By an American Gentleman. [In introducing this celebrated work to the Gen-tlemen and Ladies of America, I have endeavored to give it a drefs proportioned to its diffinguifhed ment and delight it is intended. No expense has been spared in the publication; and I flatter myfelf that the work does not yield, either in paper or print, to any one ever published in America — This edition has an advantage over fome former ones, as it contains by way of notes, the minor productions of the author; and, it has an advan-tage over every other edition, in the Postical Epifle which is prefixed to it, and which muil be ex-tremely gratifying to every lower of Interarure in this country, as it is a proof that there are Americ cans who have the talle to advaise, the juffice to appland, and the talents to rival the Geniafes of other nations.

Some Copies have been fent on to Mr. Somerville, Maiden Lane, New York, also to Mr. Hill, Baltimore, and to Mr. Young, Charlefton. Copies will be fent to Bofton and other places, as onn as occasions offer.]

From the WESTERN TELEGRAPHE. THE STRANGE CATTLE : A FABLE.

" Thus did the Trojan wooden horfe "Conceal a fatal armed force : " No fooner breugh: within the walls, " But Illum's loft, and Priam falls." Swirt.

SOME cattle once from a green paflure, Fene'd round with care by its rich mafter, Broke out, tho' modern hikories teach ye, They were drove off for being breachy.

On t'other fide of a great lake There lay another large efficie, The joint concern of many mafters, Who were not careful of their paftures, Their grounds brought yearly fo much crop, Their grounds or ought yearly to had heard. To eat it up they wanted flock. Of this rich land the herd had heard, Then quickly thro' the lake they floor'd And foon this black breed, emigrant, Were lawing on the fartheft bank.

They found the country much the fame I hey found the country much the lame As had been told them by Dame Fame; A fine, extensive; woody common, Where they at will might graze or roam on. The easy mafters' meadow ground Under a wooden fence they found, Both flight and low, not as at home; A folid wall of lime and flone, With eilers of A tolid wall or, the and tione, With pikes of tron, arm'd at top, Poor eattle's liberty to flop. Here they could break the fence at pleafure, And feed and chew their cud at leifure, Frife with the natives helter-kelter, Nor dread a dog, nor trap, nor halter.

Thus things went on, till on a day, The owners did their flock furvey, And, feeing they were much encreas'd, Began to think it might be beft To have the new come cattle broke A little to the plough and yoke, That they might do th' effate fome good for fummer's grafs and winter's food.

At this the firanger-herd grew furious, The ficers bawl'd out, "Dear Sirs, tis curiou "That we fhould fiwim a great big lake " To be again tied by the neck ! " Is what we've heard but idle chatting, " That we'd do nothing here but fatten; " All fummer thro' rich pafture ftray, " And all the winter fland at hay ? "To talk to us of plough and cart "Is tyranny, we do declar't. "You mult excuse us in this matter, "We hope we know our rights some better."

Thus spake the steers. The bulls did mutter all

Then bellow'd forth in accents guttural : " Arrah, by J ____s ! this won't do, " To tie us to to the cart and plough, "To tie us to to the cart and plough,
"And make us work type for our meat,
"What came we here for but to eat !
"Tis damn'd uncivil to a firanger,
"Who fhould be fed at rack and manger,
"Who fhould be fed at rack and manger,
"And kept fo fleek, fo plump and fat,
"To clap a tart upon his back.
Our necks your yokes will never hang on,

ARTILLERY ELECTION

ARTILLERT ELECTION Agreeably to the ancient charter of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, the annual election of Officers was held on Monday laft. The company paraded at the wfual hour; and at noon efforted the Pre-fident of the United States, his honor the Licutenant Governor, the Members of Coun-cil, and a number of other gentlemen, to the Old Brick Meting Houfe; where a Sermon, which met the warmelt approbation of a which met the warmeft approbation of a crouded and very refpectable affembly, was delivered by the Rev. M. Emerfon, of Har-vard, from Pfalms CILIX, 6, "Let the kigh praifies of God be in their mouth, and a two edged fword in their hand." After divine fervice, the company efforted to Faneuil-Hall, the dignified characters above-menioned, together with fuch members of Congrefs as were in town, the prefident and members of the fenate, the fpeaker and members of the houle of repreferations judges of the Supreme Judicial and Dif-trict Courts, the Rev. Clergy, with a great number of civil and military officers, and o-ther public chara gers. The elegant appear-ance of the hall afforded pleafure to the eye, and a fumptuous dinner gave folid fatisfac-tion to the numerous and respectable guests. A number of patriotic toalts were given on the occasion, which want of room obliges us to omit. After dinner the company marched into the Common, where they elected their of-ficers, viz. Robert Gardner Captain; Lenuel Gardner Lieutenant; and Thomas Sumner Enfiga; Mr. William Walter Clerk; Gen. John Winflow, Treasurer; Meffrs. Prefeott, Phips, Coates and Clements, Sergeants. The Prefident of the United States, in the forenoon, was efforted into town, and, in the afternoon, from town to his feat in Quincy, by the Bofton (avalry, commanded by Capt.
