FROM BELFAST PAPERS.

BELFAST, April 26.
The Paris papers, which have been received to the 16th, and from which we have given considerable extracts in this day's paper contain most important advices. We may collect from the letters of the commanders the disastrous situation in which they find themselves; and though they do not contain the particulars, they confirm the statements of the success of the Austrians in every part. The pretences made use of in the short paragraph published by the Directory, (inserted in our last,) of Jourdan's ill health, and of his having desired leave of absence, but poorly conceal the entire demolition of the plan of the campaign, while they betray their design of throwing the whole blame upon him.

The most valuable part of the intelligence contained in these papers, in our mind, is that which confirms the account of the insurrection in Switzerland, or rather of the determined hostility of the Swiss people to the despotism which they have suffered under the name of Liberty. The Proclamation of Massena flatters more forcibly even than circumstantial details, the condition of that country.

In Italy we have, from the French Commander himself, the acknowledgment of a most important defeat on the 5th inst. He owns the loss of 3000 men; and after a most desperate battle, failed of accomplishing his obvious purpose, the reduction of Verona. This engagement is material to the fate of Italy, for it will inspire the Austrians with confidence at the very moment when the reinforcement of Russians would arrive to their aid. The French papers merely glance at the former advantages gained by General Kr-y on the Adige, and it is clear, from their own account, that they have been as unfortunate in this quarter as upon the Rhine.

The Gazette of Saturday evening informs the discomfiture of the enemy in Italy, and contains intelligence of the Piedmontese insurgents having become so formidable to their new masters, as to threaten the capital.

LONDON, April 6.

The following paragraph is extracted from the Paris papers of the 12th ult.—“We hear from Brest, that there have been great changes in the naval army, Vice Admiral Delamotte, who was Chief of the Etar Major, is named Commander in Chief; and Vice-Admirals Bedout and Courand, Commanders of Squadrons. The Chief of division, Durand-Linois, quits the ship the J. J. Rousseau, to be Chief of the Etar Major General; and the Chief of division, Chrilly-Palliere, is Adjutant General. The ships on board which are the Generals, are—l'Occan, le Republicain, and le Terrible, all three deckers.”

By this Day's Mail.

NEW-YORK, June 15.

OFFICIAL.

The following notice was handed us yesterday for publication.

This is to inform all matters of foreign vessels, now in this port, that they must, by orders from the Captain General of this province, leave this place in the space of eight days from the morning of the 15th inst. without loss of time, otherwise they must present themselves before his Excellency the commandant of this place, and abide by the consequences.

Guayra, May 14, '99.
(Signed) ISPH: COBZERA.

Rations for American matters of vessels, supercargoes, and crews, taken into Guadeloupe, by our fraternizing friends the French, per day:

Four ounces of salt raw fish, three fourths of a pound of brown bread, and as much rain water as they chuse to drink.

N. B. The above is given by Mr. Neimeyer, of the schr. Port Royal, of Baltimore, who partook of the above food in Guadeloupe for several weeks.

THE ONTARIO.

We are sorry to be under the unpleasant necessity of conveying to our readers the following confirmation of the loss of the Ontario, which was handed us by the owners of the ship. We mingle our regrets with those of our fellow citizens, on the unwelcome intelligence.

Extract of a letter from Capt. John Wheaton, to his owners, dated at New-Haven, 12th June.

“Embrace the earliest opportunity to inform you of the arrival of your ship Swift, from Canton; I left her yesterday at Saybrook, all well, going down the Sound. You are informed, no doubt, of the loss of the Ontario. I shall be in New-York by the first packet: I have not time to say more, as the mail is closing.”

The loss of the ship Ontario, having attracted much attention, and been attended with some interesting circumstances, we have fortunately succeeded in obtaining a narrative of the particulars of the shipwreck, from the journal of one of the officers on board. We were unable to procure it in due time for the paper of this day, but shall publish the whole of it to-morrow.

We are informed by one of the boats that it is expected enough will be up by different boats, to satisfy the Speedwell, lately wrecked near the Hook—One of the Pilot-boats had taken up nine barrels.

Since writing the above, the Pilot-boat Commerce, with 8 casks, and the Hound with 27 casks, got up from 50 miles below the Hook, where the oil was picked up.

A wit lately observed, that the contending armies in Europe would want, during the present campaign, as much paper for wadding as was consumed during the 18 months pacific Congress at Rastadt.

