A SETTINGS MEN NOW.

ARCH STREET TREATRE-Fortunio and His Seven Gifted Servants was produced last evening. Every burlesque, like every dog, has its day. When that day is gone by, neither one nor the other has any value. Fortunio is entirely behind the age. Since it was first produced the stage has made great progress in mechanism, in decorations, in scenic effects. A burlesque must have wit; Fortunio has none. It must have all usions to the topics of the day; Fortunio has none. It must have some kind of story; Fortunio has none. It is a pity, we think, that so much expense in costumes and scenery should be lavished on so unworthy a subject.

There is not a good part in the piece. Mrs. Drew's, the principal one, displays all her accomplishments, versatility, and grace; but the dialogue is essentially lame, and the whole piece, to speak the opinion of the audience, is tedious. The minstrel scene has a pretty ballad by Mrs. Drew, with chorus, which was encored. Miss Rosa Wood is a very pretty girl, but not a graceful dancer, nor has she learned in a good

There is a very well-drawn perspective scene, and the costumes and supernumeraries were all as they always are here, efficient and tidy. In the present day the little paste board figures running up on wires are not to be endured. We have not as much imagination now as formerly, and cannot fancy puppets instead of men. Mrs. Drew was most elegantly dressed; her costume of green and gold was sumptuous, and worthy of a better cause. Fortunio will be played every night. Mr. Dodworth's violina were erribly out of tune.

NEW CHESNUT STREET THEATER. - The Red Rover was produced here last evening with great auccess. It is a fine show piece, and with the Sleeping Beauty forms a most magnificent spectacular bill.

WALRUT STREET THEATRE,-Mrs. John Wood will appear this evening and for the rest of the week in Comedy and Burlesque.

NEW AMERICAN THEATRE.-The first appearance of Zanfretta, the graceful tight-rope performer, and the most extraordinary efforts of the Bedouin Arabs in saltatory and acrobatic feats, had the effect of drawing a large audience to this popular place of amusement last evening, though the weather was most unpropitious. The fine equestrian spectacle of the Field of the Cloth of Gold was produced for the first time, and met immense approval. Mr. Wallett, the celebrated Shakespearan jester, has arrived, and will shortly appear at this house.

In passing the Academy of Music, yesterday, we found that a steam engine was being placed in the building, to be used as a motive power for the experiments of Protessor Rogers, in his lecture tomorrow evening, the 17th instant. This led us to further inquiry, and we find that various illustra tions and experiments, on a scale of beauty and magnitude rarely attempted, will be resorted to by the learned Professor; so that not only will the lecture be an attractive treat to the more highly educated among the audience, but the entire subject will be brought fairly within the comprehension of the young, whether in years or in knowledge. We predict an occasion of rare enjoyment for the visitors at the Acad emy to-morrow evening.

HELLER still continues to draw crowded audiences at Concert Hall. The ever-changing variety of his entertainments, the skill he displays in magic, and the varied accomplishments he possesses as a conversationalist and musician, have secured him a deserved popularity in our city.

Insurance against Accident.

PHILADELPHIA, January 12, 1866.—Mr. Editor:
-This class of insurance has received too little attention in Philadelphia, though in many other parts of the country a very large portion of the community have availed themselves of its benefits, and scarcely a merchant or mechanic but has thought it advisable to take out a policy of insurance against accident and loss of life thereby. My own case will practically illustrate the benefits of this kind of insurance. On the 13th of December, 1865, before leaving

Chicago, I purchased from the PROVIDENT LIFE AND INVESTMENT | COMPANY, three tickets for the sum of one dollar and fifty cents, which insured me for five days' travel, and in case of accident, forty-five dollars per week; or in case of death, nine thousand dollars to my heirs. On the 14th instant, when niteen sailes east of Pittsburg, an accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad, by which I was badly

I have been here at the Merchants' Hotel receiving medical attention, and have now so far recovered as to be able to return to my home in New York. This Company have, through their agent here, E. Poulson, Esq., No. 808 Wal-nut street, promptly paid me one hundred and eighty dollars for four weeks' disability. I know of no better illustration of the practical beneat of this kind of insurance than this case affords.

I would commend this company and their agent to the notice of all persons who desire to purchase either a policy of insurance or a trip ticket over any of the railroads leaving this city or elsewhere. I have also insured five thousand dollars more in the same company.

