The Public are cautioned to beware of counterfeited Five Dollar Bills of the Bank of the United States, and Twenty Dollar Bills of the Bank of North America, several of which have appeared in circulation within a few days past; they are a good general imitation of the genuine Bills, but may be distinguished by the following

MARKS.

Five Dollar Bills of the Bank of the United States.
ALL that have appeared have the letter F. for their Alphabetical Mark.
The Texture of the Paper is thicker and whiter and it takes the ink more freely than the genuine paper.
The O. in the word Company is smaller than the M. and other letters of that word, so that a line extended from the top of the O, to touch the top of the M. would extend considerably above the range of the whole word.
In the word United the letters are narrower and closer together than the rest of the bill.
The i and f in the word promise are not parallel, the f inclining much more forward than the i.
The engraving is badly executed, the strokes of all the Letters are stronger and the device in the margin particularly is much coarser and appears darker than in the true bills. Some of the counterfeits bear date in 1791—Whereas the Bank was not in operation till December, and no five dollar bills were issued in that year.
Twenty Dollar Bills of the Bank of North America.

ALL that have appeared have the letter B. for their alphabetical mark.
They are printed on a paper nearly similar to that of the counterfeited Five Dollar Notes above described; the engraving is better executed, and they approach nearer to the appearance of the genuine bills.
The fine ruled lines through the word Twenty, in the body of the bill, are in number thirteen in the genuine bill, and but twelve in the counterfeits.
The word Company is much like the same word in the Five Dollar Bills as described above; the o being less than the m, and others following.
There is no stroke to the t in the word North whereas in the genuine bills the stroke is well defined.
The letters ent in the word Twenty, to the left hand at the bottom, do not come down to the line, but are so cut as to give an irregular appearance to the word, the tw and the y, going below them.
The Signature J. Nixon, has the appearance of being written with lamp-black and oil, and differs from the other inks used in printing the bills and the cashier's signature.
It is supposed these forgeries were committed in some of the Southern States, as all the counterfeits that have appeared, have come from thence, and two persons have been apprehended in Virginia, on suspicion of being the authors of them.
The reward of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS will be paid to any Person or Persons who shall discover and prosecute to conviction the several offenders of the following descriptions or any of them, viz.
The person or persons, who manufactured the paper on which the Bills are printed.
The person or persons, who engraved the plates.
The printer or printers, of the bills.
Every person who has acted as a principal in any other way, in the counterfeiting and uttering the said bills.

THOMAS WILLING, President of the Bank United States.
JOHN NIXON, President of the Bank of North America.
By order of the Committees of the Respective Boards.

Market-Street,
An Essay on Slavery,
Designed to exhibit in a new point of view its effects on morals, industry, and the peace of society. Some facts and calculations are offered to prove the labor of freemen to be much more productive than that of slaves; that countries are rich, powerful and happy, in proportion as the laboring people enjoy the fruits of their own labor; and hence the necessary conclusion, that slavery is impolitic as well as unjust.

For the GAZETTE of the UNITED STATES

MR. FENNO,
The excellence of a free government is that the citizens stand on a fair footing of equality. A writer in Mr. Bache's paper of Wednesday, vindicates the establishment of clubs, and fairly avows that they will have influence and ought to have it. This is bold, but is it discreet, gentlemen clubbists?

You meet then to gain influence—What becomes of other men not members of your club? You have influence which they have not—of course your influence is against equal right.—You are aristocrats—a privileged order, not by law, or by the free consent of others, but by your own usurpation and intrigue—You are conspirators against the equal rights of your fellow citizens.

Two hundred men by clubbing together, can set at nought the vote of a citizen who minds his own business and joins no dark meetings—They can over-rule the votes of two hundred dispersed citizens, who, not concerting together, how they shall vote, in fact lose their suffrages.

They are thus disfranchised by the club—Is this right? Is the bluffer of the club about liberty and equality consistent with either? On the contrary is it not the summit of impudence thus to conspire against liberty and equality, and at the same time to affect a zeal in the cause of both—The people of America are not so base and ignorant as to be duped by this shallow and impudent Hypocrisy.

CHARLESTON, April 1.

Extract of a letter from Savannah dated March 29.

Yesterday afternoon the Industry Capt. Carvaut, arrived in the river with a Spanish prize, having about 4000 doubloons, some cocoa, Malaga wine and dry goods, with 50 Spanish soldiers. The prize proves to be a brig from Carthagena to the Havannah, a King's packet, mounting 8 nine pounders. The Industry has also taken an English ship, called the Lord Middleton, bound to New-York, with 56 hogheads of rum, which was ransomed; also, two or three other Spanish and English vessels.

The following is an estimate of the cargo of the Spanish prize sent into Savannah, received by a gentleman just arrived from thence:

18 bars of gold, valued at	30,000
Cocoa valued at	20,000
