

LONDON, January 24. We are credibly informed, that the part of Germany fituated along the Rhine, from Manheim as far as Duffeldorf, towards Fran-Machenn as far as Duffeldorf, towards Fran-conia, is threatened with an invation by the French. It appears from the measures pur-fued in confequence of the threat, that no hopes are entertained of oppoling their pro-grefs, as the Auftrians are lefs in force in this quarter than any other. The elector Palatine has withdrawn all the troops which he had, nearly to the amount of 8000 men, in the duchy of Berg, and in the town of Manheim and its environs. The fortifications of Manheim, which it was found very difficult to defend lince the French made themfelves mafters of the fort on the left bank of the Rhine that commands the tete du pont, have been diminified. Of four battalions, of infantry and a regiment of dragoons, which the Landgrave of Heffe Caffel had in garrifon at Hanau, a frong place four leagues diffant from Frankfort, he has allowed only one battalion to remain, and the army of Heffe has been reinforced by the remainder. It is alfo flated, with a confiderable degree of confidence, that the garrifon of Ehren-breitflein has received a fresh fupply of pro-visions from a veffel belonging to the country of Treves, which, proceeding down the Mo-felle, fucceeded in landing a fupply at the foot of thatfortrefs. The gallant col. Fa-bre, who compands there, is determined to bre, who commands there, is determined to hold out to the last extremity.

It is fineerely to be lamented that precautions and preparations only are opposed to the enemy, at a crifis when the greateft and most spirited efforts can fearcely be sufficient to check the tyrannical encroachments of the NATIONAL INSTITUTE IN EGYPT. A kind of Institute has been eftablished. fifting of the suife men whom Buonaparte commanded by the fworn eveny of the French, Murat Bey, and to prevent his junc-tion with the other two, general Buonaparte ordered general Defaix to advance against him ; but Murat Bey attacked him with fu-perior numbers, and forced his corps, confifting of 4 or 5000 men, to retire. The news of this victory was foon car-ried to the camps of Ofman and Achmet, and to the city of Cairo, where all were foon under arms, and haftened to reinforce the wo other armies, with whom Murat Bey non formed a junction, and again attacked the French with a very fuperior force. They were defeated and Buonaparte fell in the battle. The death of this general, and the de-teat of his army, drew after them the ruin of the greater part of the French garrifons in the towns of Egypt, and the city of Alex-andria fell into the hands of the combined troops. A part of the transports were taken and the reft deitrôyed. Another letter fame date.

This day another courier arrived here from Cairo, with an account that immediately after the maffacre at Cairo, Murat Bey and two other Beys attacked the French troops, pofied near Cairo, and compelled them to give vay to superior force.

In this bloody battle a great, number of French officers of the first rank were left lead on the field, among whom was general Buonaparte himfelf.

HAGUE, December 30.

Very fharp remonstrances are making a-gainst the lass forced loan of 8 per cent. on all property, and particularly against the ar-ticle which requires that the payment of this 4 per cent. shall be made in four payments. At Amsterdam, as well as at the Hague, petitions are figning expressive of these fentiments, which are to be prefented on the first meeting of the repr.fentative body. The petitioners represent, that these four periods for payment are not fufficiently diftant from each other .- Several Batavian officers have alfo remonstrated against this loan, and ob-ferve, their pay is infufficient even for their fubftance, and that it is impoffible for them to contribute ten per cent. towards that

The remonstrances of these officers have been referred to the financial committee.

Extract of a letter from a young gentleman on board the ship Factor, of and from this port to London, dated Liverpool, 27th January.