American Securities Abrond—Depression of European Markets,

London News City Article, December 25. Tirades against America, her people and her policy, are easy, and the European public have bad a surfeit of them, especially during the last three years; yet the fact remains strongly marked that there is a constant flow of capital from Europe under the influence of the natural law, which proclaims that it shall seek those regions where it will yield the largest return. Even at the most doubtful moment of the civil war there was scarcely an interruption to the steady investments in American securities by German and Dutch capitalists, who have been fully rewarded for their sagacity by the readiness with which the general public, including that of our own country, have taken from them, at an immense advance in price, the securities purchased by them during the time of depreciation. The absorption of American steck throughout Europe has been more extensive during the last few weeks than was ever before known. On every side the evidence is strong that the profits of trade and agriculture in Europe have this year been more ex-tensive than on any former occasion. As far as England is concerned, our shipping and export statistics show the largest business ever yet attained, and there is no reason to suppose that the increase in the quantity of trans-actions has been consequent upon the pushing of sales at a sacrifice. On the contrary, the margin of gain is believed in most instances to have been unusually good, and, as regards the produce markets, some proof on that point is furnished by the fact that the general rise in prices had its origin here when stocks were heavy, and not in the producing countries. Yet in the midst of this prosperity money affairs are doubtful, not only in London, but in all the Continental cities, and the various descriptions of public securities exhibit symptoms of greater general depression than have been witnessed at any previous period during the past seventeen years. * * * The transmission of funds to America is obviously the main solution.

* * * * * * It appears, according to the last accounts from Frankfort, that the price of United States bonds in that city was two per cent, higher than in America, and that the flood was the more certain to be kept up; but enormous as are the purchases of Federal bonds, they are probably almost equalled by the sums sent out for private enterprises. Should this extreme confidence continue in the funds of a country burdened with a very heavy debt, and an extremely heavy taxation, and should European capitalists display as much readiness in promoting new undertakings, it would seem futile to expect during 1886 any permanent re-laxation of our rate of discount, or any recovery in the value of home European securities.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE GREAT BAILBOAD CASE.

Nisi Paius Court—Judge Read.—Pennsylva-nia Raitroad Company et al. vs. the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad Company.—The Hon. Robert J. Walker this morning resumed his argument in behalf of the Atlantic Railroad Company. In opening he read the application of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for an injunction restraining the Atlantic Company from using any portion of the Catawigsa Railroad. In 2d "Story's Equity," page 536, this principle is the catawigsa from th ciple is laid down:-'It is a universal rule in equity never to en-force either a penalty or a forfeiture. Therefore courts of equity will never aid in the divesting of an estate for a breach of covenant on a condion subsequent. Again in 4th Johnson's Chancery Reports, page 21, we read:-"A court of equity does not lend its aid to divest an estate for a breach of a condition. It does not assist for the recovery of a penalty or a forfeiture, or anything in the nature of a for-

Again, citing from 2d Wright, page 102, we find that "a court of equity will not interfere to redress any injury for which there is ample remedy at law. A railroad company will not be restrained from progressing with the construc-tion of their road, because of the violation of some contract which they may have previously made in relation to it." That would seem to be almost in the words of this case.
In 1864, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company

promulgated, in a printed report, the fact that we were a "connecting road." They did not style us a "connecting train." And now, after we have issued thirty millions of bonds, they attempt to deny the fact, and ask this Court to make a decree which may cause the loss of this thirty millions.

It is said that the holders of these securities are Englishmen, but because they are across the ocean, unable to be present and protect their interests, is advantage to be taken of their absence, to perpetuate a wrong? But all these securities are not held in England. Two milons and a half of them are held by Philaelphians.

Your honor has no right to decide whether we are connecting roads or not, because the plain-tiffs raising the question are a private party. Suppose it is decided, or about to be decided that we have forfeited our contracts and our rights, cause we are not a connecting road, the Government in a case like this, where $50,000,000 bad been expended, in good faith would be bound to waive the forfeiture.

In the Annual Report of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, February 21, 1865, page 98, we read:—"A number of sidings have been laid during the past year, requiring considerable graduation. A connection has been made with the Bald Eagle Valley Road at Lockbaven, and with the Shawmont near Ridgway—(both narrow guage roads)— Also, one with the Oil Creek Road at Corry, and one with the Buffalo and Erie Railroad, giving temporary passages from the tracks of that road, to the Union Passenger Station at Erie."

