SWANN'S
Riding School, Horse Academy & Infirmary,
Adjoining the Public Square, Market Street.

T. SWANN
RETURNS his sincere thanks to those gentlemen by whom he has been employed, during his residence in this City, and flatters himself that the success of his efforts, in the numerous, obstinate and dangerous diseases in Horses, in which he has been consulted, together with his moderate charges, will secure their future favors and recommendation.

He now begs leave to inform them and the public at large that his spacious and commodious premises, erected for the purpose above described are open for the reception of pupils of either sex, who wish to be instructed in the Art of Riding, and the right method of governing their horses, to be ridden with ease, elegance, and safety—their horses will be carefully and expeditiously broke, for every purpose, and made obedient to the will of the riders; the natural powers which are shut up in them, will be unfolded by art, calling forth uniformity of motion, and giving to that noble animal all those beauties of action which providence has so bountifully bestowed on them.

Also, at his hospital, every disorder to which the horse is liable will be treated according to the rules of art, confirmed by long and repeated experience.

The utility of the above institution has never been questioned, that it has long been wanted in this city, every gentleman's stud will manifest, and T. SWANN as the first establisher of the veterinary art, solicits and relies upon the support of that public (which he is ever anxious in serving) to enable him to bring it to perfection. The idea of a subscription for that purpose has been hinted by several gentlemen, who wish to promote the institution—the amount of each subscription to be returned by services in any of the departments he professes, agreeable to the rate of charges stated in his hand bill. Such subscription is now open, and the signatures of many respectable gentlemen already obtained. He therefore informs his friends and such Ladies and gentlemen to whom he has not the honor of being known, that he shall in a few days take the liberty of waiting upon them and soliciting their support and protection.

N. B. Horses are properly prepared for those Ladies and Gentlemen who wish to be instructed.

50,000 Tickets, at Eight Dollars, 400,000

N. B. To favour those who may take a quantity of Tickets, the prize of 40,000 dollars will be the last drawn ticket, and the 30,000 the LAST but ONE.

And approved notes, securing payment in either money or prizes, in ten days after drawing, will be received for any number not less than 20 tickets.

This Lottery will afford an elegant specimen of the private buildings to be erected in the City of Washington—Two beautiful designs are already selected for the entire fronts on two of the public squares; from these drawings it is proposed to erect two centre and four corner buildings, as soon as possible after this lottery is sold, and to convey them, when complete, to the fortunate adventurers, in the manner described in the scheme for the Hotel Lottery. A nett deduction of five per cent. will be made to defray the necessary expenses of printing, &c. and the surplus will be made a part of the fund intended for the National University, to be erected within the city of Washington.

The Drawing will commence as soon as the tickets are sold.—The money prizes will be payable in thirty days after it is finished; and any prizes for which fortunate numbers are not produced within twelve months after the drawing is closed, are to be considered as given towards the fund for the University; it being determined to settle the whole business in a year from the ending of the drawing, and to take up the bonds given as security.

The real securities given for the payment of the Prizes, are held by the President and two Directors of the Bank of Columbia, and are valued at more than half the amount of the lottery.

The twenty four gentlemen who by appointment of the late Commissioners assisted in the management of the Hotel Lottery are requested to undertake this arduous task a second time on behalf of the public; a sufficient number of these having kindly accepted, it is hoped that the same will be a National University and the other federal objects may continue to favor the design.

By accounts received from the different parts of the Continent as well as from Europe, where the tickets have been sent for sale, the public are assured that the drawing will speedily commence, and that the care and caution unavoidably necessary to insure a safe disposal of the tickets, has rendered the (for) suspension indispensable.

AN ENQUIRY
Concerning POLITICAL JUSTICE,
And its Influence on Morals and Happiness,
By WILLIAM GODWIN.

TMB reputation of this work is already well established in Europe—it is hardly necessary for an American editor to say more than barely to mention, that the Enquiry concerning Political Justice has ever since its publication been a favorite performance with the friends of republican government. The file is pure, nervous, and classical; the ideas are strongly marked by an original vein of thinking; and, amongst a multitude of other just and striking passages, the author's delineation of the peculiar infelicities inseparable from the condition of a King, may be pointed out as a most masterly specimen of philosophical disquisition. The latest London edition of this work sells in this city at four dollars and an half.

Proposals by WILLIAM COBBETT, printer of Christ Church, Philadelphia, for publishing news-paper, to be entitled Porcupine's Gazette, & Daily Advertiser.

Methinks I hear the reader exclaim: "What! have we not Gazettes enough already?" Yes, and far too many; but those that we have, are, in general, conducted in such a manner that their got number, instead of rendering mine unnecessary, the only cause that calls for its establishment.

The gazettes in this country have done more real injury than all its open enemies ever did or can do. They mislead the people at home and misrepresent them abroad. It was these vehicles of seditious and discord that encouraged the counties in the east to rebel; it was they that gave rise to the deprivation of Britain, by exciting the people to such a violence against that nation, as left no room to do that we were determined on war; and it was when an accommodation had been happily effected that stirred up an opposition to it such as has seldom witnessed, and which was overcome by mere chance. These gazettes it was, that, by misrepresenting dispositions of one people, encouraged the French proceed from one degree of infidelity to another, 'till last their Minister braves the President in his air, and a bullying commander comes and tells us this only business is to seize our vessels, in violation a treaty, in virtue of which alone he claims a right to our ports; and it is these gazettes that now have impudence to defend what their falsehood and we have produced.

I shall be told that the people are to blame; that they are not obliged to read the abominable publications. But they do read them, and thousands who read them, read nothing else. I suppose this is impossible; they will vomit forth poison; it is a privilege of their nature, that I can abridge; and therefore the only mode left is to counteract its effects.

This must be done, too, in our own way. Books, or periodical publications in form of books, may be of some service, but are to me a match for their flying folios. A falsetto that remains uncontradicted for a month, begins to speak upon as a truth, and when the detection at last appears, it is often as useless as that of a doctor who finds his patient expired. The only old of opposition, then, is to meet them on their own ground; to set foot to foot; dispute every inch every hair's breadth; fight them at their own way, and return them two blows for one.

A gazette of this stamp that I have long wished to see, but I have wished and acted in vain. Indignation at the impudence of such a set has got the better of all diffidence in my capacity, and has determined me to encounter them. People have heard one side long enough; shall now hear the other.

CONDENSE.
