, an additional patriotic gift, conlifting of 122 shirts, 100 coats, 44 pair of floes, and 37 pair of flockings. -Honorable mention.

The citizens of Halle offered a part of their favings, for the relief of the wives and children of the deliverers of Toulon. Applauded. The Prefident announceo, that in the first fale of the houses of the emigrants of Paris, one in Rue Montmartre had been fold for 100,200 livres, and another in Rue de la Corderie for 65,900 livres .--Applause.

AMERICA.

NASSAU, N. Providence, March 14.

An Experiment tried yesterday, of the effect of red-hot flot fired from the Water Battery at a Hulk placed at the en-trance of the harbor, fucceeded to the most fanguine with. The hulk of the ship Counters of Haddington was placed on a shoal within the Bar, 1850 yards from the Battery. Six red-hot balls were fired-of thefe, 5 took place. The hulk was observed to smoak after the second shot, and on the fixth striking, burft into flames.

The fight was highly gratifying to the inhobitants, both as it demonstrated the ease with which any attack of fhipping might be repelled, as it afforded a pleafing proof of the proficiency of their fellow-itizers in the out of summer citizens in the art of gunnery.

The whole was done by Captain North's militia company of Engineers, without the fmallest participation of any of the military.

Our advices from Charlefton, which are of laft Saturday, render a rupture with America not a very improbable, nor in appearance a very diffant event. We do not with to give upper from the set not with to give unneceffary alarm to our fellow colonifts, but to put them on their neftly to recommend to the planters, to plant a greater proportion of their laud in provifions, than they have done hitherto —the propriety of this measure is fuffici-ently obvious.

As the French naval force in America is now confiderably increased, the interruptions to our commerce with the flates, will probably be more frequent than here-

KING'S SPEECH.

The following is his Britannic Majefty's Speech, delivered at the Houfe of Parliament on the 21ft day of January, 1794.

My Lords and Gentlemen, THE circumftances under which you are affembled require your most ferious attention. We are engaged in a conteft, on the iffue of which depends the maintenance of our conflictution, laws, and religion, and the fecucontinuution, laws, and religion, and the lecu-rity of all civil fociety. You muft have obferved, with fatisfaction, the advantages which have been obtained by the arms of the Alfied Powers, and the change which has taken place in the general fituation of Europe, fince the commencement of the war. The United Provinces have been pro-related from inerging. The Authentican Nether tected from invation. The Auftrian Netherlands have been recovered and maintained; and places of confiderable importance have been acquired on the frontiers of France. The recapture of Mentz, and the fublequent fucceffes of the allied armies on the Rhine, have notwithfianding the advantages recent-ucentiand have been accounting the advantages recently obtained by the enemy in that quarter, proved highly beneficial to the common caufe. Powerful efforts have been made by my al-lies in the South of Europe. The tem-porary polifeilion of the town and port of Toulon has greatly diffreffed the opera-tions of my enemies; and in the circumftances attending the evacuation of that place an important and decifive blow has been given to their naval power, by the diftinguished conduct, abilities, and spirit of my commanders, officers and forces, both by fea and land.

The French have been driven from their poffeffions and fifhery at Newfound-land; and important and valuable acquifitions have been made both in the East and Wcit Indies.

At fea our fuperioty has been undifputed, and our commerce fo effectually protected, that the loss fustained have been inconfiderable in proportion to its extent, and to the captures made on the contracted trade of the enemy.

The circumftances by which the further progrefs of the Allies has hitherto been to be laid before you, together with copies of feveral conventions and treaties with different powers, by which you will perceive how large a part of Europe is united in a caufe of fuch general concern.

I reflect, with unspeakable fatisfaction, on the fleady loyalty and him attachment to the eftablished conflictution and government, which, notwithstanding the continued efforts employed to millead and feduce, have been fo generally prevalent a-mong all tanks of people. These fentiments have been eminently manifefled in the zeal and alacrity of the militia to provide for our internal defence, and in the diftinguished bravery and fpirit difplayed on every occasion by my forces, both by fea and land: They have maintained the luftre of the British name, and have flews themfelves worthy of the bleffings which it is the object of all our exertions to preferve.

