The Frog.

Of all the things that live
 In woodland, marsh or bog,
 That creep the ground or fly the air,
 The funniest is the frog—
 The frog—the scientifickest
 Of Nature's handy work—
 The frog—that neither walks or runs,
 But goes it with a jerk.
 With pants and coat of bottle green,
 And yellow fancy vest,
 He plunges into mud and mire,
 All in his Sunday best;
 When he sits down, he's staning up,
 As Paddy O'Kinn once said,
 And for convenience sake he wears
 His eyes on top of his head.
 You see him sitting on a log,
 Above the "nasty deep,"
 You feel inclined to say, old chap,
 Just "look before you leap!"
 You raise your cane to hit him
 On his ugly looking mug,
 And ere you get it half way up,
 Adown he goes KER-CHUG!
 He keeps about his native pond,
 And ne'er goes on a spree,
 Nor gets "how-come-you-so," for a
 Cold water chap is he.
 For EARTHLY cares to get drunk
 He's not the silly fool;
 But, when they come, he gives a jump,
 And drowns them in the pool.

Raising Potatoes for Seed.
 Washington, 29th Jan., 1846.
 Chevalier Fs. W. M. DE TESTA.
 Charge d' Affairs, &c., from the Netherlands.—
 Sir:—In reference to the seed of the Potato, about which you honored me with inquiries, they have never been preserved, as is believed, in sufficient quantity to be a MARKETABLE article in this country; in fact, they have been very rarely saved by farmers for their own use; and to this may be attributed, in some measure, our want of new and good varieties. The eager temper and impatient habits of our people, their love of change, and propensity to migrate from place to place, produced in a great measure by the frequent and infinite division of estates and impoverishment of families, prevents the adoption, in agricultural matters, of means to ends which require years of patient attention before these ends can be consummated. Hence the destitution of our country, since the establishment of our independence, of fine orchards and of choice fruit, the possession of which, under the most favorable circumstances, requires years to realize, and which, after all, is only to be had, with certainty and abundance, by raising new varieties of fruit from the stones and seeds of peaches, apples, pears, &c., So with the Potato. The seed, as you well understand, is to be from the Potato-APPLE, growing on the top of the plant. As in the case of fruit, there is no security in this that "like will produce like." The product from Potato seed is various in color, shape and qualities, and some years must elapse before the best varieties can be established and their qualities considered permanent. For this reason, no seedling Potatoes should be discarded till after trial of the third generation, nor a promising one be sooner trusted. It is only after the third year that full reliance can be placed on the permanence of characteristics as respects productiveness and other qualities.
 The characteristics to be sought in the establishment of a new variety are—1st. Moderate size, which I am persuaded on the whole, is most to be desired in animals, fowls, vegetables, &c. 2d. Regular shape; the eyes not deeply sunk.—3d. Not bursting when boiled. 4th. Dry or mealy when cooked. 5th. An agreeable taste. 6th. Early in maturity. 7th. Not too luxuriant in the stems.—8th. Productive. As with fruit from stone and seed, so there is no end to the varieties of shape, size, colors and qualities to be derived from the seed of the same Potato-Apple. The roughness of the skin generally indicates dryness, the watery or waxy Potato being commonly smooth-skinned. Fifty seedling varieties have been gathered from spontaneous seedlings in a garden where only one kind of Potato had been planted. There is no fact in vegetable physiology better established than that soil has a powerful influence in changing the color, shape and qualities of the Potato no less than grain and tobacco. I observed this in the case of the famous ROHAN POTATO, one of the humbugs which a few years past served to amuse a credulous public, so that it sold in Philadelphia for $1 for a single potato, of a quality waxy and coarse. In two generations planted on stiff white oak land, manured, it yielded a very fine smooth, middle sized Potato, excellent for table use. It is clear, then, that every cultivator should raise seedling Potatoes until he establishes a variety suited to his soil, and one which he may then expect to endure.

 Nothing in the annals of American Horticulture is better established than the origin of the "Mercer Potato," raised from seed planted in Mercer county, and regarded as one of the best and most popular varieties we have ever had.
 There is no reason to believe that better Potatoes could be had from seed in this country than in Europe; nor is it probable that they will ever be saved in sufficient number to be on sale in the seed stores. There is nothing more necessary than to gather the apple when ripe, separate the seed from the pulp, or perhaps to express the watery particles, leaving the seed in the residuum of the apple, and to preserve them until time for planting, which had better, in the first instance, be in a hot bed.

With great respect, Sir, I have the honor to be your ob't serv't.

HOTEL FOR INVALIDS AT PITTSBURGH.

Dr. Speer and Kuhn. THE object of this establishment is to supply a want greatly felt by respectable travellers on our western highways—by residents without family, taken sick—and by patients from the surrounding towns and country who resort to this place for relief from surgical and other diseases. Such have often suffered from the want of the various comforts and attentions so necessary and agreeable to the sick, and from careless and unfaithful nurses; and been subjected to heavy and unreasonable charges.
 Invalids will here be provided with constant, faithful and comfortable attendance, and at a rate much below the usual charges.
 While the care of both physicians will be extended to every variety of disease, it is intended by Dr. Speer, to give special attention to
ALL SURGICAL DISEASES, PARTICULARLY TO DISEASES OF THE EYE.
 To these branches of his profession he has given a large share of his attention for the last twenty-five years, and he will continue to devote to them the experience acquired by a constant practice during that time.
 The Hotel for Invalids is not an experiment. Its establishment is suggested not only as necessary to supply an evident want in this city, in the entire absence of any special provision for the sick, but is warranted also by the success of similar institutions at Cincinnati and New Orleans—the former under the care of Drs. Taliaferro, Marshall and Strader—the latter under that of Dr. Stone.
 The building selected for the purpose is situated at the corner of Federal and Robinson streets, in Allegheny city, adjoining the city of Pittsburgh. It is commodious and roomy, and furnished with all accommodations necessary for the sick.
 Applications for admission to be made to the subscribers, at their office on Penn street, Pittsburg, or at the establishment.
 No contagious diseases will be admitted.

DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS.

For the cure of Hepatitis or Liver Complaint Dyspepsia and Sick Head-Ache.

THIS remedy having been for several years employed by the proprietor in his practice, on a very large scale in Monongalia, Preston, Harrison and Randolph counties, in Virginia, besides several other places, and having been attended with the most happy effects, he has been from time to time solicited to adopt such a course as would give it a more extensive circulation, with a view to lessen the amount of human suffering. Aware of the fact that many useless nostrums have been palmed upon the public, he hesitated for several years until thoroughly convinced that the above medicine, if properly used, would not fail to effect cures in a great many instances, and even to alleviate those cases which are quite incurable.
 Symptoms of a diseased Liver.—Pain in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increased on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the right arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels, in general, are costive, sometimes altering with lax, the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few or them existed, yet examination of the body after death has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.
 CERTIFICATES.
 This is to certify, that having been associated with Dr. M'Lane in the practice of medicine for nearly two and a half years, I have had many opportunities of witnessing the good effects of his Liver Pills, and I believe they have cured and relieved a much larger proportion of the diseases of the liver, than I have known cured and relieved by any other course of treatment.
