TERMS Of Richard Folwell, in Philadelphia, IOURNALS OF CONGRESS.

From the commencement Of the American War, in 1774, to the present time,

The Reports of Meads of Departments, of Committees, and other Official and Private Papers of that Body, now first permitted to be made public.

TERMS.

THE work will be printed on a fine paper, and a new near tipe, in large octavo.

Each volume will contain above 500 pages, neatly bound and lettered.

Uniformity in fize, paper, and binding, will be observed throughout the work; so that, while the subscribers become possession of a valuable record, an ornament may be added to their libraries.

The price to sufficients will be 2 dolls. 75 ets. pet volume, in boards, and 3 dolls, whole bound, but, as the publisher does not intend to print manmore than the number subscribed for, a confidence he rise on the price may be expected to non-suby scribees.

Each volume will contain about one third less of letter-press than the original edition; but, as the publisher is not yet enabled to determine the extent of the Private Josephs, which he may be allowed to make public, he cannot affect ain the number of volumes which will comprise the work.

The Payments to be made on delivery of each analysis.

Substribers will have it at their option, either to substribe for the whole of the Journals, up to the present time, or to those only of the Old Congress prior to the organization of the Federal Govern-

IN all countries, the proceedings in the commencement of their governments, are lost in darkness and obscurity, owing to a carelessness, in the succeeding generation, to preserve the public records, and the attention of the nation, in these rude ages, being called off from their domestic concerns, to engage in wars and conquest. Of what infinite value would the laws of Alfred be, had they been transmitted to our days? Time, that destroys every thing, enhances the value of well authenticated public records, and renders them almost insessinable. It is hoped, that Americans will, therefore, chearfully contribute their affistance in transmitting to posterity the labours of their ancestors—founders of the Columbian nation.

The work will certainly be advanced with expectation and promptitude. The following will show the support it has already acquired:

"Philadelphia, June 15, 1798."

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States.

The MEMORIAL of the Subscribers, Citizens, &c. of Philadelphia,

Respectfully search,

"That having, in our respective avocations, frequent occassions to recur to the Journals of Congress, we experience inconvenience by the fearcity of them: That we understand that Richard Folwell, printer, of Philadelphia, has had it in contemplation to print that public record; and that he hash obtained partial countenance from many individuals; but that he has delayed prosecuting the work, in expectation of encouragement from government, that may adequately indemnify him. We, therefore, respectfully solicit, as the publication is necessary to be different among public bodies, that Congress will, in their wildom render him such additional encouragement, to that which he has obtained from private individuals, as to enable him to preced with the work, so that which he has obtained from private individuals, as to enable him to preced with the work, so that