Again turning to Applelon's Railway Guide for he present month, we find the Pennsylvania Railroad Company advertising that they connect with the Atlantic and Great Western Railway. How can they after this deny that we are a connecting road?

Who are the allies of my friends on the other side? The New York and Eric Railroad—a road built expressly to divert the whole western trade to the city of New York. The Atlantic road is 60 miles shorter from the West to Philadelphia than any other road, and we are pledged never to discriminate against this city in treight or passenger tolls.

The honorable gentleman, with a few remarks on the subject of railroad guages, concluded his argument.

THE UNITED STATES VS. STEAMER "MOHAWK." Washington, January 16 .- The Supreme Court of the United States has decided the case of the United States vs. The Steamer Mohawk. This was a libel to procure a forfeiture filed in the Eastern District of Michigan, under the act of longress of December 31, 1792, which provides that it any certificate of registry or record shall be fraudulently or knowingly used for any ship or vessel not then actually entitled to the benefit thereof, according to the true intent of this act, such vessel shall be forfeited, etc.

The claimants set up that they were the sole owners, and that they purchased subsequently to the enrolment, and without knowledge of the fraud, if any was committed, for a valuable consideration in good faith, under the act of 1852, the Mohawk, which hitherto was a foreign vessel, and obtained enrolment as an American vessel; but the Government insists that that act did not remedy the fraudulent enrolment while she was a foreign ship, and that the act of 1852 should be read as a part of all prior legislation on the subject; that the first registry was void from fraud; and that, as the second registry was

The Court below held that the penaities of the act of 1792 did not apply to vessels enrolled and licensed under the act of 1862, and dismissed the libel. This Court now affirmed that judgment, Justice Miller delivering the opinion of the MATTERS OVER THE RIVER.

THE SNOW ON THE PAVEMENTS .- It is generally the case that, for several days after a snow-storm, the sidewalks and pavements in Camden are rendered almost impassable, in consequence of slush, water, and mud, when the weather is not sufficiently cold to freeze. This disagreeable condition of things is caused by the failure of the citizens in not removing the snow from the gutters in front of their dwellings, Most of them shovel it off just enough to block up the water courses, and so soon as the snow egins to melt, the sidewalks are overflowed. If they would take the pains to remove the snow pavements into the street beyond the gutters, the walks would be kept dry and good. But, under the usual mode, every crossing is deluged with water, rendering it impossible for pedestrians, especially ladies, to pass. Now is the time for the citizens to try the experiment. The cost will be very elight in comparison to the convenience it will give. Their own comfort ought to dictate this course of policy.

THE INAUGURATION .- The inauguration of the Bon. Marcus L. Ward, Governor elect of New Jersey, took place to-day. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, and a consider able body of snow covering the ground, a large number of citizens and politicians from Camden went up in the early trains, to participate in the ceremonies on the occasion. The preparations for a grand and imposing demonstration are of the mest extensive character, and although the weather is unfavorable, the military display will be admirable and appropriate.

BANK DIRECTORS .- At the annual election for directors of the First National Bank of Camden, held a day or two since, the following named gentlemen were chosen;-Jonas Livernore, N. N. Stokes, Maurice Browning, Hon John F. Starr, Charles A. Sparks, George L. Gil-lingham, Clayton Lippincott, W. S. McCallister, John F. Bodine. The Board then immediately organized, and elected Jonas Livermore, Esq.. President, and James H. Stevens, Esq., Cashier

GENERAL COFFER'S HOMESTRAD.—The following announcement is made in the Memphis Appeal of the 10th ultimo:-

"Many of our readers will regret to learn that the old homestead of General John Coffee, the right arm" of Andrew Jackson, was destroyed by fire on Monday night, the 4th instant. ituated three miles north of Florence, Alabama, and was, at the time of its destruction, occupied by the venerable widow of General Coffee, no * past seventy-three years old. The loss of the house and furniture, nearly all of which was consumed, is estimated at $30,000. Among the interesting historical relics destroyed in the configuration was a magnificent sword, presented to General Jackson by the citizens of New Orleans, and bequeathed by him to Colonel Andrew J. Coffee. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary."

ESSUE.—This morning, at ten o'clock, the examination of witnesses in the contested election case of Weaver ps. Given, for the City Commissionership, was resumed before General Collis, the special examiner appointed by the Court.

