A gentleman who came passenger in the Packet, fays that the fubstance of the following account was published in the English papers, viz.

On Lord Malmefbury's approach to Paris, the Poiffardes and populace of that city iffued forth to meet him; and, at a confiderable diffance from the city, took the horfes from his carriage, and dragged him in triumph to Paris.

This is a corroboration of the opinion that the Jovereign people of France eagerly pant for peace.

When he found his en-deavors to extinguifh the flames were ineffectual, he rufted up flairs through them, to attempt to refeue his family. In this praffe-worthy effort he had well nigh perified; for when he teached the third flory, where he was faluted with the tight of his wife and deareft child fuffocated to death; he was almost overpowered with the imøke, and nearly exhausted by the time he arrived at the window. His hands were much bwrn-ed, as were his legs, his neck, his face, and the parts adjacent to the abdomen. To draw the character of Mr. Brown is attended with confiderable difficulty. That it had blemifhes the utmost partiality of friendflip cannot deny. That those blemifhes were contrafted by luminous points, malice and hatred muff admit. And what elfs is many in his beft flate, but a compound of virtue and vice, of light and flade? NEW TORK, February 6. It is faid that Mr. Pitt's propolition for railing noney met with ready fuccess, and that a subscrip tion of fifteen millions was speedily filled by private anking houses and individuals.

When the British packet left Falmouth a report prevailed of a bloody pattle between prince Charles and the French near Kehl, which ended much in favor of the Austrians. This is mere report. It e probable a fevere action has taken place ; as when the laft accounts came away, the Auftrians were ombarding Kehl, and the French would doubtlefs

But his holisels, defirous of counteracting the projects of domeftic confpirators, having requefted his ma-jefty, in a letter written with his own hand, to march 10,000 troops into the papal territory immediately, the king of Naples has fignified to the pope in his answer, which reached this place the day before yesterday, that complying with his requeft, he had ordered the regiments of the queen and Puglia, with two battalions of volunteers, to march to the Romagna by Tronto ; and the royal Italian regiment, two regiments of national volunteers, two battalions of chaffeurs, the regiment of horfe of Roffiglione, and two battalions of can-noncers to proceed thinker by Rieti. All thefe troops are already in motion, and the road of Ce-prano is likewife preparing with the atmost fpeed for the passage of a column of militia.

The negociations with Portugal appear to be fuf-pended. The evacuation of Corfica has fpread great joy at Marieilles. The merchants of that place flatter them-felves, that the English poffeifing no port in the medi-terrahean, where their fleets can take fhelter, or whi-ther they can carry their prizes, will repais the fireights effecially at this flormy winter feafon, and allow the French merchants to refume fome activity, in the Le-yant trade. A num er of veffels are already arrived in that port from Genoa. The peace concluded with the king of Naples will alfo again open a direct trade with Sicily, which, during the war, has even carried on through the Genoefe. Thefe commercial advan-tages will be attended with a political advantage, fill more important, namely, that commerce and induftry will give employment to a great number of idlers, who, for want of opportunities to employ themfelves in a uteful way, give themfelves up to revolutionizing speculations. The torrent, which has fo long over-flowed its banks, will at length refume its wonted courfe.

They now talk of colleding the relies of the Bata-premature. They now talk of colleding the relies of the Bata-olan navy for a new expedition; but it will be diffi-cult to find failors to man the flips. On the exchange at Amflerdam they are very uncafy about the fituation of the colony of Surinam. A letter from Marifeilles flates, that on the 6th infl. about 50 veffels from Genoa, Leghon, and the coafts of Italy, entered that harbor. Ten paffengers, men and women, were taken before the central board, to have their papers verified. As they had up paffports, they were fulpeeted to be emigrants. They will be feat to the cruminal tribunal of Aix. Letters from Vendome, dated 27th Brumaire, an-nounce to us two important ju sgments of the high court of jufficiary. By the first it has admitted 13 challenges of the grand juries out of 24, made by the accules by the fecond it has rejected a requeft of Ba-bourf, withing the evidence of four prifoners to be taken refident in America, Conftantinopie and Algiers. The Republic conferts to pay four millions and a half lives Tournois to France, half of which is to be initiantly paid in fpecie, and the reft at an app pointed time. The French Government engages, on its part, to rensunce all claims on Genoa, to forget what has paffed during the prefent war, and not to trouble the Genoele with any future demands.

If we are to credit fome of our public prints, the fleet at Breft, compoled of 17 thips of the line and 14 frigates, is on the point of failing. Admi-ral Villaret and Gen. Hoche are alone entruffed with the fecret of the expedition. It is also faid, that the port has been blocked up for fome days paft by an English foundron of az fhips. Letters from Breft, however, give a very different account. They flate, that the expedition is not only delayed, but that it is entirely laid afide. General Hoche is returned to Rennes, to expedite the trial of those accused of attempting to astallinate him. We hear from Vienna, that the marriage of the

The French officer fent to Vienna as a courier, with difpatches from the Directory, fet out for Paris the 21fl of October. It is generally believed at Vienna, that a general Congress for Peace will immediately take place.

Letters received at Ratifbon the 26th of October from Vienna, agree in stating, that the further raifing of recruits in the Austrian provinces has been entirely fulpended by the Emperor's order. This intelligence has again revived the hopes of the friends to peace.

The Tribunal de la Seine yesterday acquitted Citizen Thoin, provitional goaler of the Abbaye Carion and Patte, accused of having been privy to the efcape of Drouet

LONDON, November 14.

The flate of Italy is of a most interesting na-ture, and exhibits political mysteries which cannot remain long undifclosed. All the accounts from that country agree in flating, that whild one miniflet of the king of Naples was negociating a trea-ty of peace with the French reputlic at Paris, another of his majefty's ministers negociated a treaty of offentive and defentive alliance with the Pope, 1 whole dominions the republican generals had received orders to attack. If the king of Naples thould raify the treaty with France, he must of course re-nounce that which he has concluded with the Pope, as being contrary to the neutrality flipulated in the former; and vice verfa. We flouid not wonder, if this Prince, convinced of the danger to which a republican invation of the ecclefiaftical flate would xpole his own dominions, and which might besome much more pernicious to his kingdom than the profecution of the war, should refuse to ratify the treaty figned at Paris, unless the directory con-fent to defift from all attacks on the Ecclesiaftical States.

The tribunal of c flation has received a charge a-gainft Freron, relative to a grime which he committed while he was pro-conful in the fouth. Freron is com-prehended in the law of the 3d Brumaire, becaufe his mother is an emigrant, and he is godion of Staniflaus, king of Poland, and duke of Lorrain. The famous Antonelle was arrefted the day before yefterday, at 7 o'clock in the evening. His definy is a most capricious one. Thefe plans are very fine, but the army of the Sambre and Meufe is there to op pofe fome obffacles to it.

The inhabitants of Neuwied have obtained leave from the imperial general to obtain provisions when they want them, from places occupied by the Im-perialitts.
