Forty Dollars Reward.
FOR APPREHENDING
AGENTLEMAN NEGRO,
BY GEORGE G. PARKER, the property of the subscriber, who has thought proper to reward any person who will inform of his whereabouts without any provocation or just cause; he warmly requests the property of Backwith Butler, Esq. at lived a considerable time with Potter, who kept tavern in Frederickburg, having seen such company and travelled with several gentlemen through different parts of this State, he is much known. It is therefore conjectured he will pass for some of the northern cities or towns, which he discovered a question of plantation work, which he may perhaps have crossed the ridge where he has another belonging to major Butler.
This fellow is about five feet seven inch a high, well proportioned and walks active and brisk, his countenance is open and agreeable enough when in good humour; he can hardly be surpris'd in shrow'd, and is a very capable waiting-man, house servant, barber, &c. To describe his dress would be useless, as he possessed a variety of clothes, though when dressed lately, he wore a green coat bound with white furring and spotted jacket and breeches. Whoever brings him home or secures in goal in this or any other State the said fellow, so that I may get him again, shall have the above reward.
ALEXANDER VASS,
Falmouth, Oct. 23, 1798.

A French Classical & Mathematical SCHOOL.
WILL be opened on Monday the 22d. instant at that large commodious room formerly occupied by Mr. Les in Morris's Alley, No. 15, nearly opposite the City Tavern; under the direction of Messrs. Smith and Chandler both of liberal education, and long experienced in their respective professions—As they intend under the patronage of a discerning public, permanently to establish themselves in this undertaking, their whole study and attention will be devoted to the improvement of their pupils—There will be conducted upon the latest and most approved plans, through a complete course of academical studies, or those parts only that may be pointed out, as more immediately adapted to their particular views in life.—Certain portions of their time will be assigned for geography, history, extracts, composition, and declamations in French and English, in order to form early habits of writing and speaking with propriety—Visits from parents and literary characters, tending to excite a spirit of emulation, will be gratefully received. The hours of study are from 9 to 12 A. M. and from 2 to 5 P. M.
They offer to translate the English, French, Spanish and Portuguese languages; and to draw in their proper modes and stile, all kinds of writing, whether legal, commercial, or epistolary.
The first Monday in November, they also propose to open an evening school for French, book-keeping, surveying and navigation, of which they have a practical as well as theoretical knowledge. As a number of French gentlemen will attend, the students of their language, by continually conversing with them, as well as their teachers, will acquire, along with the principles, a facility of expression.

AVIS AUX FRANCOIS :
Messrs Chandler et Smith ont l'honneur de prevenir M. M. les Francois, qu'ils se proposent d'etablir une Academie en Morris alley, No. 15; presque vis-a-vis la Bourse; dans laquelle on enseignera la langue Latine, Angloise et Francaise: l'Arithmetique, la tenue des livres, la Geographie, et les Mathematiques.
On fait aussi toutes sortes de traductions dans les dites langues: et donne lecons chez les particuliers.
Qu'on s'adresse a l'Hotel de Mr. Vallette au coin de Genevieve et de Cherry alley.

Bank of the United States.
Philadelphia, September 21, 1798.
The public is hereby informed, that an Office of Deposit and Discount will be opened on Monday next, at the house lately occupied by SAMUEL RICHARDET, near the Market House in Germantown—where the business of this Institution will be transacted during the continuance of the malignant fever now prevailing in Philadelphia.
HENRY KUHLL, Assistant Cashier.
September 22

John Haines & Wm. Jones,
BEG leave to inform their friends and the public, that they have commenced a Co-partnership in the SADDLING BUSINESS, which will in future be carried on under the firm of HAINES & JONES,
in Market Street, No. 132, one door above the corner of Fourth, where they presume (at least to hope) that their attention to, and knowledge in business, their determination to serve on the best terms, and their known attachment as Native Americans to the Government and Constitution of their Country, will entitle them to the encouragement of a generous public. Although they cannot boast of having acquired their experience in any part of Europe, yet they take the liberty of pledging themselves, that their manufacture shall be inferior to none in this city.
June 26.

By this Day's Mail.
BALTIMORE, November 6.
The Father and Hero of our country, WASHINGTON, the great and good, left the City of Washington this morning, and is expected in Town this evening. Several companies of volunteers, horse and foot, and other citizens have gone forth to greet him; and the citizens generally are preparing to testify their joy at once more beholding the founder and preserver of our Country's Liberty and Independence.

