A GREENBACK—BY THE "FATHER OF GREENBACKS"

The following is an extract from the very interesting speech made by St. Louis on Monday night by Governor Chase, ex-Secretary of the Treasury. Now have been called the father of greenbacks. You are the fathers of greenbacks. What is a greenback? Did you ever think what it was? Why, it is simply the credit of the great American people put in the form of money, to circulate among every people which could make it available. When the Secretary of the Treasury, the question arose, how should the vast armies and navies be supplied? It was said that the Government should issue bonds, but the bonds of the country were not available. What was to be done? The answer was given by Governor Chase. He said that the Government should issue greenbacks, and that the Government should issue greenbacks, and that the Government should issue greenbacks.

MISS MENCKEN. Miss "Mencken" Mencken, who has been engaged to be married to an English nobleman at the Theatre Royal, Ashley, and who, at last accounts, was living on a private in the Westminster-Palace Hotel, has sent, as an enclosure to a private letter, "some poor little lines" for publication in the San Francisco Sunday Mercury. Familiar as the fair Adah is with all the educated conventions of the Times of the "London Press," on which she is highly honored, she has not, it is to be feared, read so high a horse as when she wrote the letter. The poetical idea, she must think, might be a blessing to the numerous contributors of the San Francisco Mercury, "if giving them something to write about in their weekly epistles." The printed extracts from the letter touch gently upon a variety of topics. We said and would remark upon one or two, the approval of wearing one's heart upon one's sleeve, the folly of "ambiguity," the blessings of success, the value of "frivolousness," the money received at "Ashley's" remembrance to friends, etc., fill up the page. Miss Mencken thinks that in her poetry, as in her acting, she does to be original. The poetry that is printed in the paper to which she sent it, and that is attributed to her, is, in our opinion, original. Indeed it is what Miss Mencken would term the "heavy-hearted vein of originality." She says she is content to be simply her poor, unassuming self, that she had only begun to play the part of the "London noble" and that she had never been in the theatre.