James Hyzer, sworn:—I was a member of the 19th Regiment Pennsylvania Cavalry; discharged on the 16th of November last; belonged to Com-pany B; first joined Company H, and remained in it until January, 1864; that was the date of the consolidation of the regiment into six companies; don't remember the date of the second consolidation; it was at Baton Rouge; it was then consolidated into four companies, ing about two hundred men; on the 10th of Oc ober the regiment was at Alexandria in the Red River, I believe; I was a bugler; the regiment left Baton Rouge on the 2d of August, 1865; there fiwere only Mr. Flavell and myself left at Baton Rouge, that I know of; on the 10th of October there were from 60 to 65 men in my company: I could tell pretty much all of them, if I could see their names: neither John Wilson nor Henry Lee were members of the company, nor Henry Moser; Charles McCarthy was Commissary Sergeant, but didn't belong to Company B; there was no election held in our company at Baton Rouge on the 10th of October; with the excep tion of those I have named, none of the others on this list were ever members of the company since I have been a member; there was a post office at Baton Rouge on the 10th of October last; there were two or three companies of the lst Indiana Heavy Artillery stationed at Baton Rouge in October; those were the only white Cross-examined:-I am not now in the service: I did not vote on the 10th of October; I was with Company B about two months after its consolidation in August, 1865; the company started for Alexandria on the 2d day of Angust; I did not go with them; I was detached as an orderly at headquarters August, 1865, and I remained on detached duty until October of that year.

The contestant offered in evidence a certificate of Thomas M. Vincent, Assistant Adjutant-General United States Army, as to the consolidation of the 19th Regiment Pennsylvania Cavalry. It states that on the 31st of October the regiment was still four companies. (The returns showed that nine companies had voted.) The case was bere adjourned until to-morrow.

THE WEATHER,-To-day has not been one entitled to the most entire commendation, even by those most decidedly addicted to hydropathic measures. In fact there has been rather too much of it. We are always more or less exhilarated by an atmosphere that is not so completely surcharged with humidity that every frienwalks the streets as a modern Niobe, "all tears. friend Last evening it started out as a regular old tashioned hail-storm, which gradually softened into a downy shower of snow-flakes mantling the city in a marriage robe of rare and exquisite texture.

Later in the night the balmier breezes began to blow, and the whole top of the deposit was encrusted with a solid cry-tallization that was perfectly excruciating to persons addicted to corps. Every one so unfortunate as to be pedestrians at a late hour knew what the poet meant when he said that we must "learn through patient suffering to be strong." At every step the feet broke through the treacherous material and sank deep into the more delicate substrata. To-day we have unmitigated slush, and in rich profusion. The gutters, choked with the mass of now thrown from the sidewalks, have thrown their wealth of moisture upon the pavements, and rendered navigation, it not dangerous, at

The tall of snow has not enured to the advantage of any of our pleasure-seeking citizens There was just enough to ruin the sleighing, and not quite enough for sleighing. It rendered Chesnut street a desolate waste, where stranded wanderers hopelessly gazed for dry land with inconsiderable success. Some who had business to transact which called them abroad were irate, while some, we tear, were profane. In fact, it was one of those days whose like we do not care about looking on again.

THE FENIAN BROTHERHOOD-ACTION OF THE PHILADELPHIA CIRCLE.—At a meeting of the Philadelphia Circle of the Fenian Brother hood, held last evening, the delegates of the Circle to the recent Congress made a full report of the proceedings of that body; whereupon the following resolutions were unanimously

Resolved, That the Philadelphia Circle have heard with the most eminent satisfaction the report of their delegates to the Congress of the Fenian Brotherhood, recently held at New York, and rejoice that the unfortunate difficulty which has temporarily disturbed the harmony of the Brotherhood has been finally removed.

Resoived, That we welcome the re-establishment of the office of Head Centre and the election of Col. John O'Mahony as sufficient evidence of the future active and successful co-operation of the Fenian Brotherhood in America with their brethren in Ireland, and are proud of the fact that our record shows an unfaltering devotion to the chief who is so cordially endorsed by James Stephens and the Brotherhood.

Resolved, That we accept the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, s. Doran Killian, as a most satisfactory financial document, and regard his re-election as of incalculable benefit to the success of the cause.

