PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 2.

Nullum in peccatis propositum virum, Non civium ardor prava jubentium, Non valens infantis tyranni, Mentis quatit solida.

The "Calm Observer" is exerting all the energy of body and mind which the violence of his passion still permits him to retain...

The gin-drinking pauper who is said to conduct Bache's paper, boasts of having been highly complimented by a respectable English merchant of this city.

ADDRESS TO A PIPE OF GIN, By Jasper Dwight.

Occasioned by seeing a Quantity rolling into a Store. O! thou delicious-flavored, wholesome juice, Not less for pleasure, purpos'd than for use!

What tho' thy face be pale like vulgar water, Tho' hast a substance wrought of higher matter, Ah! as I've quaff'd thee down, behind the door...

The operation of thy draught occasions him to fall down drunk in the street, where the Muse of verse left him.

The federalists must not divide. The more a government is free and popular in its form, the more is its fate entrusted to the sense and virtue, in other words, to the federalism of the citizens.

[Com. Gaz.]

If Pennsylvania had chosen, one after the other, two water-drinking Governors, there might have been some reason for accusing her as many still do, of antifederalism and opposition to the excise law of Congress.

It is not surprising to hear the voice of Jacobinism raised against the excellent "Discourses on Davilla." The learned author, instead of attempting to mislead the public mind, or weaken the attachment of his countrymen to the love of liberty...

Married, at Burlington, on Thursday evening last, by the Rev. Mr. Abercrombie, of Philadelphia, the Rev. Charles Henry Wheaton, D. D. Rector of St. Mary's Church, Burlington, to Miss Kinsey, daughter of the honorable James Kinsey, Esq. Chief Justice of the State of New-Jersey.

ERRATA.

In the piece signed, The Lay Preacher of Pennsylvania, of Saturday evening last, please to make the following corrections:

About the middle of the fourth paragraph in the first column, after the words "were with us," and before the word "hurt," insert we.

In the last sentence of the last paragraph but one, instead of "effluens him for," &c. read "effluens him fit for," &c.

In the last paragraph, instead of "the eye look for," &c. read "the eye looks for," &c.

[OFFICIAL.]

Extract of a letter from Gibraltar, dated 25th September, 1799.

"On the 22d ult. arrived the schooner Samuel, of Boston, commanded by Edward Hedge, from Boston, with 12 men, 2 six pounders and 6 smaller guns, or swivels on carriages. She was coming in at night-fall, and gallantly fought her way in the gut through five privateers for an hour, supported chiefly by French; but from a 24 pound shot found on board, it was concluded some of the Spanish gun-boats, that were out, must have also fired upon her.

FIRST DAY, OR SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

THE Board of Visitors, appointed by the Society for the institution and support of the First Day, or Sunday Schools, beg leave to inform their fellow citizens, that they are opened, at the usual places, for the reception of Scholars, at such hours as will not interfere with those dedicated to Divine Worship.

The utility of this Institution has been much greater than could have been expected, and with additional funds, might be much more extended.

The children of the indigent and laborious poor, are superintended by reputable and assiduous teachers, are furnished with books, pens, ink and paper; and are thus rescued from savage ignorance, acquire habits of order and industry, and hereby qualified to be good servants, good apprentices, and we hope, they will become, good masters and good citizens.

They earnestly solicit all influential Characters, in the City and Liberties, particularly their friends in Southwark, (as the School in that district is at present small) to assist in this benevolent undertaking, by urging such children as may be suitable objects of the Institution, to avail themselves of so favorable an opportunity of acquiring useful instruction.

A School for Girls, is taught by JOHN ELY, Third, above Mulberry-street, back of the Presbyterian Church; one for Boys, by SILAS DINSMOOR, in Cherry-street, between Third and Fourth-streets; and another for Boys, by THADDEUS BROWN, in Front, nearly opposite to Shippen-street, in Southwark.

The Schools are open from 7 to half past 9 o'clock, in the forenoon, and from 1 till 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

By order of the Board, THOMAS MENDENHALL, Chairman. JOHN ORMOND, Secretary. 11th Month (Nov.) 29th, 1799.
