SALEM, July 12. On Tuefday laft the fhip Uylffes, Capt. Joliah Orne, arrived here from Bengal. In India, the Englifh exhibit the fame In India, the English exhibit the fame proofs of naval fuperiority over the French, as in every other quarter of the globe.—A few days before the Ulyffes left Bengal, Capt. Orne informs us, the French 54 gun flip La Forte, was towed into the river, a mere hulk without a fpar flanding, taken, after an action of 75 minutes, by La Sybille of 44 guns, Capt. Cook, who came in at the fame time under full fail and a Sybille had been to Capt. Cook, who came in at the fame time under full fail,—I.a Sybille had been to convoy the Governor-General, Earl Morn-ington, with his fuit, from Calcuttato Ma-dras, having at the fame time a large amount of fpecie on board for the pay of the Britift troops in the Carnatic. On her return, off the Sand Heads, fhe fell in with La Forte 5 the Sybille received two broadfides from her autagonifi before the fired a gun; but when the had gained the pofition fhe wilfied, fhe poured in fuch a terrible fire upon La Forte, as foon carried away all her mafis, Forte, as foon carried away all her mafts, killed the Captain and firft Lieutenant, and deflroyed about one half of the crew; receiv-

feat of Mr. Andrew Holmes, ing herielf but a very trifling injury. La Forte was recently from the Ifle of France, had been off the Sand Heads fonce time, where the had taken feveral veffels, a-mong others the Offerly E. Indianan from 2. The United States. Madras, which fhe had fent in with prifoners, the had the defeription of every British vef el at Calcutta ; but the officers faid they had intention of molefting American veffels. The Capt. of La Forte was well known and especied at Calcutta, and had behaved will great humanity on every occafion. Capt.Cooke commanded La Sybille in this action ; and it is remarkable that he had taen this ship also from the French, in the Mediterranean, in the early part of the war, with a 32 gun frigate, which he then com-manded,* In the conquest of La Forte, he received a flight wound. Though the En-glish have affembled a most formidable army in the Carnatic, yet we do not underftand that Tippoo had made a declaration of war, or commenced actual hoftilities; but that he had withheld the tributes flipulated by trea-ty, and had taken other measures which in-dicated an intention of hoftilities. It was however expected, that the failure of Buona aparte in forming a junction with him, and of the deligns of the French with Zemaun Shaw, together with the very formidable ar-my which the English had prepared to meet him, would induce him once more to make overtures for a fettlement.

The moment the Directory ascertained by their Logans, that the opposition in Congress to energetic measures, for providing an ar-my and navy, would fail, they changed their tone of contempt, and menace towards the United States, and have ever fince en-deavoured by a balf kind of courtship, made through Hitchcocks and ministers clerks, to through Hitchesecks and ministers clerks, to inveigle our government into new propolals for negotiation. But unlefs France ceafes to be a power that is paramount; is reduced to one of the first, or second order; and relinguishes the tremendous project, fale has formed, and perseveres in, " to conquer the whole world," it would be the height of mad-ness, in the United States, to rely upon any pacific arrangements, which under present circumflances flue might be difpoled to offer. The Government of the United States would dehave the honour of the ration and extern The Government of the United States would debase the bonour of the nation, and expose the country to all the plagues of French fraternity, by any alliance, or compact what-ever, with a directory, whole object it is to cajole us, until it suits them to devour us. War only can be safe, benest, and bonorable with such a people, so long as they continue to conquer small states, and use them to con-quer larger ones, and these in their turn to subdue the largest, or most distant. Let us rather than be classed among their allies, determine to die in the last ditch. determine to die in the last ditch.

The United States cannot lose by an open The United States cannot lose by an open and manly declaration of war, against France. Every thing will then assume its proper place. We shall thereby rescue, national honor, and save a happy people from the dreadful condi-tion, the Directory in the depth of their wisdom, and brotherly love, have been-long preparing for the United States.
