bury was in correspondence with either a Beitish agent at Udina, or with the Imperi-Beatin agent at Odina, or with the Imperi-al committioner, as we know, that he was in the habit of fending and receiving couri-ers directly from Lifle to Vienna and elfe-where ; and it is probable that this was a difpatch forwarded to him from Italy in the idea of his being full in France, and which have received an account of the precife flate of the important negociations at Lifle. October 6.

M. Deelne, the French courier, accom-panied by Mr. Shaw, the King's Meffen-ger, fet out yefterday evening for France, with the anfwer of the British Cabinet to difpatches received from the Executive Directory on Tuelday morning laft. Nothing has yet officially transpired relative to the nature of this reply, but the reports in the minifterial circles are is fome degree favor-able to the wiftees of the friends of peace.

A council of all the cabinet minifters was held yefterday morning at Lord Grenville's office, when the anfwer for the difpatches from the French Directory was fully determined upon:

October 7.

Paris journals up to the 4th inft. were reeeived in town yefterday morning, and we have felected from them the most interesting extracts. The most important intelligence they contain is an order of the Executive Directory, dated the 11th of Sept. which fully confirms the opinions we have fo frefully coaffirms the opinions we have fo fre-quently delivered of the unreafonable and exorbitant pretentions of our ambitious ri-val. Nothing flort of a complete refitu-tion of all the poffeffions taken by England from France and her allies during the courfe ef the war, will now fatisfy the avidity of the French faction; and these concessions they call upon us to cflablish as the bafis of the aegociation. Ow lord Malmeforry's re-fufal to accede to this proposition, he was ordered to leave France in 24 hours, and re-turn to his court in order to obtain the return to his court in order to obtain the requifite powers to treat ou the grounds alluded to. Hence the fudden rupture of the negociation, and unless the French Directory from cooler confiderations be induced to relax the rigour of this principle, there are but faint hopes left that the negociation will foon be renewed with any effect. To fuch humiliating conditions the pride of England can never bow; we have therefore only to prepare with fpirit and with vigour to meet an alternative which our earnest endeavours an alternative which our earner endeavours for a peace have been unable to avert. Letters from Udina of the 10th ult. flate a conference took place the preceding day, between the Auftrian and French plenipo-tentiaries, and that the French troops had orders to fend back to Ferrara their fick, all their women and children. The whole ar-my was to be ready to march on the 23d

From Milan and Genoa we learn, that an attempt has been made to overturn the new Ligurian Republic; but the patriots, affilt-ed by the French, foon fucceeded in crufh-

ing the infurrection. The lateft letters from Vienna, which reached Hambro' on the 28th ult. informs us, that gen. Meerfeldt was arrived from Udina, not with the treaty of peace, but with the Ultimatum of the French Directo-

The efcape of a number of the Deputies fentenced for transportation from France, is a circumstance of much curiofity. General Dutertre who was fufpected of having been remifs in his charge of them, and arrefted, has been acquitted and appointed to a com-mand on the Rhine. In Paris, the feals had been taken off the house of Boiffy D'Anglas, and his wife enjoyed the free use of it; although his escape and arrival in Switzerland was then known. The circumstance of the Directory, who have hitherto preferved the krittelt fecrecy on the proceedings at Lifle, giving publici-ty to their late arrete, on that fubject, leads us to confider them as having given up all probability of the negociation ending in Departed this life, about 12 o'clock, this day, in the 26th year of his age, Mr. THO-MAS E. CLAYLAND, one of the proprietors of the Baltimore Telegraphe. In this young gentleman were centred many amiable qualities, which promifed confiderable advantage to fociety.

A volcano, we learn by a gentleman juft from Guadaloupe, made an irruption about two months ago, in the Sulphur Mountain.* It emitted for a few days nothing but fmoke, attended with violent concuffions of the earth, the fhocks of which were very fentibly felt in Baffeterre. The whole top of the mountain afterwards fell into its crater, when it vomitted forth a large quantity of lava and affres, with the latter of which the freets of Baffeterre were covered several inches deep, and some coffee plantations in the vicinity of the volcano were utterly deftroyed. It continued to burn violently when our informant left the ifland, and the blaze from the top of the mountain was plainly to be feen from the town of Baffeterre. Hugues had feut feve-ral naturalits to make their observations on this phenomenon.

* The Sulphur Mountain is in the island of Guadaloupe, about 7 miles from Baffeterre.
