Forming the most numerous procession ever assembled in this town. The military marched with reverberated arms, their drums muffled and standard in mourning. On arriving at the Church, they opened their ranks to the right and left, the whole facing inward, and resting on reverberated arms...

It would be injustice to the military and to the citizens not to observe that the greatest order prevailed during the whole of the ceremonies. The solemnity of the occasion impressed every mind, and the conduct of each individual displayed the sincere sorrow felt for the loss of the illustrious man...

Seventy odd members appeared and took their seats on the 1st day of the meeting of the Pennsylvania Legislature, and forming a quorum, proceeded to the choice of Speaker.

Out of this number, says our very correct and ardent Examiner, Isaac Weaver, obtained 87. Some body else, 34. And Sir Nobody, (for the person voted for is not named) 2.

We submit the solution of this puzzle, to our good friends the Democrats generally; but if Republican logic shall ultimately cause our countrymen to believe, that DISUNION will contribute to the interest of the Commonwealth, we shall not be surprized that Republican Arithmetic proves to them as clearly that 87 and 34 added together make 70.

FIRE BUCKETS.

The great inattention shewn by a number of Citizens, by suffering their Fire Buckets to remain for days and sometimes for weeks in the streets and alleys, adjacent to where they have been used at fires, has induced the Mayor to direct the High Constable, at the expiration of four days from the time that a fire shall happen in the City, to have collected and removed to the City Hall, the Fire Buckets which he may find in the Streets after that period.

The Printers will serve the Public, by giving the above a place in their papers for a few times when convenient.

The refusal of Governor M'KEAN, to attend the Funeral Procession at Lancaster (Penn.) in memory of our illustrious WASHINGTON, is truly in character of that dark and four minded champion of disorganization.

CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIDAY, January 17.

Mr. Otis called for the order of the day on the bill to suspend in part an act entitled "An act to augment the army of the United States, and for other purposes," and the House having resolved itself into a committee of the whole on that subject—Mr. Mars in the chair.

Mr. Randolph said, he wished the bill might be referred back to the committee who reported it, for the purpose of introducing an amendment, to consolidate the men already enlisted into as many regiments as they would make, and thereby discharge the super-numerary officers and men contemplated to be kept in service.

After some observations as to the point of order, Mr. Nicholas moved that the committee rise, report progress, and apply to sit again.

The question was put and carried; the committee rose and leave was given.

Mr. Gallatin presented a petition signed by 4000 inhabitants of the N. Western Territory, complaining of the unequal operation of the law authorizing the sale of public land, and praying for a modification thereof; which was read and referred to the committee appointed to enquire whether any, and if any what alterations are necessary to be made in said law, and to whom similar petitions were referred.

Mr. Otis, from the select committee to whom were referred the petition of Robert Sturgeon, reported a resolution in favor of the petitioner, which was agreed to by the House, and the same committee ordered to prepare and bring in a bill conformable thereto.

Mr. D. Foster, from the committee of claims to whom were referred the petition of Bartholomew Van Haer, reported that the prayer thereof cannot, with propriety, be granted; in which the House concurred.

Mr. Baer presented a petition of Jacob Herman, of the State of Maryland, stating that he had been taken prisoner by the British during the revolutionary war, and carried to Halifax (N. S.) from whence he was prevented returning to this country for three years, and praying compensation—Referred to the committee of claims.

And when the House adjourned 'till Monday morning 11 o'clock.

The schooner Jane, capt. Stevon Toby, from Port Republican, in 25 days, not able to go to Philadelphia (whither she was bound) on account of the ice in the Delaware.

On the 10th of January in lat. 17, long. 74, spoke the Danish barque Mary and Faouy, capt. Collum, from Copenhagen bound to Boston, out 14 weeks.

