STATE OF DELAWARE.

Secretary's Office, 24th Dec. 1799.
AFFECTED with the liveliest sensibility t the loss which the people of the United illustrious and beloved fellow citizen, Lieutenant General George Washington, the late President, the Governor of this State wishes that all possible respect should be paid to his memory, for the many eminent fer-vices which he has rendered to his country. A Frenchman of modern times, is the general Lunatic of the age. In whatever he undertakes, his volatility from kindles into infanity. If he talks of government he raves, of his raves—let him talk of what he will he raves. Even in money-making, he is a compleat enrage; witness one of the tribe, who in writing a letter on business, instead of his name, figns, 14-24 and 3 per cent a month."

vices which he has rendered to his country. And, although a grateful remembrance will be ever had of those virtues and exalted talents which so configurately diffinguished him in a long series of public duties, yet the general sentiment on this distressing occation, pointing to some particular expression of the high tense which all feel of our loss, and the Governor uniting in the public sympathy;—It is therefore recommended to all civil officers of the State to wear crape, to all civil officers of the State to wear crape,

By JOSEPH SCOTT, Suther of the Modern Geographical Dictionary, in four volumes offavo.

OP the various methods which different writers pursue in order to convey useful knowledge to mankind, Biography stands confessed and many the first. There is none more interesting—none more instructive and enteresining. The histories of distinguished heroes, who have, by their exalted virtues, and noble and splendid actions, been the principal means of redeeming their respective countries from the corroding hand of tyranny, have in all ages been considered the most entertaining, instructive, and important to mankind. They afferd example; and example is more powerful than precept. It strengthens, by a plain and easy mode of analogical reasoning, the principles of the timid, determines and fixes those that are wavering, and ultimately lays the basis for that larmony and coincidence of sentiment among the sitizens; from which only, a nation can hope to derive rank, consequence and stability. tope to derive rank, confequence and flability.
