The bill to establish the district of Ken-The bill to establish the district of Kennebunk, and to annex Lyme to New Loodon; to alter the districts of Bermuda Hundred and City Point, and therein to amend the act laying duties on imports and tonnage; was taken up in committee of the whole, Mr. Rutledge in the chair—when Mr. Parker moved to strike out the third section which authorises the establishment of a new district in Virginia, to be called the district of Petersburgh.

This motion was negatived; the blanks in the bill were filled up, and it was ordered to be engrossed, and read a third time

BOSTON, April 16. Since our last, there has been an arrival from England, which has brought down the London dates to the thirteenth of February.

LONDON February 13.

The memorable debate which took place on Morday in the House of Commons, has fully gratified the public expectation, and realized the hopes of all persons attached to the cause of the country, of social order, of justice, and of truth. The essential spirit of the French Revolution was never more thoroughly analyzed, the views of those who have successively conducted it, more clearly exposed, nor their conduct wath respect to other governments more faithfully sketched out, nor more energetically centured, than out, nor more energetically centured, than on this occasion.—The qualition of aggref-fion, so often decided, received new light by the publication of several circumstances hitherte little known, and the odium of aggression was indelibly fixed on the French grethen was indelibly fixed on the French government. The principal and immediate point was admirably well flated and confidered in the double hight of the influence which the change of government in France, and that of the persons who exercise it, might have upon it. It has been shown that the former presented no more fermines has been there that the former prefented no more fedurity for Rability, than the Conventional or the Directorial Government, and that the conduct of the Chief Conful hunfell was far from affording to Europe fuch motives for confidence, as could ferve for the folid basis for negociation. It would be the highest prenegociation. It would be the highest pre-fumption in us to pretend to add a fingle observation or remark on a subject which has so lately passed the test of superior ta-lents and of authority. We cannot, how-ever, help remarking, that those who endea-voured to prevent this important discossion from being terminated in the manner in which it was ended, adduced in support of their opinions nothing which could make an impression on calm and impartial reason. To account for this, we need not look to in-feriority of talents, or insufficiency of exer-tion, since it is manifest from the nature of tion, fince it is manifest from the nature of the cause which they defended; a cause which ten years experience has left destitute of argument, and which is irrecoverably lost before the Tribunal of enlightened Europe.

No military operations of moment had No military operations of moment had taken place. The French army under Moreau, occupied the left, and were making preparations to pals over the Rhine. The Archduke Charles had his head quarters at Donaueschingen, in Wabia; and had detached 12,000 men to reinforce General Melas and Klanau, where General Massend Klanau, where General Massend from advantages in the vicinity of Coni. In both armies, which extend from Mentz to Zurich, every thing was in of Coni. Fresh opposition was heard; and repeated cries for the order of the day.

A member moved, that the motion be adjourned, the death of Washington not being officially known.

Legrand expressed deep regret at the death of such a man; but would it not, he asked, be dangerous, or at least inconvenient, to raise a monument of praise which has not been granted to others men dear to humanity; and to adopt the initiative towards a foreigner; for such is the proposal? He, therefore, was in favor of passing to the business of the day. The order of the day was aggreed to

Anti-bilious Pills,

W HICH have been attended with a degree of faccefs highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in feweral parts of the West-Indices and the fouthern parts of the United State', particularly in Batimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charletton, Savannah, &c. The testimony of a number of persons in each of the above places can be adduced who have reason to believe that a timely use of the salurary remedy, has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine, than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere affertion, could do.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason, which can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these pills, taken once every two weeks during the prevalence of our annual bilious severs, will prove an intallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health and frequently in cases effectmed desperate and beyend the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perseally mild and may be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off supershuous bile and prevent its morbid scretions; to restore and amend the appetite; to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of safe contents of the shorted and sever sais to remove a cold if taken on its first apperance. They are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness, sickness of the shorted and severe head ache, and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing most disorders great-anton long voyages, and should be proqued, and carefully preserved for use by every fearman. Anti-bilious Pills,
