

Foreign Intelligence.

NEW YORK, April 24.

By the British packet Lady Arabella, arrived yesterday from Falmouth, we received London papers to March 3.

LONDON, March 1.

Yesterday the first deposit was made on the last Loan; and the pressure for money being over, the Funds rose about half per cent.

Mr. Gore, one of the Commissioners for settling the American claims, had taken his passage on board the Helen, a small single decked vessel without accommodation for passengers, but which was expected to sail the first for America.

The credentials of two of the new Commissioners from America, who are arrived at Lisbon, were addressed to the Directory, and to the present government of France.

Price of Stocks, this day at one o'clock, Three per cent. Consols 63 1/4 1/8.

ADMIRALTY COURT.

The adjudications of the present Judge of the Court of Admiralty have been repaid as they are admitted to have been correct; but the cases left by his predecessor were sufficient to occupy the life of an ordinary person.

It may admit a question whether it would not be expedient to appoint Vice Admiralty Courts at the great sea ports, for the determination of particular causes.

March 3.

One of our cutters on the Yarmouth station on Monday last looked into the Elbe, but could not approach the coast, the navigation being wholly interrupted by the ice.

We have received the Paris papers to the 25th ultimo inclusive. The accounts they bring of the destination of the Russian army are very contradictory.

The emperor of Germany has at last acknowledged the rights of the king of Sardinia. Letters from Genoa mention, not only the admission of his officers to the civil government of Piedmont, but the troops of that State now occupy Tortona, Alessandria, and the other fortresses.

The Consuls were installed in their new residence at the Thuilleries, on the 19th, with great pomp. On the 21st Buonaparte received all the foreign ambassadors, and afterwards entertained them at dinner.

The chief Consul continues to make it the great object of his policy to conciliate men of all opinions, and to banish all distinctions of party. Almost all the victims of the 18th Fructidor, who were recalled have been restored to the full rights of citizens.

The French papers affect to doubt the truth of the report that the elector of Bavaria was to hire out troops to this country; but ministers doubtless are better acquainted with his intentions.

There is no material intelligence from either of the theatres of war, except that the army of the Archduke Charles has been set in motion, and is on its march towards the Rhine.

DUBLIN, Feb. 15.

Violent resolutions are all the fashion. It was yesterday resolved, at a public meeting, to associate against the use of British manufactures; and some passionate manufacturers declared they would give up business and discharge their workmen; so that we are like to go naked the ensuing summer; but all this appears to me the last effort of impotent rage.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer is so much recovered of his wound, that he this night attended in his place in the House of Commons.

As a proof how much the public curiosity and interest relative to the Union has subsided here, there were not ten persons in the gallery of the house of Commons, at 4 o'clock this day, altho' the most important of all the propositions, that embracing the commercial part of the Union was to have been brought forward.

Another of the Orange Lodges of this city has come forward in reprobation of a legislative union.

No business was done in the commons this evening. The Speaker took the chair at four o'clock, and counting the house, notwithstanding much anxiety was expressed by the Chancellor of the Exchequer to go into business, he adjourned, forty members not being present.

This day again presented the same proof as yesterday, that the public feeling has greatly subsided about the union, although it was the gr. at commercial proposition that was to have been discussed; and altho' several merchants and manufacturers of the first eminence were to have been examined as to the effects of the proposition of the trade of Ireland, there were not twenty persons in the gallery.

PARIS, February 23.

Mr. M. Cartney [M. Henry,] Secretary of the American Legation at the Hague, is arrived at Paris, and has joined Mr. Murray. He is Secretary of the commission at Paris.

Several letters from Verquil, arrived this evening, confirm the execution of Frote, and his est-major. They were all free without permitting their eyes to be covered. One of them who was only wounded by the first fire, turned to the soldiers and with perfect tranquility told them to finish their business.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, on the morning of Saturday the 19th instant, a mulatto Servant Man, named Wilks, but commonly called Jek; he is about 33 years old, 5 feet 8 inches high, slender and knocked knee; he is a dark mulatto, has thick bushy hair, which he commonly wears plaited and turned up short behind; his face is thin, but appears more so from having large whiskers; he had on when he went away, a round hat about half worn, white mullin cravat, a brown second hand coat with fashionable metal buttons, a black silk waistcoat, with a white one underneath, pantaloons of a greyish cloth with buttons at the angles, striped cotton stockings and shoes. He may have changed these clothes, but it is not likely, as he has left all his other behind him. I am told a servant of General Ridge's, with whom he was intimate ran away on Sunday morning; it is not probable but they are together. Wilks is from Chester-town on the eastern side of this State, where he lived with a Mr. Jeremiah Nichols who sold him to me. I have good reason to believe he has gone to Philadelphia. The above reward will be given to any person who may lodge him in jail at that or any other place, and give me or Mr. Joseph S. Lewis of Philadelphia notice of the same. He is an excellent house servant, and if in Philadelphia will probably offer himself to hire in that capacity. W. GILMER.