Gentlemen of the Houfe of Commons'

I have ordered the necessary estimates and accounts to be laid before you : and I am perfuaded you will be ready to make fuch provision as the exigencies of the times may require. I feel too fensibly the repeated proofs, which I have received of the affection of my fubjects, not to lament the neceffity of any additional burthens, It is, however, a great confolation to me, to obferve the favorable flate of the revenue, and compleat fuccefs of the meafure, which was laft year adopted for removing the embarrafiments affecting commercial credit.

Great must be the extent of our exer-tions, I trust you will be enabled to provide for them in fuch a manner as to avoid any preffure which could be feverely felt by my people.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

In all your deliberations you will un-doubtedly bear in mind the true grounds and origin of the war.

An attack was made on us and our allies, founded on principles which tend to deftroy all property, to fubvert the laws and religion of every civilized nation, and to introduce univerfally that wild and deftructive fyftem of rapine, anarchy, and impiety, the effects of which, as they have already been manifefted in France, furnifh a dreadful but ufeful leffon to the prefent age, and to pofferity. It only remains for us to continue to perfevere in our united exertions : Their difcontinuance or relaxation could hardly procure even a fhort interval of delufive repose, and could never terminate in fecurity of peace. Impreffed with the neceffi-ty of defending all that is most dear to us, and relying, as we may with confidence, on the valour and refources of the nation, on the combined efforts of fo large a part of Europe, and, above all, on the incon-tellible juffice of our caufe, let us render our conduct a contrast to that of our enemics, and, by cultivating and practifing the principles of humanity and the duties of religion, endeavor to merit the continu-ance of the divine favor and protection, which have been fo eminently experienced by these kingdoms.

The Captain of the brig arrived yefterday in 18 days from Martinique, informs us, that the British forces had NOT got rborn, in Martingue. on the 20th March, they were creeting new batteries against it every day. A numbers every day to the hofpitals. Up-wards of 50 fail of Americans lay in St. Pierre's. Two captains whole veffels were taken from them in Martinique, came paffengers in the above brig; one belong-ing to Philadelphia, the other to Provi-dence, R. I. All the American failors are confined in a PRISON SHIP, except 60, who were PRESSED on board the fleet. Capt. Rock informs us that the French fleet had not failed from the Chefapeak 4 days ago.

The French party in America do not feem aware of the fources of fupply which may be had refort to by the British colonies, in the event of communication with the American States being ftopt or impeded by the talked of reftrictions. The Floridas and Louifiana can afford abund-ance of lumber and corn, and our neighbors of Cuba can fpare us both corn and cattle.

Of flour, we can have ample fupplies from Europe—It was from thence that our iflands during the American war were chiefly fupplied; and every one knows that during the peace, the French colo-nies were exclusively fo. It is not our bufinefs to point out the impolicy of America estations into impolicy of America entering into war with the first maritime power in the world, efpecially now when that power is connected by the ftrongest bonds of alliance with all the great commercial nations of Europe. But we cannot help regretting that any foreign influence fhould gain fuch afcendancy in the councils of America as to urge her to a meafure, which muft eventually involve her people not only in war abroad, but in anarchy and diffention at home.

impeded, not only prove the neceffity of vigor and perfeverance on onr part, but at the fame time confirm the expectation of ultimate fuccefs. Our enemies have derived the means of temporary exertion, from a fystem which enabled them to difpofe arbitrarily of the lives and property of a numerous people, and which openly violates every reftraint of juffice, humani-ty and religion. But these efforts, productive as they have necessarily been of internal difcontent and confusion in France, have also tended rapidly to exhaust the natural and real itrength of that country.

Although 1 cannot but regret the ne-ceffary continuance of the war, I should ill confult the effential interests of my people if I were defined interests of my peo-ple if I were defined of peace, on any grounds but fuch as may provide for their permanent fafety, and the independence and fecurity of Europe. The attainment of thefe ends is full obstructed by the prevalence of a fystem in France, equally incompatible with the happiness of that country, and with the tranquility of all other nations.

Under this imprefiion I thought pro-per to make a declaration of the views and principles by which I am guided. I have ordered a copy of this declaration It is reported, that the Ambuſcade frigate lately fell in with the Hufſar, Britiſh frigate, and a Bermudian privateer, which ſhe en-gaged both together, and after an obſlinate battle, took, and fent them into that port,* where they faſely arrived laſt Thurſday. ** No port is mentioned in the N.
