LORDS' COMMITTEE OF SECRECY. THE ADDRESS

Of the United Britions to the United Irishmen, proved and alluded to in the evidence of John Hughes.

UNITED BRITONS, to the UNITED IRISEMEN.

FELLOW-MEN !

ANXIOUS to diffipate those prejudices, which a mistaken and interested policy has artfully diffused to prevent an UNION of lentiment and mutuality of opinion from being held by the people of England and Ireland, we in the name of the former (with whole fentiments we are acquainted, and whofe confidence we poffers) declare that we will by every poffible means promote the emancipa-tion of both countries. To forward this great object we offer you our confidence, great object we offer you our connactice, and in return demand yours. Though laboring under the yoke of the fame opprefiors, the fifter countries have been differently treated. Ireland has been always the object of direct and open violence, England of fraud—Ireland has been robbed, England has been cheated. One uniform defpicable lure of exclusive trade, greedily marine.

The people were divided about the fhadow till they loft the fubstance. The plan of oppression was fyf-tematically directed throughout both countries to the fame object though in apparent opposition. In Ireland revenue was only raifed to be lavisfied in unmerited pensions, without the infult of pretended national adwithout the infult of pretenced national ad-vantage—in England the veil of fraud was ucceffary to cheat the people of large fums, under the plaufible pretext of public neceffi-ty. The undifguifed opprefilions of Ireland by rendering fubliflence precarious to the poor, have madeher a conflant hot bed for the fatellites of tyranny ; but in England occa-fional crops could only be raifed when the flame of war unufually forced the foil. A preclamation of Hedouville, conforma-ble to this article, was possed up at the Mole with the confent of general Maitland; but Touffaint Louverture complained to Hedouville, that he had not been employed in treat-ing. General Maitland ordered the procla-mation to be taken down, and declared, at the infligation of Touffaint it is faid, that he would not adhere to the treaty. Touffaint was then fent to treat. In the early part of this month, a battal. on of French troops, on its march to Italy, was overtaken by a violent florm, on its way over what is called the maritime Alps, in the narrow paffes which lead from Nice to Tenda. The brock fwelled into a torrent, and fwept away many of the men and all their baggag waggons. The road, which was confiructed by one of the Princes of Piedmont, was eve y where interfected with deep ravines, and the whole of the troops mult have perified, it one had not found fielter in the receives dimidst the rocks. JN,

Various political focieties have been utili-tuted for the purpole of reform; but of thefe, few could boalt purity of principles, or in-tegrity of leaders. Formerly, Richmond headed the votaries of univerfal fuffrage, Fox those of representation by householders, and Pitt those who withed to disfranchife the corrupt boroughs, to throw their proexertions. The London corresponding and it was intended to murder their commander. The night however paffed as did also show npon their ruins, and as univerfal good is numbers and principles, they will not be wanting in the hour of danger.

The Irifh, always an heroic people, had, during the American war, become an armed and undertook the caufe of reform for fecu-in the the caufe of reform for fecu-in the the caufe of reform for fecu-ral concerted with thefe brigands the affemand undertook the caule of reform for feel in the rity. England, likewife, engaged in the caule of reform, but her efforts were weak, as the had not endured fufficient to convince inght of the 30th of the fame month, or the 1th of Brumaire, he furrounded the town of as file had not endured funcient to contrained her of the neceffity of union. The efforts of a number of eminent perfons in both coun-tries in the caufe of freedom, were infuffici-tries in the caufe of freedom, were infuffici-tries in the caufe of freedom, were infufficient, because prejudice yet prevailed, and men were unawakened to their just rights and true intereffs.

The apollacy of feveral leaders in the iblic caufe, added to the infamous coalition, fmothered, for a long time, the flame of li-berty; till the French revolution again fanned its dying embers into a glow, which, we hope and truft will never be extinguished.

The conduct of the two countries, on this important event, d.fplayed a flriking contraft. Ireland, who by her arms, had extorted from the English Government fome fragments of her rights, feemed ready in the fame manner to demand the reft. England alfo formed focieties, whofe object was emancipation, but who hoped it might be obtained by rea-fon; alas! they overrated its force. The differing bill in Ircland, the treafon and fedition holds in England and their con-and fedition bills in England, and their confequences in both countries, need hardly be mentioned. On the people they have bro't chains, on the Government irreconcilable ha-tred. One good effect has, however, refulted from mutual fufferings, and mutual com-muteration ; the prejudice of nations is done away, and the English burn with defire to hull the Irish as Freemen and as Brethren.

Our numbers are immense, onr influence full more confiderable, and our sentiment d with yours. We are unthinned by the Tyranny of the Law or the Sword ; "tis true we have had our fears and our jealoufies ; nor as the king of England had.'

Meanwhile he openly protected the emi-grants. He maintained count O'Gorman, the marquis de Contades, the viscoun: de Bougues, &c. in the military rank which they had received from the English. He fomented partial infurrections, directed against the warehouses of those whom he knew to be devoted to the republic. He chiefly em-ployed a perfon named Moyfe, who is his nephew, in this latter kind of machination. Moyfe commanded at Fort Liberty, former portion of reprefentation into the counties; but these have vanished. The fociety of the friends of the people, and that for conflitu-tional information, have discontinued their came out of their barracks, crying out that The night however paffed, as did alfo the npon their ruins, and as universal good is their balis, we doubt not, but supported by blood being shed

The agent of the Direct ry, informed of this confpiracy, ordered Touffaint Louver-ture to proceed to Fort Liberty, and to ar reft Moyfe and the other feditious perfors f

Hedouville not having a fufficient number of troops at his difpofal to reduce the rebels went with his fuite on board the frigates, and failed for France, accompanied by the general of brigade Leveilles, commandant of the Cape, and the ex-conventionift Belley commander of the colonial Gend'armerie. The day after he failed. Touffaint caufed Te Deum to be fung, and thus remained ma-fter of the field of battle.

"This production," faid Garat, " the title of which announces that it is defined only for infants, is the fruit of the meditations of one of our mof celebrated Geometricians. It contains at once the elements of calculation and of logic. The ground of the calculations is explained by clear and eafily underftood demonstrations well fuited to the understanding of children. This is a very great advantage, as the com-mon rules are only retained in a fugitive mon thes are only retained in a logitive manner by the memory, without yielding a conviction to the mind; which, refting al-together upon an artificial firength, neglects those powers that are properly its own, and accustoms itself to proceeed in a manner pur-