Resolved, That the Philadelphia Circle Swill

combine all its strength to aid the leaders of the Brotherhood in overcoming the difficulties with which treachery has surrounded them, and that we will renew and redouble our efforts to aid in supplying them with the sinews of war, fully confident that by a co-operation of all the circles to this end, the cause will soon be brought to a successful issue. Resolved, That the Centre of this Circle be equested to furnish a copy of these resolutions to the Head Centre.

THE OPENING EXERCISES of the new branch of the Quaker City Business College, at the Spring Garden Institute, Broad and Spring Garden streets, came off last evening. Besides the students of the institution, quite a large number of ladies and gentlemen were present.
Professor A. R. Dunton gave a brief lecture upon Penmanship, and explained upon the black-board his excellent system of rapid writing. He was presented with a purse of money containing $170, by the students of the college, as a token of their appreciation of his services as a teacher; after which Mrs. Dunton and Mr. Samuel Adams, the elecutionist, gave some select readings. We were much interested in the exercises, and were pleased to learn that it is the intention of Mr. Fairbanks, the President

To our reason then 'tis plain In towers we can no safety gain, For any storm would shake a TOWER,

The business wheels revolve rapidly at the STAR, and the immense crowd which daily obtains a change of habits at its emperium, is conclusive of the fact that it is appreciated. TELEGRAPHING. N. E. CORNER TENTH AND CHESNUT STREETS

Institution.

TELEGRAPHING.

The arrangements for Telegraphing are far in advance of anything of the kind ever offered to the public. A regular Telegraph Line is connected with the Institution, with twenty branch offices in various parts of the city, where public business is transacted, and in which the students of this institution are permitted to practice. No regular office practice can be had in any other school of instruction in the country, without which no one can obtain a position as a practical operator. Young men are cautioned against the deceptive representations of those who, without any such facilities, pretend to beach Telegraphing.

those who, without any such facilities, pretend to teach Telegraphing.

LOUATION AND ACCOMMODATIONS.

The Institution is located in the most central part of the city, and its accommodations, for extent, elegance, and convenience, are unsurpassed. All the rooms have been fitted up in the very beat style with Business Offices or Counting Houses, Telegraph Offices, Stationery Store, and a regular Bank of Deposit and Issue, supplied with finely enerawed librographic notes, used as a circulating medium in the Department of Actual Business.

The ACTUAL BUSINESS COUENE.

The course of instruction in the Department of Actual medium in the Department of Actual Business.

THE ACTUAL BUSINESS COURSE.

The course of instruction in the Department of Actual Business is now and original, having no reference to any similar, or pretended similar, course pursued elsewhere. It has been arranged exclusively for this Institution upon a MODEL PLAN, and presents a complete iliustration, by practical examples, of all the forms and minutia required in practice in every department of trade, and giving the student, in the briefest time, pracisely that knowledge which every man, no matter what his occupation is to be, must possess in order to manage his own or others' affairs with skill and gredit.

SOUND AND THOROUGH INSTRUCTION.

The reputation which the instruction has ever maintained is due to constant efforts to keep up the very highest standard of instruction in every depar ment. Amid competition and numerous claims pressed upon public attention, this should receive the greatest consideration. The best teachers only are employed here, and never since its organization has it been apout as good a foundation in this respect as at present.

PATRONAGE.

The institution is now enjoying the largest patronage ever bestowed upon any Commercial School in the tate. More students are now entering than at any former period since its establishment.

Mr. Samuel D. Delp, late of Bryant & Stratton's, has reconsily been engaged as teacher of Book-keeping, etc., increasing the already efficient corps of instructors.

A practical work on Book-keeping free from the crude and impracticable notions of mere schootmasters who have had no experience in business. Is very much seeded. The proprietor has one in progress, designed especially to supply his own wants. The introduction is now in press, sixty pages of plates being already fluished, which will be published in namphiet form for immediate use till the whole is campleted.

PERPETUAL ALMANAC AND TIME TABLE.—The most clabuate thing of the kind ever devised, for sale, price $1. most elaborate thing of the kind ever devised, for said, price $1.

TO YOUNG MEN WHO DESIRE THE VERY BEST FACILITIES FOR A PRACTICAL EDUCATION FOR BUSINESS. We guarantee a course of instruction nowhere else equalled, while the reputation and standing of the Institution among business men make its endorsement the best passport to success and advancement. All contemplating entering any Commercial College are invited to send for an ILLUSTRATED CIRCULAR AND CATALOGUE, containing complete interior views of the College, and full particulars of the course of instruction, terms, etc.
