RETURNS his fincere thanks to those gentlemen by whom he has been employed, during his residence in this City, and slatters himself that the success of his efforts, in the numerous, obstinate and dengerous discases in Horses, in which he has been consulted, together with his moderate charges, will secure their future favors and recommendation.

He now begs leave to inform them and the public at large that his spacious and commodious premises, erected for the purposes above described are open for the reception of pupils of either sex, who wish to be instructed in the Art of Riding, and the right method of governing their horses, so as to ride them with case elegance, and safety—their horses will be carefully and expeditiously broke, for every purpose, and made obedient to he will of the riders; the natural powers which are thut up in them, will be unfolded by art, calling forth uniformity of motion, and giving to that nobleanimal all those beauties of action which providence has so bountifully bellowed on them.

Also, at his hospital, every disorder to which the horse is liable will be treated according to the rules of art, confirmed by long and repeated experience.

The utility of the above inflitution has never been questioned, that it has long been wanted in this city, every gentleman's flud will manifest, and T. Swann as the first establisher of the vectrenary art, solicits and relies upon the support of that public (which he is ever anxious in serving) to enable him to bring it to perfection. The idea of a subscription for that purpose has been hinted by several gentleman, who wish to perfection. The idea of a subscription is now open, and the fignatures of many respectable gentlemen already obtained. He therefore injorms his friends and such Ladies and gentlemen to whom he has not the honor of being known, that he shall in a sew days takethe liberty of washing upon them and soliciting their support and protection.

STAGES.

The public are requested to take notice, that the partnership which has for sometime subfissed between Mathias Slengh of Lancaster, and William Geer, is now dissolved; but, not as M. Slough infinuates to the public without just cause; as will more fully appear by a letter on the subject from M. Slough to W. Geer, dated the 29th December last, a recital of which is not now deemed necessary. Any gentleman who wishes to be more circumstantially informed of the merits of this business, by applying to W. Geer may have the pertural of M. Slough's letter, and then can be at sull liberty to determine whether or not W. Geer is not perfectly justifiable in attaching himself to any other person in the profecution of the Stage conveyance from Philadelphia to Shippensurg, or any other place.

Now from the liberal and generous support the public were pleased to confer on the first effort in this business, William Geer, in conjunction with Mestrs. Reily, Weed and Witmer, is determined to prosecute and carry it on, with every care, attention and dispatch that a zeal to oblige the public can possibly exert.

"Sed cum plerique arbitrentur res bellicas majores effe uam urbanas, minuenda est hac opinio." (Entered according to law.) Cic. Off.

"WILLIAM PENN, the great legislator of the Quakers, (in Pennsylvania) had the success of a conqueror, in establishing and defending his colony, among savage tribes, without ever drawing the sword; the goodness of the most benevolent rulers, in treating his subjects as his own children; and the tenderness of an universal father, who opened his arms to all mankind, without distinction of feet or party. In his Republic it was not his religious creed, but personal merit, that entitled every member of society to the protection and emolument of the State."
