

MAP OF THE REBEL RAID IN MARYLAND.

EXTRA! FOURTH EDITION.

THE GREAT RAID.

REBELS AGAIN AT HAGERSTOWN

BURNING AND DESTROYING

PROBABLE CAPTURE OF THE WHOLE PARTY.

General Howe to Take Command at Harper's Ferry.

GENERAL SIGEL TO REPORT TO GENERAL HUNTER.

Special to The Evening Telegraph. HAGERSTOWN, July 8.—The Rebel force returned to Hagerstown this morning...

HAGERSTOWN, July 8.—The telegraphic operator has been close to Hagerstown, and reports that the Rebels set fire to the court house...

It is reported that there have not been at any time over two thousand Rebels this side of the Potomac, and that Sigel is entirely out of danger.

A scout just in from Boonsboro reports to General Couch that two brigades are lying at Boonsboro, composed of Infantry and Cavalry...

BALTIMORE, July 8, 2:30 P. M.—A special despatch to the Americans, dated at Frederick, June 26 o'clock P. M., says that the Rebels have retreated fully four miles from their position...

BALTIMORE, July 8, 3:30 P. M.—A despatch from Harper's Ferry this morning confirms the evacuation of that place by the Rebels, and says our troops again hold it.

THIRD EDITION. THE REBEL RAID.

FORCE AND DESIGNS OF THE ENEMY.

THE PREPARATIONS TO REPEL HIS ADVANCE.

THE COLUMNS MOVING FORWARD.

Special to The Evening Telegraph. WASHINGTON, July 8, Noon.—Information has been received here to-day, which sets at rest the question of the condition and character of the Rebel force now operating in Western Maryland...

The expedition is under command of Lieutenant-General Jubal A. Early, of Virginia. The cavalry is commanded by Major-General Ransom and Brigadier-General John Imboden.

The infantry division is under command of Major-General Pickett, and is composed of detachments from Ewell's Corps, and the brigade of Brigadier-General John A. McCasland.

The object of the raid is not to get plunder altogether, as the force has but a small quantity of stores. The force will, of course, distribute to subsist as usual, and after doing all the moral or physical damage of which these Rebels may be capable, will leave and cross the Potomac.

General Lee's desire in ordering this raid is to frighten our authorities into a recall of General Grant's army, and destroy, if possible, the railroads connecting Washington with the North and West.

General Crook is reported at Cumberland with his cavalry to-day. He will move at once to attack the Rebels. General Hunter's entire force is coming up as rapidly as possible.

Colonel Lowell has gone to Leesburg with a brigade of cavalry to cut the Rebels off, and General Anzur has advanced a force of infantry to support him.

OUR BALTIMORE DESPACHES.

Special to The Evening Telegraph. BALTIMORE, July 8.—General Wallace is still at Frederick, and has thus far efficiently whipped back the Rebels on all occasions.

There is no excitement here, as telegraphed North. Our people are confident and as cool as the weather will permit.

concentrate at some other point.

General Wallace states that he does not suppose it half as large as reported, though there may be a heavy reserve in the Shenandoah Valley.

It is just now reported that a large force of Rebels is within a few miles of Frederick, preparing to give battle, but the report is doubtful.

The Western Maryland Railroad runs to Union Bridge, the entire length unobstructed.

Special to The Evening Telegraph. BALTIMORE, July 8—12 P. M.—There are reports here, but not fully authenticated, that a strong Rebel force appeared near Frederick City this morning, and heavy fighting was in progress to-day.

General Wallace is handling our forces admirably. It is said he has driven the Rebels at all points. My opinion is that the Rebels will remain on this side the Potomac, if by doing so they are certain of not being caught.

I now learn that some Rebel cavalry is at Emmitsburg, and citizens are leaving.

The following despatch was received this morning from Harrisburg:

HARRISBURG, July 7.—To Henry C. Lee, Esq.—I feared the effect of the provision for minister by minimum fragments as contained in the call of the President. I have submitted your despatch to the Governor and General Couch, now here.

The following despatch was received in this city this morning:

HARRISBURG, July 8.—George R. Mosser, Esq., Commander of the Cavalry and Rock, advised last night to J. W. Weir, Cashier of the Harrisburg Bank, that the Rebel raid was ended, and that the Rebels had retreated from Hagerstown, and to send home the teller of the bank with the securities, &c., which were placed in his charge to take to Harrisburg.

The Maryland Raid.—The Rebels Come from Harper's Ferry.—The Railroad Not Seriously Damaged.

IMPORTANT FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

Daring Reconnaissance by Captain Cushing. United States Navy—He Visits the Suburbs of Wilmington and Captures a Yankee Rebel Mail—Acting Master Howard Buys Provisions at a Rebel Store—Intensely Exciting Trip Down the River—How the Rebels were Outwitted at Every Point, &c., &c.

BALTIMORE, N. C., June 23.—One of the most daring reconnoissances made during the war has just been successfully achieved by Acting Master Cushing, of the gunboat Monticello.

On the night of the 24th instant, the Captain took a first cutter, with fifteen men, and started by the Cape Fear river, and succeeded in passing the forts of the west bar at Wilmington, and started by the Cape Fear river, and succeeded in passing the forts of the west bar at Wilmington.