I take this opportunity to write to you concerning my paffage, as we have had a ve-y difagreeable one : twenty-five days after ve left Sandy Hook, we had the misfortune to fall in with a French privateer, called the Intrepid, a fhip of 18 nine pounders and 4 brafs twelves; we faw her about 10 o'clock in the morning-fhe came up at laft with us. About half past 3, fired feveral shot at usrounded too in order to give us a broadlide. ely the could not, it being a beavy fea; fhe rounded too and fired a fhot at us. She hailed us, and afked our cargo; we told them; they ordered us to lower our boat, down, and bring the papers on board; our ift mate went on board with the papers 3 the ift lieutenant on board with our mateordered our captain on board. He told us they had the day before let two American fhips pafs, bound to London. Our captain went with him, and took the letter oag aong ; they told us we must lay too, which we did. About 12 o'clock at night, the paffengers confulted with our mate, and hought it beft, when the moon went down, thought it beft, when the moon went down, to fet fail, which we accordingly did; hove all the main deck guns overboard-blowing very hard, crouded as much fail as poffible. We loft fight of her about half paft 2, and thought beft to put into Liverpool, it being a contrary courfe and neareft port. However, we were all ready for action, but the men freing the was of much greater force the men feeing fle was of much greater force hove down their matches, and went down in the fore cafile. The captain could not perfuade them to sight, which we are now furz of, that if we had fired one gun, we would all have been put to death. That is all I have room for at prefent about her." "N. B. Twentieth of December, we were engaged one hour and a half with a French brig privateer of 10¹ guns, beat her off."

Extract of a letter from Mr. MAURT, Con-sul of the United States at Liverpool, to the Secretary of State, dated 28th January 1799.

" The Privy Council having lately made it a condition to the admission to entry in our fhips of goods not the produce of the United States, that they be in packages conformable to law, I would recommend to our citizens, that their cargoes be accordngly, especially coffee, which should be at least 112 lbs. per package.

We are informed, that a letter of a late date is in town, from the failing-mafter of L'Insurgente, containing the important information of the White Flag having been hoifted at Guadaloupe; of Desfourneaux, the Directorial agent, having been affaffinated and a difpatch fent to the British command er, requefting him to come and take poffer fion of the Ifland. The difclosure of the defign of the directory to reduce the blacks again to a flate of flavery, is flated to have produced thefe events.

MR. DARLEY.

THOUGH the prefent flate of the Th atre has, in a great measure defervedly brought on itfelf neglect, and originated i the Public that indifference to ftage reprefer tation which must, if it continues, bani the Drama from our city; yet in order t prevent a refult fo unpleasant to those wh admire amusements of this kind, it is high neceffary that the public patronage fhou not be withdrawn from the deferving few.-MR. DARLEY is one of those few, and his line excelled, perhaps, by none even Europe. His voice, almost boundless in i extent, is fitted for all the varieties of mod ation, and his skill in its management is tr y fine. The Play he has felecteb for 1 benefit, (the Natural Son) is one of Cumbe and's best Comedies, and the Castle of A delusia is extremely well calculated to ca orth his mufical powers. The wolf-for "flow thou regal purple ftream" and " what a elves compensate the tediousness of a dull play to those who are " pleased with concord of fweet founds," if fuch a compensation of invectiounds," if fuch a compensation were neceffary; which, however, is not the cafe, for the play is, certainly, one of the fineft productions of modern time. A man pofferfing the endowments of Mr. Darley would be avaluable acquisition to any Theatre and we ought at least to afford him that countenance and encouragement which his talents. and exertions fo eminently merit.

" Honored Father,

neither flockings nor floes; and thus was obliged to traverfe fnow, ice and mud." Another paffage of the above letter de-feribes the fituation of the wretched peafants who are within reach of French exaction. " In this country we have been fo well requilitioned, that the peafantry is literally flarving for want; black bread and potatoes is their whole food; and ftill they are forced to yield and pay every infernal demand." Naples and Gæta are the moft important places in the kingdom of Naples. The first as the centre of the government, and of the riches and commerce of the country; the latter as the principal eftablifhment of the Neapolitan navy; and they are unhapily exposed to the depredations of the vistori-ous army. It is to be prefumed that admi-ral Nelson has had the forefight to remove every thing from the port of Gæta which might increase the maritime resources of the French, and that he has deftroyed what he could not bring away. It may be juffly fuppoled that the fame activity and precau-tion have been used with respect to Naples. But when the immense riches of that capital, and the rapid progrefs of the French to take posiefiion of it, are confidered, there to take polieflion of it, are conlidered, there are but too ftrong grounds to apprchend that they will find there amplefpoils for their rapacity. The exertions of the English fleet, in taking away or deftroying every article that migh be ferviceable to the naval operations of the French, is the more effen-tial, as they would materially contribute to guard Sicily from an invation, should the every rife an attack upon that illand, which enemy rifk an attack upon that island, which has been preferved as an afylum for the king of Naples in his misfortunes.