The Gazette. PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 25. Jutum et tenacem propoliti virum, Non curium ardor prava jubentium, Non vultus inflanti tyraani, Mente quatit solida.

ADVERTISEMENT. THE Seat of Government being about to be transferred to the City of Washington, and certain arrangements on the part of the Subscriber, consequent thereupon, having been concluded, he offers for sale, his Printing Establishment in Philadelphia, with all the stock of materials, &c. including the right and title to the GAZETTE OF THE UNITED STATES.

Defrains not left that the task of conducting this paper should be devolved upon one who will advocate the great interests which it has hitherto been endeavored therein to maintain, than that it should be continued in all that importance and dignity, as a vehicle of political information, which it has hitherto preserved, I have determined to receive proposals for the purchase of the Establishment until the middle of next month. To an eligible character, the terms will be made sufficiently liberal—provided good security can be given: though while a due regard to my personal interest forbids me to make any exclusive proposition, I need not say how much I should prefer to devote the paper upon any other character than a Jacobin or a True-American.

Any person already possessed of a Printing Office, may buy the establishment without the Printing materials. All propositions on this subject must be from principals, and all letters post paid.

It is not without a degree of regret, that I relate to create my labors in this wretched direction. But other objects of greater interest demand that I abandon this; and in fact forbid me to restrain myself any longer from executing an intention, which I signified now more than a year since, and which I then postponed only from considerations of a public nature.

Any person resolving to close with the propositions, will undoubtedly satisfy himself fully in regard to every material point connected with the situation. For this purpose, I will communicate freely and impartially, every information in my possession, and my books shall be free to the inspection of the purchaser. It will appear that the establishment is a flourishing and increasing one. J. W. PENNO.

For the GAZETTE OF THE UNITED STATES.

MR. PENNO, Observing in your paper of the 21st inst. that you copied Claypoole's representation of Court proceedings in the trial of Thomas Cooper, last Saturday, for his libel on the President. Seeing that statement artfully couched, probably to answer particular purposes, and knowing the facts in many instances perverted, permit me through your paper also to undeceive those who may have imbibed erroneous ideas concerning the laudable and salutary proceedings of the court and attorney general that day; as they ought not to remain stigmatized by such uncandid misrepresentation of a trial, so important to the real liberties of every citizen of the United States.

To pass over the counts of the indictment, also Mr. Rawle's "announcing on the selected passages" (as 'tis said), and admitting "the indictment having been founded on the law," (dreadful consideration for law-breakers) "commonly called the sedition act," we are brought to the assertion, "that nothing now remained but for Mr. Cooper to give THE TRUTH in evidence." I sincerely congratulate my fellow citizens on this quotation, and rejoice, as they must, that no law of this land, prevents our right "to give the truth in evidence," and further that whilst the tenor and operation of our laws, admit the glorious principle, it reflects the highest honor on the freedom of our country, and the wisdom of our legislature; for secured by such guardian barriers, truth can never here be liable to this: this must be a comfortable reflection, as 'tis matter of importance, to every good citizen; for such laws are "a terror to the wicked" only. But the account goes on to say that Mr. Cooper, "having failed in his attempt" (I say to give the truth in evidence, or otherwise as we are persuaded) "to procure official documents, he proceeded to read from a book."—True Mr. Rawle, he read, indeed, from many a book; and borrowed chosen passages without number, and which he copied at the parts of his famous, or rather infamous, libel, as being, he said, extracted and construed different to their meaning, taken with the context, he displayed his ingenuity, in carving and selecting sentences, the best calculated to supply the glaring impossibility of his "giving truth in evidence"—how far that display was any "substantiation of the charges against him," I refer the reader to any candid and attentive observer of the trial.

At an early period of Mr. C's defence, such as it was, the court informed him; that what he was stating would not have been permitted from any counsel for him, because 'twas clearly known, and, as the reteler observes, it was declared by the court, "not to be legal evidence"; but had the relation had in view truth and candor, it would have subjoined the subsequent facts—i. e. the court did also inform him that he was at liberty to produce any official documents from records, (which records, 'tis believed, are not kept by the President) and farther, the court declared, "Sir, you are at liberty to read, produce and state anything
