MR SUMNER ON THE FLORIDA CASE.
From the Tribune.

We collected, on Tuesday, some notices by the English press of the Florida case; not because we think our opinions of the course of our Government ought to be influenced in the least degree by the declarations of British newspapers, but for the sake of exhibiting once more the rude haste with which those journals are wont to take sides against this country. We desire all Americans should learn that the opinion which is of consequence to them is not the opinion of Europe, but their own. If we appear before any tribunal, let it be at home; and if we accept any verdict, let it be made up by an American jury.

To-day, however, we are willing to present what may pass for the reverse of that picture. Mr. Senator Sumner has contributed to the Boston Daily Advertiser an essay upon the Florida case, devoted especially to the misapplication of English precedents bearing upon it. With his usual abundant learning, Mr. Sumner brings together no less than seventeen instances which in their essential facts are similar to the capture of the Florida. His list extends all the way from 1585, during Queen Elizabeth's reign, to the year 1800, including all the most familiar cases and many which by most persons will now be heard of for the first time. We apprehend that even those who have looked with favorable eyes upon the seizure by Captain Collins will be amazed at the number of precedents in English naval history which afford a justification for it.

On the question arising between this Government and that of Brazil, Mr. Sumner expresses no opinion. Recognizing fully the general principle that "it is by no means lawful to attack or take an enemy in the port of a neutral who is in amity with both parties," he suggests that nevertheless there may be "decisive considerations, distinguishing this case from every other, which will justify our Government, while recognizing the violation of Brazilian territory, at least in declining any restitution of the ship." "But," he adds, "my present object will be accomplished if I exhibit those historic precedents which must close the British mouth whenever it opens to condemn a capture like that of the Florida."

Omitting the well-known cases of the Essex and the Armstrong, we select from the remainder two instances, both in principle identical with the seizure of the Florida. The first is from De Cussy, "Phases et Causes Célebres," tom. 2, p. 81:—

"The French ship-of-the-line L'Insurgente, separated in a storm from the fleet to which she belonged, and much disabled, was discovered, September, 1800, by several British men-of-war off Cape Henry. The French ship turned her head to the land, and was actually aground when the English ships arrived within gunshot.

"But, though in this disabled condition, and on the very shores of the United States, she received a British broadside. The French commander protested vainly that he was in neutral waters, that his crew had struck their flag, and his ship was burnt. This act was a violation of the law of nations, double indictable, as the immunity of our coast within cannon-shot had been expressly recognized in the treaty of amity and commerce made between the United States. As the ship was burned, there could be no question of its restitution. But it does not appear that there was any reparation of any kind—not even an apology.

The second is told at greater length, and is memorable as embracing as a exposition of British policy from the pen of one of the greatest of British statesmen. In 1759 a French fleet was attacked near the coast of Portugal by a British fleet superior in strength. Two of the French ships were taken, two others were forced on shore and burnt. The Prime Minister of Portugal instantly wrote to England that the Portuguese territory had been violated, and demanded from Great Britain that satisfaction which was due by the law of nations. The answer to this demand was framed by no less a person than William Pitt, afterwards Earl of Chatham. Instructions were sent by him to the British Minister at Lisbon, in which, after directing him to make every effort to conciliate the offended dignity of the King of Portugal, and declaring that "His Majesty has nothing more really at heart than to give so far as he can with honor to the King of Portugal all reasonable satisfaction," Mr. Pitt appends this following remarkable postscript:—

"Though it be sufficiently implied by the above words, all reasonable satisfaction, as far as His Majesty can with honor, that there are things which His Majesty could not possibly on any account comply with, I have thought it also best to imply expressly for your more certain guidance precisely to signify to you that any personal mark on a great admiral who has done so essential a service to his country, or on any one under our command, is totally inadmissible, as would be the sacrificing of the subjects over whom you will, therefore, in case, in your conversation with the Portuguese ministers, any suggestion pointing to either of these methods of satisfaction should be thrown out, take especial care to express your abhorrence of it in the strongest manner against any expectation of that kind; being at the same time particularly attentive to avoid, in the manner, everything that can carry the air of peremptoriness or harshness."

