FOR SALE,

BY MATHEW CAREY, No. 118,
Market-Street,

An Essay on Slavery,

Designed to exhibit in a new point of view its effects on morals, industry, and the peace of society. Some facts and calculations are offered to prove the labor of freemen to be much more productive than that of slaves; that countries are rich, powerful and happy, in proportion as the laboring people enjoy the fruits of their own labor; and hence the necessary conclusion, that slavery is impolitic as well as unjust.

Congress of the United States.

IN SENATE,

Monday, April 28, 1794.

Mr. King reported from the managers at the conference on the part of the Senate, on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses respecting the bill, entitled, "An act to establish the post-office and post-roads within the United States," and the report was adopted.

Whereupon,
Resolved, that in lieu of the tenth amendment proposed by the Senate, the following be substituted—

Make the two paragraphs one, thus:
After "Cannojoharie" strike out "to" and insert "and" and after "Whitestown" strike out all that follows to "Montgomery" inclusive, and insert, "to Kanandorogue, and from some convenient point in that line."

So that the paragraph be read thus:
From Albany by Schenectady Conno-joharie and Whitestown to Kanandorogue and from some convenient point in that line, through Cherry valley to the Court-House in Coopers-Town in the County of Otsego.

In the new section proposed by the Senate to follow the 27th Section, after the words, "two cents" insert, "Provided that no letter shall be delivered to such letter carrier for distribution, addressed to any person who shall have lodged at the post-office a written request, that his letters shall be detained in the office."

Ordered, that the Secretary desire the concurrence of the House of Representatives in these amendments.

The bill, sent from the House of Representatives for concurrence, "entitled, "An act to suspend the importation of certain goods, wares and merchandize" was read the second time.

A motion was made to refer this bill to a committee of five, and after debate, was withdrawn, and

A second motion for a commitment being made—
It passed in the negative.

On the question to agree to the first section of the bill as follows:

WHEREAS the injuries which have been suffered, and may be suffered by the United States, from violations committed by Great Britain, on their neutral rights and commercial interests, as well as from her failure to execute the seventh article of the treaty of peace, render it expedient, for the interests of the United States, that the commercial intercourse between the two countries, should not, during the continuance of these embarrassments, be carried on in the extent at present allowed:

BE it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That from and after the first day of November next, it shall be unlawful to import into the United States, any goods, wares or merchandize whatever of the growth, produce, or manufacture of Great Britain or Ireland, and if any such shall be imported, the same shall be forfeited, and may be seized by any of the officers of the customs: And where the value thereof, according to the highest market price, shall amount to four hundred dollars, the vessel importing the same, with her tackle, apparel and furniture, shall be subject to like seizure and forfeiture. Provided, That this prohibition and forfeiture, shall not extend to any such articles as are now exempted from duty.

It passed in the negative.—Yeas—11

Nays—14

The yeas and nays being required by one fifth of the Senators present:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are, Messrs. Brown, Burr, Butler, Edwards, Gunn, Hawkins, Langdon, Martin, Monroe, Robinson and Taylor.

Those who voted in the negative, are, Messrs. Bradford, Cabot, Ellsworth, Foster, Frelinghuysen, Henry, Izard, King, Morris, Potts, Rofs, Rutherford, Strong and Vining.

And the question, being severally put on the subsequent sections of the bill,

Passed in the negative.

On motion,

That this bill pass to the third reading—

It passed in the negative.—Yeas—13

Nays—13

The yeas and nays being required by one fifth of the Senators present.

Those who voted in the affirmative, are, Messrs. Bradley, Brown, Burr, Butler, Edwards, Gunn, Hawkins, Jackson, Langdon, Martin, Monroe, Robinson and Taylor.

Those who voted in the negative, are, Messrs. Bradford, Cabot, Ellsworth, Foster, Frelinghuysen, Henry, Izard, King, Morris, Potts, Rutherford, Strong, and Vining.

The Vice-President determined the question in the negative.

Ordered, That the Secretary acquaint the House of Representatives that the Senate do not concur in this bill.

Mr. Foster reported from the committee for enrolled bills, that they had examined the bill, entitled, "An act allowing Lieutenant-Colonel Toulard an equivalent for his pension for life," and that it was duly enrolled.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Beckly their Clerk:

"Mr. President—The Speaker of the House of Representatives having signed an enrolled bill, I am directed to bring it to the Senate for the signature of the Vice-President.

"The House of Representatives disagree to the first and agree to the second amendment of the Senate to the bill, entitled, "An act to encourage the recruiting service." And he withdrew.

The Vice-President signed the enrolled bill, entitled, "An act allowing Lieutenant-Colonel Toulard an equivalent for his pension for life;" & it was delivered to the committee to be laid before the President of the United States for his approbation.

Mr. Gunn, from the committee to whom was referred, the bill, entitled, "An act providing for raising and organizing a corps of artificers and engineers," reported, that the bill pass without amendment; and the report being adopted—

Ordered, That this bill pass to the third reading.

The Senate took into consideration the resolution of the House of Representatives, disagreeing to the amendment of the Senate to the first section of the bill, entitled, "An act to encourage the recruiting service,"—and

Resolved, That the Senate adhere to their amendment to the first section of the said bill.

Ordered, That the Secretary communicate this resolution to the House of Representatives.

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, April 29th, 1794.

The bill, sent from the House of Representatives for concurrence, entitled, "An act providing for raising and organizing a corps of artificers and engineers," was read the third time.

On motion,

That this bill be recommitted—
