FROM THE FRENCH PAPERS.

The General in Chief of the Armies of Ita-ly at Naples, to the Executive Directory. Head-Quarters at Marmirolo, 6th April, 1799.

Citizens Directors, From my last dispatches you would fore-fee that I would foon be obliged to engage the enemy a fecond time, in order to compel him to quit the right fide of the Adige, and to prevent him from taking me in flank and rear at the moment of palling that river .--This battle took place yefterday. The ac-tion was in an inflant extended throughout the whole line.

Generals Victor and Grenier proceeded along the banks of the Adige below Verona to take possession of the village of St. James. Gen. Delmas, with his advanced guard, was to penetrate by Doffobono, and protect the attack of thefe two divisions. Gen. Moreau, with Harry's and Montrichard's divifions was charged with engaging every corps of the enemy he might find between Villa-franca and Verona.—Finally, Serrurier, who was charged with the attack of Villafranca, who having taken that little town, was to purfue the enemy and drive him into the Adige. I know not whether the enemy was acquainted with my plan. But be this as it may, Gen. Serrurier, after having been re-pulfed at the attack of Villafranca, fucceeded, however, in obtaining poffession of it by a vigorous charge, and took more than nine hundred pritoners. (. Moreau, with his two divisions, having forced the enemy in the plain to fall back, marched firaight to

In the course of the morning on the 5th Germinal, a number of general Sherer's proclamations, and those of general Gauthier, commander of the division of Tuicany, were

It conlifted of infantry, cavalry, and a detachment of artillery, with fome pieces of cannon, and was commanded by general Gauther. The French advanced into the city without experiencing any oppolition. They proceeded to the principal polts, which they immediately, occupied, the Tufcan, troops who guarded them having laid down their arms.

On the 6th, the neceffary preparations were made for the departure of the Grand Duke, and on the 7th, in the morning, he left the town, accompanied by his wife and children, and efforted by a detachment of French troops. The principal officers of the court and fome domeftics followed him. He is to proceed to Vienna.

ARMY OF THF DANUBE.

Strafburgh, 20th Germinal (April 9.) General Collaud is appointed Commander f the 5th Military, Division, in the room of Chateauneuf.Randon. General Maffena arrived here yesterday e rening. He has left the command of Hel-vetia and the Grifons with General Lacourbe. The Army of the Danube daily receives cofiderable reinforcements. The whole of that has not yet paffed the Rhine; there fill remains on the right bank of that river a ody of troops, confifting of 3d and 4th di-visions of the army, under the command of General St. Cyr: he has fixed his head-quarters at Kork, about half a myriameter on the other fide of Kehl: his advanced guard is at Offenbourg. Yefterday morning he reconnoitred the country as for as Gegenbach, where the valey of Kinche, in which the Auftrians have their advanced poffs, commences. Another body of troops occupies the paf-fages of Rinchen, Oberkirk, and Oppenan, ading to Kneibis.

The principal body of the Aufirians is at this moment on the other fide of the Black Foreft; but we are still ingorant what plans they may have formed. It appears only that the Archduke meditates an attack on he Helvetic Republic. ARMY OF HELVETIA. Head quarters at St. Gall, 14 Germinal, 7th year of the French Republic, one and indivisible, Proclamation of the General in Chief to the People of Helvetia.

HELVETIANS,

The French commanders inform me that perfidious or lunatical perfons commit acts of violence against the French troops when they march fingle or in feattered bodies. I learn likewife, that fymptoms of infurrec-tions have appeared in feveral quarters of Switzerland.

Helvetians! Why this fudden change? Why do you deflroy that indifpenfible har-mony which exifted between you and the French army? Why do you diffurb that peace which reigned in your abodes? It would thus feem, that you give ear to the infinuations and attrocious plots of the enemies of the French Republic, who are alfo your enemies! It would thus appear that from his office the Perfect of Schaffhaufer, enemies of the French Republic, who are you conceive the French army is no longer in a state to refiss the Austrian forces! The army which I command has beat them at every point where it has been engaged, and will fill beat them, thould they dare to enter your territory. But can you imagine that amidst the efforts of courage, and the facrifices which that brave army makes for your defence, that it would coolly fee its heroes falling un-der the attacks of cowardly affaffins? Do you thick that I myfelf will hefitate to take terrible vengeance on thele infamous enormities!

Helvetians who remain attached to France and your conflicution! Save your country from the evils which threaten it by repreffing the guilty ! Point them out to your government, that their crimes may be inftantly overtaken with punifhment. As to myfelf I have fhewn that I knew how to protect you, whilft I beheld in you a faithful ally, fo will I fhew myfelf capable of punishing you, if you become traitors, and violators of the faith of treaties.

The fecurity of the French army and your own fecurity alfo, will be the rule of my conduct.

I therefore declare, that from this mo-ment, I shall hold the feveral communes refconfible for all the events that shall happen within their territory to the annoyance of Frenchmen.

I further declare, that columns of the French army will march with rapidity towards the cantons which shall shew any dif. polition to infurrection, and that fuch cantons (hall be ravaged with fire and fword. This proclamation (hall be printed in the two languages, published and posted up through the whole of Helvetia and copied into the general orders or the army. (Signed) MASSENA.

The action lalt-ed from eleven in the morning to four in the afternoon. The four divisions on the left had a marked advantage over the enemy, notwithstanding his immense superiority.

Generals Victor and Grenier, who at first obtained fome advantage by the impetuofity. of their troops, were compelled to flacken their attack about four o'clock ; and as the enemy continully received reinforcements from Verona, they were obliged to order a retreat about 6 o'clock.

The division of General Delmas fuftained feveral charges without beingsbroken. The numerous troops which the enemy had de-tached towards the center enabled him to extend his line upon the flank of the division ; but Gen. Delmas manœuvred with extraordinary fkill, and at laft compelled him to retreat.

At five in the evening, after these differnt events, Gen. Serrurier remained master of Villafranca. Gen. Moreau engaged the enemy's camp almost under the wall of Verona-Gen. Delmas was master of the field of battle; but the retreat of the two divifions of the right leaving my right flank un-covered, I ordered the two other divisions to preferve their ground until night came on, and afterwards to effect their retreat to the pofitions they occupied defore the battle.
