BY MATHEW CAREY, No. 118,
Market-Street,
An Essay on Slavery,
Designed to exhibit in a new point of view its effects on morals, industry, and the peace of society. Some facts and calculations are offered to prove the labor of freemen to be much more productive than that of slaves; that countries are rich, powerful and happy, in proportion as the laboring people enjoy the fruits of their own labor; and hence the necessary conclusion, that slavery is impolitic as well as unjust.

Extra of a Letter from Columbia, N. W.
Territory April 2.

As to the army I have it not in my power to inform you of the intended movements; they are near a hundred miles from this, and it is probable to me Congress often receive official accounts before we are possessed of facts in this settlement.
I flatter myself something will be done this campaign—you remember my story of the bees, by looking at the map you may see the line between our country and the Indian lands; from the State of Pennsylvania to the great Miami down the the Ohio, the lands have been fairly purchased from the Indian tribes, or in other words they have received such presents as inclined them to draw off from and relinquish all their right to the above described lands; from Pennsylvania to the great Miami is our country, the lands over the Miami being in possession of the Indians, we call that the Indian country, therefore as soon as General Wayne crossed the great Miami he was in the Indian country and I am in hopes his army like the bees will this spring begin to swarm; the worst thing that perhaps could have happened was the pretentions of the Indians to wish a peace; the whole of which I believe to be nothing but delusion deceit and artifice, for nearly from that time they have seemed to double their vige-lance on the escorts and the infant settlement; they are generally in Columbia two or three times a week in the night, and frequently steal our horses and scalp our valuable neighbors and citizens. About 10 days ago they killed one of my neighbors Mr.
David Jennings, a man of excellent character as a citizen and christian. I am afraid Congress will be deceived by the Indians and consequently not forward reinforcements. I have often been surpris'd that some of our fellow citizens who are not opposed to war, in point of principle, should view the present war as being an unjust one, say the war is about the Indian lands of which say they, we are striving to deprive them. I dont think that to be the ground of the present war; the fact is they have received a valuable consideration for the above described land, from Pennsylvania to the great Miami; and notwithstanding, have to my knowledge been near five years plundering and scalping the citizens of the United States residing on those very lands for which they have accepted a valuable consideration and this they have done long before our government exerted its powers to subdue them. For my part I not only deem the war to be a just one; but I believe it the duty of our government to protect its citizens, and altho' the measures adopted have been unfortunate yet I cannot but feel grateful to government for the exertions they have made, although I know they have done no more than their duty.

For the GAZETTE of the UNITED STATES

Some strictures on sundry taxes reported by the committee of ways and means, to the House of Representatives in Congress, and lately discussed in Committee of the whole House, may deserve notice —and are humbly offered to the consideration of Congress and the Public.
1st. Land and labor ought never to be taxed. They are the seed, the embryo, the original principles of all our supplies and all our wealth. The farmer who has purchased and cleared land, and sweats all day to raise bread, has done his part towards the support of the country, and it is no hardship for men who eat his bread to pay him for it, and excuse him from Taxes too.—The first tender germines and shoots of every fruit, should be carefully nursed and protected; for the least oppression and burthen, will lessen & retard or perhaps wholly prevent their perfection; but these remarks, as far as they relate to a land tax, are now unnecessary,