The frontiers of Styria, where the Russian troops were on the 20th of March, is about 250 miles from Verona, which was the headquarters of the Austrian army on the first of April.

NORWICH, June 12.

The Sloop of war building in this place for the Federal Government progresses with rapidity, and her present appearance promises her as a very valuable addition to our rising Navy.

A beautiful new ship, pierced for 18 guns, was launched from Willet's ship yard on Thursday last. Upon embracing her betrothed element, she received under the usual compliment, the name of TRUXTON.

MR. PENNO,

In consequence of an electioneering attack on Mr. Daniel Stroud and myself, which appeared a few days ago in the “Aurora,” the following observations have been handed to the editor of that paper for publication: as they have been refused a place in that impartial and patriotic repository, he good enough to insert them in the Gazette of the United States, and oblige
Your friend and humble servant,
THOS. B. DICK.

EASTON, (P.) JUNE 3, '99.

To the Editor of the Aurora,

CITIZEN,
Permit me, through the medium of your paper, to tender my grateful acknowledgments, to your delectable correspondent from Northampton county.

To be publicly announced in the “Aurora” as an enemy to sedition, poles, &c. is to flatter and dignify an honor, that I am firmly persuaded the pithy author of that elegant composition, is really an obsequious friend in disguise.

The sweet remembrance of his inextinguishable kindness in this instance, nothing but omnipotent power shall ever obliterate.

With a refined sensibility of soul, of which the bosom of disinterested friendship is alone susceptible, he has ingeniously designed to confer a favor of incalculable magnitude without imposing a correspondent obligation. His inexpressible goodness, has penetrated the arteries and ventricles of my heart and expanded even my lungs, almost to bursting.

I beg him, for the present, to accept the assurances of my most profound consideration, and to believe that his future dignified and dignifying communications, through the same auspicious channel, will be promptly and properly reciprocated.

Health and Fraternity!
THOS. B. DICK.

Extract of a letter from Captain Thomas Orange, of the ship Orange, of New-York, dated Tenerife, 2d May, 1799.

“We had discharged all our cargo at Madeira, except 1600 or 2000 bushels of corn, and had received 12 tons of iron on board, and would have been dispatched in a little time, had not we been blown to sea, and captured within ten miles of Funchall Road by two French privateers, a sloop of four 18 pounders and 60 men, and Le Mars of 18, nines and twelves, and 150 men, who robbed me and my people of every thing, and turned us ashore here, and God knows how my people will get home. Had it not been for Mr. Barry, myself and people would have starved.”

IMPORTANT NEWS

From Europe may daily be expected. Yesterday the schooner Phoenix, Capt. Gales, arrived here in 45 days from Portsmouth, in Great-Britain. Capt. G. informs, that on the sixth day after he sailed from Portsmouth, an express cutter spoke the Topaz, frigate, the conveying ship—and informed the Commander, that he had fallen in with French fleet from BREST; and was directed to England to give the intelligence; and that on the receipt of the news;

the Topaz directed the whole convoy to shift its course from northward to southward, and to show no lights.

Capt. G. brought no papers; but confirms the accounts of the defeats of the French.

FOREIGN ARTICLES.

Accounts from Inspruck, April 4. fry. “The French have entirely evacuated the Tyrol. In their retreat they have been guilty of the greatest excesses.—At Naunders they took away the sacred utensils and plate from the churches, broke the statues, and tore the pictures of the saints.—Women who had taken refuge in some stables were burnt in them, together with the cattle.”

April 7, a body of Austrians entered Kleener, in Switzerland, a league from Balles.

On the 31st March the Russian column of 24,000 men, was at Ballano, three short days march from Verona. Corfu [in the Gulf of Venice] is to become the Russian and Turkish rendezvous. The Emperor Paul is determined on a new levy of 100,000 men.

A POETICAL EPISTLE TO THE AUTHOR
By an American Gentleman.

[In introducing this celebrated work to the Gentlemen and Ladies of America, I have endeavored to give it a dress proportional to its distinguished merit, and to the taste of those for whose amusement and delight it is intended. No expense has been spared in the publication; and I flatter myself that the work does not yield, either in paper or print, to any one ever published in America. This edition has an advantage over some former ones, as it contains by way of notes, the minor productions of the author; and it has an advantage over every other edition, in the Poetical Epistle, which is prefixed to it, and which must be extremely gratifying to every lover of literature in this country, as it is a proof that there are Americans who have the taste to admire the justice to applaud, and the talents to rival the Geniuses of other nations.]
