A well grounded conviction of the expe diency of the foregoing plan, has been on principal inducement to undertake it. When principal inducement to undertake it. When it is confidered that this populous and flourishing Metropolis contains only one Peblic Institution on an extensive plan, and that many of our youth are obliged to refort to other States, to receive even a Grammar-School Education, the Seminary now proposed, will, we trust, be regarded as eminently useful.

Actuated by these considerations, many gentlemen, friends to Science, and to Literary Establishments, have urged, with great warmth, the present undertaking, and excited the most flattering expectations of its

The Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA, TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 15.

Justum et tenacem propositi virum, Non civium ardot prava jubentium, Non vultus insiantis tyranni, Mente quatit folida.

A gentleman Editor, lately finding the luminous lucubrations of his classical correlations, showering upon him, in more than usual redundancy, hastens by a Notatory intimation, to inform them, that he will at an early day accommodate their pieces with a place in the Gazette. Now this, pardie, is place in the Gazette. Now this, pardie, is the very quintessence of Sbakspearcanism: videlicet; Accommodate, as I learn, is a scholar-like word, of exceeding great propriety. Accommodate! It course from accommodo: that is, when a man's piece is as they say, accommodated; or when it is being—whereby it may be thought to be accommodated; which is an exceellent thing.

In Boston is advertised " the Stock of Gentleman declining trade." Why this is right. The more the different orders of fociety are confounded, the more is promoted he establishment of what obtains now-a-days as Republicanism.

Garrick, remarks in one of his Dramatic pieces, that even in England, "women of quality, and women of no quality, and women of all qualities, are fo mixed together, that you don't know one from t'other, and all are called Madams."

The whole troop of Actreffes at Covent Garden lately mutinied, on account of one of the Cyprian corps having been introduced on the Boards. Chaftity must furely have attained its highest climax in England, when even this tribe difplay fastidiousness at such circumflance.

The papers acquaint us with the impor-tant fact, that Thomas Painter, and Noah Webster, Esquires, are elected into the Pro-vincial Parliament of Connecticut, for the Borough of New Haven. The advance-ment of the former of these persons to an illustrious station is matter of great public interest; since the mark of consideration be-spaced on a man, who so highly diffinguishflowed on a man, who so highly distinguished himself as a pestilential writer, and cobbler of language, must be regarded as an in-crement to the public stock of distributive justice. But why the name of the latter should be added, it is difficult to conjecture; unless we impute it to some hard-hearte fellow, who, envious of the fame of our pe tilential man, has fought to obscure the lui tre of his advancement, by coupling with his diffinguished name, that of probably fome obscure village Peafant.

A Citizen of Philadelphia has chierved a very extraordinary Hint to the Members of the Legislature of this Commonwealth, attached to an Advertisement of F. & J. Bailey offering for Sale the "Report of the Committee, &c." It appears intended to inform those gentlemen where they may be furnished with a Pamphlet, published by their order, and for their fole use. Independent of the impropriety of a printer, in the fervice of the House of Representatives, publishing more of an Article than was directed by his employers and that, too, for the purpose of in-creasing his own emolument, there seems to be great indecency in the mode adopted by him to distribute the work amongst the per-fons for whose use it was expressly pub-

Among the various abuses which prevail in this country, the tolerance of combinations of Journeymen for the purpose of dictating to their Masters, what wages they shall pay, and, in some instances, or restricting them, as to the manner in which they shall conduct their bufiness, is not the least reproachful to its character, or destructive of its well being. The following article from a London paper, will shew in what manner such attempts are punished in Eng-

"Yesterday Christopher Connor, found guilty before the Recorder, of Combination in the Rope-making business, was whipped from the corner of Moss-street, in Townshend-street, to the Rope-walk on the Low-ground, pursuant to his sentence. The High-Sheriffs, attended by Mr. Gregg, the Goaler, saw the punishment properly executed. Connor is a young man, and it is hoped that cassigation will be the means of preventing him from being guilty of future violation of the Law, and teach him that hopes industry, without combination, is the most comfortable and prefitable pursuit."

IN your paper of yellerday, I observe
Mr. Gerry is considered a jacobin candidate for the chair of the State of Massachusetts; however the fact may be, this is not his general character. By all steady friends to their country, he is known by the name of the political Marplot. Before the federal constitution was formed he was anxious to obtain one; but when it was on the taxio conflitution was formed he was anxious to obtain one; but when it was on the tapis, he opposed it with great industry. Whenever his private friends (of which he had many) counted upon him for an immediate exertion in any case of exigency, he was sure to occasion embarrassement by delay; and whenever the house, of which he was a member, were hungry at post meridian, as if to pure the ever the house, of which he was a member, were hungry at post meridian, as if to punish the members either for their political or private sins, he was sure to talk and talk until the whole house, by their muscular contontions and grimace, would frequently resemble the personages in a pantonium.

When he was sent to France on an important embassy, as soon as it became important to the house of his country that he should decide, and be off, for this very reason, he lagged behind, and further to shew that he is not a compleat and abandoned in fon, he lagged behind, and further to shew that he is not a compleat and abandoned jacobin, when many, from his doubtful conduct, expected he would at the last election give his vote for Jefferson, be decided in favor of Adams; this last ejecumsance will make him governor of Massachetts; but if any other friend to Mr. Adams, of any there importance, had been put up in or known importance, had been put up in op-position, Mr. Marpiot would have stood no chance for the chief majistracy. Capt. Marschalk saw a letter just before he sailed, from our consul at Algiers, to the consul at Cadiz, informing him that in confequence of the Bey of l'une not having received the presents promised that nation by our government, he was about, or actually had given orders to his cruizers to capture all American vessels, that might come within their reach. This information was made public by the consult at Cadiz that our vessels might be on their guard.

Last Thursday evening an attempt was made to set fire to the Portsmouth sloop of war, lying in this harbor. We are concerned to state that it proceeded from design. It seems a number of the seamen have proved mutinous, and intended as foon as the floop had got to fea, to murder the officers and carry her into some French port. It and carry her into some French port.—It was while the ringle ders were in irons in confequence of this discovery, that some of the rest made this attempt to fire the vessel. About twenty are under guard at Fort Jay, and it is to be hoped a severe example will be made of them.

From a Portsmouth [N. H.] Paper.

From a Portsmouth [N. H.] Paper.

A few days after the brig Betfey had left

St. Croix, an her paffage home the was taken by a French privateer, which took the captain, mate, and all hands out of her except a black man, named Moser; (who is well known on the pier in this town), the privateer then put on board a prize mader and 5 hands, at d ordered her for Guadaloupe; foou after the privateer had left the Betfirs, the Frenchmen being diffributed about in different parts of the veffel, Moses endeavoured to retake the brig, and engaged first with those on deck, whom he almost instantaneously killed, and threw them overboard: he next had recourse to the cabin, where he killed the others, either in the cabia, or as they were coming out of it, and threw them also overboard: he then took the command of the vessel, and put her head to the northward to bring her home. Two days afterwards a Philadelphia
brig fell in with the Betsies, and sinding her fituation, put on board her mate and three brig fell in with the Betsies, and sinding her situation, put on board her mate and three hands. But the Betsies, was unfortunately re-captured soon afterwards by another French privateer, and carried into Porto Rico, where the brave, the heroic Moses, was put in irons, and remained in this pitiable situation, when the letter which states the above particulars left there—it is feared, that Moses will either swing for his bravery or to be fold for a save.

or to be fold for a flave.
