TWENTY THREE Geometrical Definiti-ons, eleven Geometrical Politions, exons, eleven Geometrical Pofitions, ex-thisting to view the properties and depeaden-cies of triangles; followed by problems and examples preparatory to Trigonometry, heights and diffances. Then fifteen problems and ex-amples necellarily previons to calculating a Sur-vey fucceeded by feven furveys, the area of the four firfl' is found geometrically, and of the whole number by difference of latitude and de-parture, flewing how to take an inacceffible boundary, find the bearing and diffance of the closing line without running it, allo the di-tances to an inacceffible corner from the two adjuent corners, followed by examples of off-fets on to winding fireams of water, flewing how to aff-eitain the area without the trouble of meafuring the windings with chains and in-firuments—a crooked water courfe firaitened, and a quarty of land on each fide found by the feoffsets. these ofisets.

thefe offsets. Tep examples of dividing land, with many fub-divifices, leading into the moft critical cir-cumflasces that can occur in practice; an ex-ample of Interfections, and an example flow-ing how the bearings of a field may be truly taken where the needle is attracted, altho' the attraction may varyin quantity and denomina-tion at every flation; examples flowing the me-thod of meafuring by the chain only. All the rules are clear and explicit. This work con-tains the tables of difference of latitude and de-parture and of logarithms.