After an exciting chase she was overtaken, and her occupants, consisting of six persons, four of whom were soldiers, were taken on board and held on to the gunwales of the boat.

Nothing of interest occurred on the route down the river, until at a point between the batteries at Brunswick and Fort Fisher, where a boat was discovered making rapidly towards the shore.

After an exciting chase she was overtaken, and her occupants, consisting of six persons, four of whom were soldiers, were taken on board and held on to the gunwales of the boat.

Nothing of interest occurred on the route down the river, until at a point between the batteries at Brunswick and Fort Fisher, where a boat was discovered making rapidly towards the shore.

After an exciting chase she was overtaken, and her occupants, consisting of six persons, four of whom were soldiers, were taken on board and held on to the gunwales of the boat.

Nothing of interest occurred on the route down the river, until at a point between the batteries at Brunswick and Fort Fisher, where a boat was discovered making rapidly towards the shore.

After an exciting chase she was overtaken, and her occupants, consisting of six persons, four of whom were soldiers, were taken on board and held on to the gunwales of the boat.

Nothing of interest occurred on the route down the river, until at a point between the batteries at Brunswick and Fort Fisher, where a boat was discovered making rapidly towards the shore.

GENERAL SHERMAN'S ARMY.

The Battle of Kenesaw. MAHONET, Ga., June 25.—I write this despatch in haste, to send by the officer going home to-day, to my dear friends.

There was an ominous silence along our lines this morning, not a shot fired along our picket lines, but the engineers knew that a heavy storm was brewing.

Bain's and Davis' Divisions of the 14th Corps had quietly shifted by night from the left to the right of the 4th Corps, and on the morning of the 27th Davis moved into position to the right of the 4th Corps, and on the morning of the 27th Davis moved into position to the right of the 4th Corps.

On examination this proved to be a prize of value, there being upwards of two hundred documents, private and official, many of great importance.

On examination this proved to be a prize of value, there being upwards of two hundred documents, private and official, many of great importance.

On examination this proved to be a prize of value, there being upwards of two hundred documents, private and official, many of great importance.

On examination this proved to be a prize of value, there being upwards of two hundred documents, private and official, many of great importance.

On examination this proved to be a prize of value, there being upwards of two hundred documents, private and official, many of great importance.

On examination this proved to be a prize of value, there being upwards of two hundred documents, private and official, many of great importance.

On examination this proved to be a prize of value, there being upwards of two hundred documents, private and official, many of great importance.

On examination this proved to be a prize of value, there being upwards of two hundred documents, private and official, many of great importance.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

STATE OF THERMOMETER TO-DAY.—Six A. M. 76. Noon, 79. One P. M., Wind E. by N. E.

A WORK FOR NORTHERN WOMEN.—None for a moment, will deny that the women of the South have exercised a potent influence in fastening and upholding the Rebellion.

Our officers rushed forward and cheered them on; but when they reached the batteries and secure breastworks the leader storm came, moving our men down by scores.

Our officers rushed forward and cheered them on; but when they reached the batteries and secure breastworks the leader storm came, moving our men down by scores.

Our officers rushed forward and cheered them on; but when they reached the batteries and secure breastworks the leader storm came, moving our men down by scores.

Our officers rushed forward and cheered them on; but when they reached the batteries and secure breastworks the leader storm came, moving our men down by scores.

Our officers rushed forward and cheered them on; but when they reached the batteries and secure breastworks the leader storm came, moving our men down by scores.

Our officers rushed forward and cheered them on; but when they reached the batteries and secure breastworks the leader storm came, moving our men down by scores.

Our officers rushed forward and cheered them on; but when they reached the batteries and secure breastworks the leader storm came, moving our men down by scores.

Our officers rushed forward and cheered them on; but when they reached the batteries and secure breastworks the leader storm came, moving our men down by scores.

Our officers rushed forward and cheered them on; but when they reached the batteries and secure breastworks the leader storm came, moving our men down by scores.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES, JULY 8. Reported by Clark & Co., Brokers, No. 111 S. Third St.

FROM THE FRONT.

MORE OF WILSON'S MEN ARRIVING. THEY FIGHT THEIR WAY THROUGH.

Special to The Evening Telegraph. WASHINGTON, July 8.—There is no indication for the great alarm existing in Pennsylvania because of the Rebel raid.

Colonel Conger and Major Curtis, of the 1st District of Columbia Cavalry, who were reported killed or captured in the late raid with Wilson, came up on the John Brooks.

Colonel Conger is severely, but not dangerously wounded, and hopes to be soon in the saddle again.

Colonel Conger is severely, but not dangerously wounded, and hopes to be soon in the saddle again.

Colonel Conger is severely, but not dangerously wounded, and hopes to be soon in the saddle again.

Colonel Conger is severely, but not dangerously wounded, and hopes to be soon in the saddle again.

Colonel Conger is severely, but not dangerously wounded, and hopes to be soon in the saddle again.

Colonel Conger is severely, but not dangerously wounded, and hopes to be soon in the saddle again.

Colonel Conger is severely, but not dangerously wounded, and hopes to be soon in the saddle again.

Colonel Conger is severely, but not dangerously wounded, and hopes to be soon in the saddle again.