Subsequently, an extraordinary envoy was sent to Lisbon to negotiate this affair, and

"Full reparation was made, in full audience, composed of the foreign ministers, that the English officers who burned the French vessels on the coast of Lagos were unreasonable, and that on this account the King his master sent him to Lisbon, in order to testify that he had in no way failed in what was contrary to his orders, that they had committed that act of hostility for which he made reparation."—Duchess, Memoires sur l'Administration du Prudent, tom. 2, p. 15.

Nevertheless, although the wrongfulness of the act was admitted, the ships were not restored, nor was any indemnity given therefor. The instructions of Pitt were carried out to the letter. Yet when, in 1762, France declared war against Portugal, the failure to restore these ships was made in the declaration one of the causes of the war, and Portugal had to suffer for the injury which Great Britain utterly refused to compensate.

But we have learned ere now that Great Britain respects only such precedents as make for her interest or coincide with her prejudices for the moment; and we need not expect that a view of her own transgressions will impede the utterance of her reproaches upon what she chooses to consider as ours. We echo the words of the Saturday Review, that "it will be remembered, long after Federals and Confederates shall have ceased to fight, that there is one among the most powerful nations of the world that has no measure of international right except the strength or weakness of its adversary." The judgment of the civilized world long since declared that Great Britain is that power.

THE FIERCE BATTLE IN TENNESSEE.
From the Tribune.

The one-legged Rebel Hood has again put in practice the system of quick, furious, persistent, and desperate assault, by which he and Stonewall Jackson have been distinguished on the Rebel side, and has met with the same bloody luck which befell him when he tried the same thing at Atlanta.

The battle between Hood and Thomas, on Wednesday afternoon, at Franklin, Tennessee, eighteen miles south of Nashville, regarding which we have both official and unofficial dispatches, was indecisive. Only two of the four corps of the enemy are reported as being engaged, and so far as their routine is concerned, it is eminently satisfactory.

There is no difficulty, after reading the vivid despatches of our special correspondent, in crediting the statements as to the enormous and disproportionate losses of the Rebels in this battle. The gallant and conservative Schofield, who commanded on the occasion, states the Rebel loss at five or six thousand, and our correspondent puts it at a still higher figure, while our own casualties were under a thousand.

This disparity is accounted for by the circumstance that our men fought behind breastworks established in an open field, and by our wholesale use of grape and canister upon the enemy. It is reported that the Rebels made four successive charges in columns four lines deep; but their furious assaults resulted in failure to carry the position. They were permitted to dash themselves against our works, and Hood threw them forward with a recklessness of life equal to anything he has ever displayed during the four months he has had command of the Rebel army in the Southwest.

In the course of the evening, after the battle, General Thomas retired his army to the vicinity of Nashville. This we judge to be a strategic movement, very like what might have been expected from the imperturbable and far-seeing General Thomas, who looks to the final result and general summing up of a campaign more than to partial and brilliant victories. He knows Hood of old, and understands his style thoroughly. He will collect two and perhaps three or four corps by planting himself behind the works of Nashville.

He will combine his forces in a compact body, with the corps of General A. J. Smith, which has just arrived at Nashville. He will get into a position of far greater natural and artificial strength than Franklin—Nashville being one of the most elaborately fortified cities on the continent; and he may be able to draw Hood up there and induce him to dash his army to pieces against our works.

Thus we view the situation in Tennessee, after reviewing carefully all the facts that have thus far come to hand.

—Mansfield Mountain, in Vermont, has been lately remeasured, and the "chin" found to be four thousand three hundred and eighty-nine feet above tidewater.

PERSONAL NOTICES.

We clip the following from the latest Southern files received at this office:—

FOR TO FAMILIES IN FREDERICK CITY, MARYland:—Jeannie's health is very bad; her husband, G. K. S., Mac, and I, are well. Dr. R. F. and brother, and Brad. S., are well. Carrie, Tom, G., and their families, are well. Jimmy and family are well, but looking anxiously for the children. Will G. and Aunt E. grant free removals to one whom they may never see? viz:—Please assist Col. McP., and have an iron railing put around Burke's grave. I am in fine spirits, and shall con mirandis as ever. Are the dear ones on the mountain, in the city, and village, well? PRESIDENT, Hon. WILLIAM MILLWARD.
TREASURER,
SAMUEL R. PHILLIPS.
SECRETARY,
SAMUEL ALLEN.

The property of this Company consists of the following valuable Tracts of Land, situated in Venango county, Pennsylvania:—

Ten acres on "HORSE CREEK," having a large front on both sides of said creek.

