THE NEGOTIATION.

FROM THE NEW YORK COM. ADVERTISER. An essential element is yet wanting to the formation of a correct judgment respecting the fruitless attempt of the Mexican Commissioners and Mr. Trist—the man of the notorious name, as the London Times calls him—to agree upon a treaty; and this is a full account of Mr. Trist's share in the discussion; subsequent to the presentation of his opening propositions. Of the changes he subsequently made in this we know nothing, except from the final report of the Mexican Commissioners to the Minister of Foreign Relations.

From this we learn that New Mexico was the principal cause of disagreement. Mr. Trist having expressed a willingness to abandon his claim for Lower California, and to consult his Government concerning the proposed establishment of neutral ground between the Rio Grande and the Nueces. But he would not hear of yielding an inch in relation to New Mexico, or agree to consult his Government on this point, being quite certain, he said, that his Government deemed the cession of that whole region by Mexico a sine qua non of peace.

Resolved, That with our whole hearts we join in the nomination of Zachary Taylor for the Presidency of the United States, as the candidate of the people. Resolved, That we regard party spirit, as it now exists, deep, bitter, and revengeful in its nature, as the bane of our Republican institutions, and destructive of the social relations, the happiness, and best interests of the people.

Resolved, That the true test for qualification for office is—"Is he honest? is he capable? is he faithful to the Constitution?" Resolved, That the meeting recommend a mass meeting to be held by the people of Kentucky, without distinction of party, on the 23d of February, 1848, at some convenient place to take into consideration the propriety of nominating General Taylor to the Presidency of the United States.

THEIR VICTORY IS A DEFEAT.—Weims said of the British at the battle of Bunker Hill, that they considered their victory "hardly worth thanking God for." The Locofocos claim the recent vote in Pennsylvania as an expression of opinion in favor of the conduct of Mr. Polk and his administration. There were 317,521 votes polled for Governor in 1844. Mr. Shunk's vote will be about 135,000, and falls short 50,000 of being one-half the vote of the State! and 21,000 of Gen. Markle's vote for Governor in that year! The vote for Mr. Shunk expresses the opinion of a minority of the State, and is a Bunker Hill victory to the party claiming a triumph. It was at the late election as it was in '44—the more ignorant, but more honest of the party then voted for Mr. Polk in the belief that he would sustain the tariff of '42; now they have voted, as they supposed, to sustain democracy! The locofocos invariably vote under false colors—and if successful, they claim their victory as an expression of all the abominable projects the demagogues of the party have done, or intend to do.—Penn. Dem.

Federalists, Federalism, &c.—The Tuscaloosa Observer, one of the best-conducted Democratic papers of Alabama, has the following remarks on the habit of the Washington Union and all who take their cue from it, continually calling out Federalists, Federalism, &c.: "Perhaps we are wrong, but we don't think it indicative of the best taste in the Washington Union to persist in applying the term 'Federal' to the party politically opposed to us. Our great respect for the central organ has induced us to look quite attentively for a Federalist this long time, but we have been unable to find one, at least in these 'diggings,' up to the present writing; and we are assured by some of the 'oldest inhabitants' that the genuine Federal party expired so long ago that they themselves forgot it before we were born. Perhaps they deceived us, or perhaps we are wrong; but, at any rate, 'them's our sentiments.'"

Good Advice.—An exchange paper, the editor of which has had some experience in the world, says:—Never neglect to read the Advertising department of a newspaper, if you would know what it concerns every one to know, where to lay out your money to the best advantage. Competition is at its height, and those who have any thing worth buying, or good bargains, always advertise. They know it is the sure way to do a brisk and a profitable business—and by selling quickly, they are able to sell cheaply. Keep the run of the advertisements. Sometimes the price of a whole year's subscription is saved by looking closely over the advertisements.

GEN. TAYLOR AND THE PRESIDENCY.

The movement in behalf of Gen. Taylor for the Presidency goes on, in various parts of the country, with unabated spirit. A meeting for this purpose was lately held at Harrodsburg, Kentucky, the official proceedings of which we find in the Louisville Journal. "The meeting was remarkable," says the Journal, "as being a spontaneous movement of the people in which the leaders and the masses of both political parties met and united."