Nov. 19th, failed from Port-au-Prince in the evening, in company with the brig James Stewart and the schooner Polly, with 6 guns, small arms, and men several; but in the night, blowing fresh, lost the convoy, still in company with the James Stewart. Nov. 25 lay the armed schooner to seaward of us; bore away and made sail after her until night closed in. She made signals with the light, but getting no answer, and the wind blowing off the land, hove about and made sail down the bite of Leogane. Nov. 21st, at 6 A. M. saw two barges in shore, appearing to chase us, but came up very little. At 9 the wind died away; jibed and hauled in for the platform; but, before we could get in there was brought by two of Rigaud's barges, who boarded us and plundered us of money to the amount of six hundred dollars! took one barrel of pork, one do. beef, two or three barrels of bread, one keg of rice, knives and forks, spoons, 2 gallons of liquors, and one keg of yellow paint, one new deep lead line, one hand do. one log reel and line, one hammer, one box of candles, one cheese, three or four empty sacks, one American jack, three bottle shrub, one spy glass; plundered the vessel of new canvas, twine and some cordage; also stabbed one Frenchman, (capt. John Baire of Baltimore) a citizen of the United States, in the breast; my arms, and was going to throw me overboard; then hung me up in the main shrouds until I was almost dead; afterwards took me down, and dragged me on the main deck by the rope, and lashed me forward; beat the cook with the butt end of the musket, and took all the cloaths from the seamen and cook; took from me every letter, except one from the American consul, besides six shirts and two coats, one great coat, one pea jacket, one round jacket, two blankets, two pair sheets, one pair boots, one pair shoes, two hats, two pair of breeches, two pair of stockings, three pair trowsers, two handkerchiefs, one pair silver knee buckles, one pair of silver sleeve buttons, three boxes wine, tinder box and compass.

There being two vessels in sight, they left us and pulled for a schooner, which proved to be the Polly; she engaged them, fired about 9 guns, and then the barges made off the same night. I spoke the schooner which I failed in company with, capt. Burges hoisted out my boat, went on board the Polly, and got supplied with 50 weight of bread, half a barrel beef, some candles, and as many cloaths as they could spare without distressing themselves. Captain Burges, says that both the barges pulled towards him with great courage until they found he had guns, and then they pulled right to windward; but he expected that he hulled the barges with the shot; the wind light and water smooth. Same night that I was plundered, 21st December, spoke the sloop Supply, bound to Port au Prince for Philadelphia, out 16 days, no guns—I told him to take care. I supposed the barges to be in sight; at the same time, from the mast head, 22d at night, the Polly left us; light winds, lay too off the Mole Head. Dec. 23d, at five A. M. hoisted out my boat and landed my French passenger which they had plundered and stabbed in the breast, not able to proceed on the voyage. At 9 the boat returned with two American seamen that had belonged to the U. S. frigate Constitution, discharged at the Mole; hoisted in the boat and made sail, wind S. S. W.

Salem, Jan. 10.

Two American outward bound India ships were left at Madras early in August, names unknown.

There had been no French vessels in the Bay of Bengal since the capture of La Force frigate, in March last.

Yesterday arrived from Bengal the ship William and Henry, capt. Benjamin Bickford, of this port. Left Calcutta the 12th of July. The ship Martha, More, of Boston, and brig Hannah, Weyman, of Salem, were to sail in 15 days. The frigate La Force, lately taken by the Sybil, was prepared for sale, to fail in six weeks. Two Philadelphia ships pass'd capt. B. in the Ganges, going up. Left at the Cape of Good Hope on the 20th Oct. captain Sutlon of Boston, destined to Bombay. About ten days ago spoke a sloop from New Haven for St. Bartholomew, and 5 days ago a brig from Portsmouth for Tortola.

British Naval Gallantry.

Capt. Bickford informs us of the following affair which took place while he was at the Cape of Good Hope. The Rattle-snake sloop of war, and a store ship mounting 20 nine pounders, had been sent from the Cape to the Bay of Algoa, with a blockhouse to be erected there to keep the natives under restraint. Intelligence of it having been received at the Isle of France, a 44 gun frigate, carrying a weight of metal apparently sufficient to blow the two ships out of water, together with a smaller vessel, was sent to take them. The frigate appeared in the offing in the afternoon under Danish colours, and at night went in and dropped anchor between the two ships, whose commanders were then on shore. The Rattle-snake, suspicious of her character, dispatched an advice boat for the store ship, but it was stopped by the frigate; on which she saluted her with a broadside, which commenced a very warm action; the store ship was so bored through, that in about an hour she had six feet of water in her hold, and was obliged to cease her fire; the Rattle-snake then supported the action alone, for about two hours, till finally the Frenchman was obliged to cut his cables and run. The next day, however, the frigate was seen again standing in under very short sail, with her consort, with a view, probably, to wipe off the disgrace of her last night's defeat. This intelligence was received over land at the Cap; and the Eloise of 24 guns, and Reasonable of 50, were immediately dispatched to look after the Frenchmen.