PORTLAND, October 29.
Villainy.
On Thursday night last, an attempt was made to burn a large store owned by Mrs. Fox, situated in the centre of the town, one part of which on the ground floor, is occupied by Mr. Butler, as a dwelling house and Book Binder's shop, another part was rented to one Henry Hunt, Alias Harry W. Hunt, late of Bolton, as a merchant's store, and the chamber is the printing office of Messrs. Rand and Burdick. Between the hours of twelve and one, Mr. Butler discovered that a fire had burnt through the partition, which separated his apartment from Hunt's. The cry of fire was immediately raised, the bells were rung and the town instantly alarmed. Fortunately, the wind was remarkably still, and by the timely exertions of the citizens, the fire was extinguished.

A tar bucket and a pail with tar in it, together with other combustibles, such as shavings, tarred rags, &c. were found placed in several parts of the store, and several shelves were covered with tar. A piece of cloth was also found placed before the glass over the front door.

When the fire was first discovered, the doors and windows were all secure, so that no person from without could possibly have entered, unless with a key. Circumstances considered led to a suspicion that Hunt himself was the guilty person. He was immediately therefore taken into custody and the next day examined before the justices of the court of general sessions of the peace, which was then sitting.

The prisoner has confessed that his goods were intured in Bolton, against fire, and asserts that he had five thousand dollars worth in the store. However, the goods found there were to a very small amount. He also confessed that the tar-bucket was his as he had picked it up several days before on the steps, and carried it into the store. The evidence, in short was so strong against him, that he was ordered by the Court to give bond for 5000 dollars, and had full security for 5000 more, or be committed to prison. Not being able to find bail, he stands committed for trial at the Supreme Court to be holden in this town in July next.

BOSTON, November 1.
The partizans of France are challenged to shew one instance of a nation getting liberty by allowing another nation to intermeddle and to dictate in its affairs. Independence has been often lost in this way, but when liberty preferred by it. One might as well talk of the freedom of a jail. The pretence therefore of the French that they offer this blessing to every other people and state, is the grossest imposture and deceit that ever was practiced, whatever doctor Logan and Vice Mazzei may say to the contrary.

If the depots of France were sincere in their offers of peace, what would they do? They would acknowledge that they were much in the wrong when they insulted us, and refused to receive our ministers of peace; they would promise to restore all they had robbed us of, with reasonable allowance for our damages and losses; and this they would engage and give security to do; they would do justice when they professed to respect it, and finally they would take care to prevent the repetition of injuries by disarming their pirates and punishing those who have whipped, murdered and robbed our citizens. It would be required by us that reparation should prove the sincerity of their sorrow for the wrongs they have done us.

If France is insincere, and means to make Americans dupes, by a lullaby offer of a new negotiation, what would she do. Exactly what she is said to be doing. Give good words, to turn away our just wrath; when that is allayed under the mask of friendship, renew the old scheme to divide and govern. We deserve chains if we accept them again.

The Irish patriots, after having set their own country on fire, are running away by the light of it, as wharf rats are said to flee in troops from one house where they have been trapped with ratsbane, to another where they smell good provisions; and it seems to be the unlucky fame of America to be the home, the Jerusalem, for runaways. What sort of society shall we have—how shall we be made up by the time that distracted Europe gets settled. All that other States throw away we are to take, and say thank you. Their offer is to be our aliment.—We are to swell our population with the four leaven of Ireland, and the caustic spirit of France. The wretched cauldron, in the play of Macbeth, was not filled with worse ingredients than America will be. Surely we need a Sedition law to keep our own rogues from cutting our throats, and an Alien law to prevent the invasion by a host of foreign rogues to assist them. The irruption of the Goths and Vandals into the Roman Empire did not more seriously threaten its overthrow than the terrible preference all foreign incendiaries indulge for our happy country; it forebodes confusion and whiffy insurrection. France and Great Britain use America very feverishly when they presume to make it a Botany Bay for their convicts, a bethering house for their knaves, and a bedlam for mad people. The New-England States will hang some of them, and others Pennsylvania will send to Congress.

It seems as if America was already a divided people. The Jacobin party has its minister in Paris, and he is accredited by the directory; probably instead of paying for that honor, he has money to take, and some of it may be employed perhaps to pay Lyon's line. As the party thus exercise the