This property was reserved by the original owners out of one of the LARGEST LAND SALES made in Venango county since the discovery of Oil, as possessing superior inducements, which is believed to be unsurpassed by any territory in this region.

Six and three-quarters (6¾) Acres, on the Allegheny river, adjoining "Horse Creek," and in the immediate vicinity of MANY WELLS now in successful operation. It is also opposite the celebrated WHEELER, PHILLIPS, and other wells.

The property of this Company is owned in FEE SIMPLE, and is nearly all LEGAL and BONANZA Territory. There is about ONE ACRE of property leased, upon which there is a well, the owners being entitled to ONE-FOURTH of the Oil as ROYALTY.

Contracts have been made for the immediate development of both tracts, and Engine Power and necessary machinery for that purpose is now on the ground, and in course of erection.

The number of Shares to consist of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND. The subscription price of the stock is fixed at ONE DOLLAR PER SHARE, full paid, and NO assessment.

Fifteen Thousand Dollars have been reserved by the original owners for developing property.

The Subscription Book is now open at the Store of SAMUEL R. PHILLIPS, Nos. 30 and 32 S. SEVENTH Street. 11-28-6t SAMUEL ALLEN, Secretary.

The Stock Book of the Company is now open at the Counting House of Messrs. McCUTCHEON & COLLINS, No. 240 N. FRONT Street.

Subscribers, upon entering their names, will be required to pay fifty per cent. of their subscriptions, the balance in sixty days, when the certificates of stock will be ready for delivery.

The lands of the Company have been selected with the greatest care by some of the most experienced oil men and Geologists of the country, and consist of—Forty Acres on a large tract of land in Horse Creek, upon which they have one well, in which they have just struck oil. This well, in the opinion of our superintendent, as well as all experienced men who have seen it, will be a large yielding well, as it flows oil now at intervals twenty feet above the well, and will yield to the Company's share at least fifty barrels per day, and that, it is believed, to pay a handsome dividend on the whole capital. We are now awaiting the arrival of necessary machinery to work the well.

Second is a tract of one hundred acres owned in fee by the Company.

Third is a tract of 160 acres, on a twenty years' lease, subject to one-eighth of the oil as a royalty. Both of these are unsurpassed as oil territory, and lie in close proximity to the Horse Creek and Rawson's Run territory, and to the lands of the Bull Creek Company. The work on both of these is prosecuted with vigor, and on tract No. 2 we are struck a heavy lubricating oil at a depth of 30 feet.

For more full information, address the Secretary, or Messrs. McCUTCHEON & COLLINS', No. 240 N. FRONT Street. 11-30-2w is now being drilled, and from the best data lots No. 4, 5, 6 on which is situated the KEYSTONE WELL, No. IV.

Lately struck. It is expected that a large flowing well will be obtained on this lot.

In lot No. 8. This lot is situated between lots 2 and 9, known as the "Keystone Leases," which have proved themselves to be the very best of territory. On this lot is situated the

GETTYSBURG WELL,

Which is now being drilled deeper, as the tools which had been fast are released, and from the indications a large yield is expected.

In lot No. 18, on which preparations are being made to sink a well.

In lot No. 19. This lot is particularly well situated, adjoining the lot No. 20, on which is situated the new Flowing Well

COQUETTE,

Said to be producing six hundred barrels per day (the sinking of this well advanced the Maple Shade Company's stock from $17 to $35 per share). Preparations will be at once commenced to sink a well on this lot.

In lot No. 20, which is advantageously situated from its proximity to the Keystone leases and the Jersey Well.

In lot No. 21, on which is situated the celebrated

JERSEY WELL,

Now producing about 250 BARRELS PER DAY. This is one of the largest Flowing Wells on the Creek.

In lot No. 26, on which is situated the KEPLER WELL. The

HYDE AND EGBERT FARM

Is acknowledged to be one of the best producing farms in the whole region.

The following remarks are taken from the financial columns of the Philadelphia "Press," of November 16, 1864:

"The excitement in oil stocks is still increasing, and the prices of some of the producing companies have materially advanced. We notice the shares situated on the Hyde and Egbert farm, which is considered one of the best on Oil Creek, having rapidly advanced within the last few days. This is owing to some large wells having been lately struck on this property, one flowing about a thousand barrels per day, and one flowing two hundred barrels per day. The entire yield of this farm is now between three hundred and two thousand barrels per day, and some of the companies located on the 'Maple Shade,' 'Hyde Farm,' 'Rock,' 'Egbert,' and 'Mineral,' have had their incomes doubled by the above new wells going down on this farm, some of which the largest oil crevice yet found is said to have been struck."