The preamble to the resolutions adopted on the occasion presents a graphic outline of the state into which the business of politics has fallen, having become pretty much an affair of caucuses, office-seekers and office-holders, with all the embittered virulence of personal contention for the spoils of office; it refers to General Taylor as a man admirably calculated to restore a sounder tone and a better spirit to our political sphere, and concludes a review of that distinguished person's characteristics as follows:—Rep. and Whig.

And whereas, we see in this remarkable man a powerful mind, with a judgment singularly clear and correct, accompanied by the most unassuming modesty, great dignity and energy of character, and at the same time the unpretending plainness of the simplest citizen, and the exhibition of patriotism as pure and unselfish as that of Washington himself; and whereas, all that is well calculated to point him out as a man worthy high office; and whereas, he is particularly agreeable to us as the people's candidate for the Presidency, from the fortunate circumstance that he has been entirely aloof from the party conflicts of the country, has formed no "entangling alliances" with intriguing politicians or wire-workers; and if elected would have no debts to pay with the offices and money of the people for partisan electioneering services; and whereas, as President he would be unfettered and could give full play to the honesty of his nature as the President of the whole country and not of a party; and whereas, the administration of such a man under such circumstances could not fail to be productive of much good to the country; therefore—

Resolved, That with our whole hearts we join in the nomination of Zachary Taylor for the Presidency of the United States, as the candidate of the people.

Resolved, That we regard party spirit, as it now exists, deep, bitter, and revengeful in its nature, as the bane of our Republican institutions, and destructive of the social relations, the happiness, and best interests of the people.

The New York "Tribune" referring to a statement recently published respecting the exports of breadstuffs during the past year, remarks:

"While our exports of breadstuffs to Great Britain have thus increased, she has been sending us in return a largely increased amount of cottons, which we ought to produce among ourselves. Among the exports from Great Britain to the United States in the first six months of 1846 and 1847 we find the following:

GEN. TAYLOR'S RETURN.—It is now expected, that, if circumstances will permit, Gen. Taylor will return home this fall. He will then be more at liberty than he has been heretofore; to express fully his political principles. We repeat what we have heretofore so frequently said, that whilst he does not desire to be a mere party candidate, or to be elected for a mere party purpose, we believe him to be a good Whig, with sound whig principles. If Mr. Clay was a candidate, or desired to be a candidate, we should prefer him to any man living for President; but as there is no probability of this, Gen. Taylor should be taken up by the people as the opposition candidate to the choice of the Administration party, the Whigs will unite with zeal in his support, and he will be triumphantly elected. He is, we further believe, worthy of the confidence and support of the people and possesses, apart from any military renown; the necessary qualifications—being "honest, capable, and faithful to the Constitution."—Alex. Gaz.

GEN. TAYLOR AND THE ARMY ORDERS.—When Gen. Taylor's famous letter to Gen. Gaines was published in the New York Express, the Secretary of War received an old army order, forbidding officers in camp from writing letters on the subject of military operations. We however, daily see, in the government organ at Washington, letters from the highest officers in the army, in direct violation of the above order; and recently, in a New Hampshire paper, we saw the official report from Col. Ransom to Gen. Pierce, detailing the proceedings of his regiment near the capital of Mexico, before it had been published officially in the Union.—We have nothing to say to all this, unless it would be to ask the Union and Mr. Marcy what their opinions are of such disobedience of orders, or if the army order above alluded to was intended only to prohibit Gen. Taylor from writing letters?—N. O. Bulletin.

FROM BUENA VISTA.—A letter in the Picayune, under date of the 11th ultimo, says:

"News of a local character there is none here, and has been little since I left a week since. In fact nothing of moment has occurred, except rather an extensive desertion which has occurred a few days since. Two lieutenants of the Texas companies stationed at Encantada deserted a few nights since, with nineteen of their men, taking the direction of Monclova. They have been so much trouble that Gen. Wool did not think them worth sending after, and suffered them to go their way in peace. I fear they will commit some outrages on the route. Major Chevallie has gone below, on his way to Texas. Gen. Wool has ordered an election in the Mississippi regiment for the purpose of filling the vacant office of Colonel; it comes off on the 20th inst."