IV.

The remaining (1-7) working interest in two acres and eighteen perches on Cherry Run, on which is situated the now producing some 250 BARRELS PER DAY. This well is one of the most reliable, and has been doing honorable, and the striking of it has proved the fact that Cherry Run property is among the most reliable and productive in the oil region.

V.

The entire land interest in twelve acres on Cherry Run, about three-fourths of a mile above the Reed Well. This property is well located, being all bearable, and FIVE WELLS are now being drilled on it, TWO of which are near completion, and according to the leases granted, FIVE MORE WELLS are to be commenced on the property within one hundred days from November 1, 1864. This interest is expected to increase the yield of the Company to a large amount.

VI.

Forty acres, in fee simple, on Cherry Run, above the twelve acres owned by the Company. On the adjoining farms great activity now exists, derricks being erected and wells drilled. Two derricks are now being erected, and the development of this property will be prosecuted vigorously.

The following extracts are from an editorial of the "Public Ledger," November 19, 1864:—

"One of the most remarkable features about the present oil excitement is that, while the territory known to possess oil is so rapidly extending in area, the older settled portions where most oil has been drawn off, is daily raising in price. The price, too, of the oil is higher than ever, being eleven dollars and a half per barrel at the wells now. Yet, all around Oil creek new areas have been added of far greater extent than those before known. The whole of Cherry Run may be said to have come into the market above the beginning of the year, and is now considered the most valuable territory anywhere to be found. Wells are supposed never to fail on it."

The Company are now receiving from the producing interests, FIFTY-FOUR (54) BARRELS OF OIL DAILY, which will enable them to pay a handsome and prompt dividend on its capital; also, an interest in EIGHTEEN WELLS in various stages of completion. TWO on Allegheny river, from which they will receive HALF the oil; THREE on McClintock Farm, from which they will receive ONE-EIGHTH the oil; FIVE on Cherry Run, HALF the oil; TWO on Cherry Run, ALL the oil; and SIX on the Hyde and Egbert Farm.

If these wells have but the usual success, the production to the Company will be increased to a large amount within the next ninety days.

Twenty-five thousand dollars will be retained in the Treasury, for the purpose of developing the lands of the Company.

Subscriptions will be received to the above Company at

PROSPECTUS.

THE HOOVER & MARSHALL OIL COMPANY.

Office, No. 208 S. FOURTH Street, below Walnut, back room, first floor.

CAPITAL, $500,000; SHARES, 50,000; PAR VALUE, $10.

The property of this Company is situated on the Allegheny river, and embraced within a distance of about two miles and a half miles from the town of Franklin, Venango county, Pennsylvania, and upon the same side of said river.

It consists of the entire working interest (which is one-half of the Oil property) in a lease and Oil Well located on the well known "Hoover Farm," celebrated as among the first and most productive Oil properties, and known as the "HOOVER & MARSHALL WELL."

The lease is for Ten Rods square, with a frontage of a like number of rods upon the river, giving room for two more wells, and has an unexpired term of twenty-seven years. There is also a first-class log horse Engine, Tubing, Tanks, and everything necessary to carry on successful operations.

The Well (which is a flowing and pumping one) has been in operation for three years, and, carefully handled, has produced regularly from 100 to 112 bbls. per week (including stoppages), at times Flowing Eighteen Barrels per day, yielding for the term named in the interest of the Company, about 600,000 annually. The Oil is superior, its lubricating qualities commanding for it $3 to $5 per barrel more than the oil from Oil Creek. This well, rightly handled and supported by the celebrated Patent Air Pump, leaves but little doubt of its being restored to its original productions—from 40 to 50 barrels per day.

The other property of the Company consists in a valuable river tract of fifty acres in fee simple, adjoining the extreme borough line of Franklin, which is high flowing surface from the river, and also upon the creeks that run through the tract, thereby increasing boring surface, and enhancing greatly its value as oil territory. In addition to this, it has, from its contiguity to the county seat of one of the most flourishing and rapidly growing towns of the State, a large surface value.

In the product of the wells of this region there has ever been a remarkable uniformity, which, with the late valuable discovery of