The long list of the killed and wounded in the recent engagements before the city of Mexico brings palpably almost before the country the horrors of war. How great has been the sacrifice of life, how lamentable the outpouring of precious blood, how excruciating the agonies of the wounded! This is paying dearly indeed for our glorious victories, and for the renown of our arms. And yet Gen. Scott has been careful of the lives of his soldiers. He has not wantonly sacrificed them for needless triumph. He has had no battle which was not necessary for the attainment of his object, and he never fought for the mere sake of obtaining fame as a commander. Hard, close fighting has been imposed upon him by the circumstances in which he has been placed, and the loss he has sustained was unavoidable.—Alexandria Gazette.

A public meeting of the friends and fellow soldiers of the late President HARRISON was recently held at Cincinnati, when on motion of Colonel Charles S. Todd, it was resolved that "the soldiers in the late war, in the Northwest, and the friends of the late lamented President HARRISON, be invited to convene in the city of Cincinnati on the 6th of November next; to consult upon the most suitable measures for erecting a monument at North Bend, designed to be a memorial of the national gratitude to that illustrious patriot.

The Germantown Telegraph.

This paper has been published by the undersigned for nearly twenty years, at the old stand in Germantown, Philadelphia county, within five miles of the City, and now enjoys a degree of popularity unequalled, perhaps, by any other weekly newspaper in Pennsylvania. The Telegraph is, strictly speaking, a Family Newspaper, devoted to the interest and entertainment of Families and Country readers in general. It avoids Politics and Religion of a partisan and sectarian character, but assumes to speak its sentiments fully upon all subjects wherein the welfare of its readers and the community is involved.

In all the features which should mark a newspaper designed for General Reading, and especially as a Fireside Companion and Friend, the GERMTOWN TELEGRAPH stands unsurpassed. The Foreign Intelligence and Domestic news of the day; the full details of the present war; original articles on valuable subjects; poetry, tales, travels, voyages, history; weekly reports of the produce and money markets; political news, &c., constitute important qualities in this paper; while the agricultural department, a new and valuable feature, first introduced by the Editor of this paper, is of itself worth the whole price of subscription.

The undersigned requests the People of the county of Somerset who may wish to take a newspaper out of their own county,—in addition to their own paper which should always be taken first—to try the Germantown Telegraph, which will be found to be, in all respects, equal if not superior to any the City Weekly Papers. The price of subscription, too, is so low, as to place it within the reach of every one, however limited his means, to take the paper for at least one year; he will then be capable of judging of its merits.

TERMS. Taking into view the real value of the paper, the following terms are lower than ever offered by any other large paper. For 1 copy 1 year, $1.50 cash. For 4 copies in one club, 1 y. 5.00. For 8 copies in one club, 1 y. 10.00. For 17 copies in one club, 1 y. 20.00. In all cases the money must accompany the order. For every club of 17 subscribers which may be sent, the publisher will award a premium of some valuable book, filled with interesting stories. PHILIP R. FREAS, Oct. 6, 1847. Editor & Publisher.

They have been known to effect permanent cures when all other remedies had proved unavailing, and in the last stages of disease. They have in many cases superseded the prescriptive skill of the most eminent Physicians, and received besides their unqualified commendation.

They have been repeatedly recommended by men of the most distinguished characters, throughout the land, and been sanctioned in Europe by noblemen and Princes of Royal Blood. They have been introduced into the Hospitals of Edinburgh, Paris, and Vienna, and throughout the disinterested exertions of our foreign ambassadors, they have received the favorable commendation of the Emperor of Russia, and his Co-Liberal Majesty of the Chinese Emperor. Scarcely a Packet vessel of any repute sails from the port of New York, without an abundant supply of the SICK MAN'S NEVER FAILING FRIEND. Agencies have been established in all the principal cities of the union, and applications are constantly reaching us from almost numberless villages in every section of the country. Testimonials of their marvellous effects are pouring in from all quarters—and in such numbers that we have no time to read half of them. What stronger or more conclusive evidence than these important facts can the most skeptical desire! It is possible that the many thousands who tried CLICKNER'S PILLS, can be deceived in their results! If any impostor or quackery existed, would it not long ago have been held up, as it should be, to the scorn and derision of a justly offended community.

Remember Dr. C. V. Clickner is the original inventor of Sugar Coated Pills, and that nothing of the sort was ever heard of, until he introduced them in 1834. Purchasers should, therefore, always ask for Clickner's Sugar Coated Vegetable Pills, and take no other, or they will be made the victims of a fraud.
