PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

Senate. HARRISBURG, January 26.—The Senate is not in sersion, having adjourned until Monday. House of Representatives,

Mr. Pennypacker called up the resolutions ordering our thousand copies to be printed of the speeches, resolutions, etc., of the House, in reference to the death of President Lincoln, which were rejected yesterday, and now recon-

Mr. Feeeborn moved to print two thousand copies instead of four thousand. Not agreed to, and the original resolution was passed.

Messrs. Kerns, Davis, Steiner, Adnir, Lee, Marks, and Kelly presented remonstrances against Sunday travel, and Mr. Lee presented a petit on from what was termed the "pious portion of the city of the Twenty-third Ward," in favor of city cars running on Sundays.

-The late King of the Belgians divided his huge private fortune into four parts. The first three are reserved for the three children, the Duke de Brabant, the Empress Charlotte, and the Count de Flandre. Out of the rough part will be paid the legacies and pensions which the King grants to all the members of his iouse-hold, from the highest to the lowest. The surplus will revert to the Count de Flandre, who has already a pension from the nation of one hundred and hity thousand francs, and which will probably be augmented.

CITY INTELLIGENCE

[For Additional Local Items see Third Page.]

To GAS CONSUMERS.-We are pleased to announce to the public that the new gas regula-tor invented by the late Engineer of our City Gas Works, Dr. C. M. Cresson, has been placed in the hands of our celebrated scale manufac-turers, Messrs. Fairbanks & Ewing, and that they are now prepared to fill orders for any size re-quired. This regulator is rendered superior to every other form by the use of a peculiar valve and gas holder, avoiding the use of mercary, which is so deleterious in its effects upon the human system, and also flexible diaphragms which are liable to leakage.

In October last a trial was made by the Franklin Institute, and the result snowed that with the regulator there was a uniform saving of 49 per cent, from that of the street pressure, and so that with the regulator no change was made in the light, although the pressure was increase i from one inch to six inches.

Mesers Fairbanks & E wing have the test appa ratus, which was exhibited at the Franklin In-stitute, set up in their warehouse, No. 715 Ches-nut street, where we would advise all interested in the saving of gas to call and examine it.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN MARKET STREET -Heavy Loss. Between 8 and 9 o'clock last evening a fire broke out in the extensive hard-ware store of Messrs. R. & W. C. Biddle & Co., No. 131 Market street, which spread so rapidly before the efforts of the fremen could be brought to bear upon it, that the flames could not be arrested ere they had spread through the entire establishment, and destroyed much of the building and stock. The store extended to Jones' alley, probably hundred and bity feet in depth, and it was filled from the celler to the root with every description of hardware and cutlery. The stock is sail to have been the largest of any similar establish-ment in the city. It is fully covered by insu-rance, as is the damage to the building, the property of the firm. The firemen labored under great d sadvantages, owing to the condition of the streets, yet when they were enabled to put the water upon the fire, they so far checked it as to prevent it doing much damage to the adjoin ing properties.

The store on the east of the fire, No. 129, occupied by Mesers, Roberts & Macaltioner, wholesale grocers, was deluged with water, and their stock must have suffered considerably.

The stock of seeds of Mr. C. B. Rogers, the occupant of No. 133, was considerably damaged by water, and his loss will no doubt be heavy. The rear part of this building was damaged by fire. No. 135, occupied by Messrs. Fleming & Martien, wholesale grocers, was not much damaged; but their stock in the basement was ruined. Some of it in the upper part of the building was damaged by water. Some of the firemen remained on the ground until after mid-night, and all of them labored with commendable activity.

The flames belehed forth from the windows on Market street and on Jones alley, in the rear, with great fury. The greatest consternation prevailed among the inhabitants of that small local thoroughture. The families residing there are generally poor, and the women and children presented many scenes of thrilling and alarming interest in their hurried and wild career through the snow and slush that choked up that narrow

While all this was going on, the fire made rapid progress upwards and downwards. The fourth story was speedily in flame, and it was not long before they burst through the spacious roof. The sight at this time was grand, imposing, sublime. In a little while the roof and the fourth floor fell in, and, crushing the third floor, the whole of the upper portion thus went down into irretrievable ruin. Millions of flakes shot upwards as anvils and other heavy imple ments went crashing into and through the carbonizing materials.

The shocking condition of the streets materially interfered with the progress of the fire companies, and the adjoining property was cer-tainly in imminent danger. In less than half an hour a considerable number of streams were in full activity, but the immense streams for a long time seemed to make but little impression on

The fire was what is known as stubborn. The flames would go down, and presently they would seem to break out with renewed fury. The firemen, however, kept them pretty well confined to the building in which they originated.

FUNERAL OF THE HON. OSWALD THOMPson. The funeral of this lamented citizen, late President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, took place this morning from his residence, at Main street and Caurch lane, Germantown. The funeral cortege was a most imposing affair. The officiating clergymen were Rev. Dr. James, of Germantown, Rev. J. Helffenstein, of Germantown, and Rev. Dr. Beadle, of Philadelphia. All the old residents of Germantown, the members of the Philadelphia bar, and a large host of citizens were present to pay their last sad tribute of respect to the lamented deceased. The officers of the Court of Common Pleas, at their special request, had the privilege of bearing the body m the hearse to its final resting-place. pall-bearers were Judge Allison, Judge Ludlow, John Clayton, and Charles Macalester. The in-terment took place at the Laurel Hill Cemetery. The funeral train covered an immense area of ground, there being in addition a long cortege of private carriages. Such a funeral has never before been witnessed in Germantown, and rarely, if ever, has Philadelphia exhibited so much sorrow and sadness over the death of one of its citizens. The modesty and worth of the deceased could not, however, be measured by any outward manifestations.

ESCAPE OF A PRISONER.-William Bradley, convicted in Lancaster county of horse stealing, and sentenced to six years' imprisonment in the Eastern Pennentiary, made his escape yesterday while on his way down in the cars. Bradley was handcuffed to another in-dividual, who was bound for the same institution. Upon the train arriving in the upper part of West Philadelphia, the prisoners broke their connection, and Bradley Jumped through the window. The officer is the prisoners and the upper through the window. window. The officer in charge could not leave the other prisoner. The Twenty-fourth Ward police traced the escaped convict through Had-dington and across the county line, where all trace of him was lost.

ARREST OF A PROFESSIONAL THIEF .-The only professional thief arrested at the Academy of Music last night was Barney Mc-linenny, who was locked up for a hearing this afternoon. Several persons on the outside of the building lost their pocket-books during the great rush for admittance.

ATTEMPT TO EXPORT MONEY.—Some time since an account was published in the papers of an attempt having been made to throw the Germantown cars from he track by placing an obstruction thereon. The party who claimed to have discovered and removed the obstruction stated to the officers of the Company that he was stoned by some persons who were concealed in the distance, and being hit by one or two of the missiles, was injured. At the time his story was not altogether credited; but still, for what he claimed to have done, he was awarded ten

A few days after this W. L. Wilson, the General Superintendent of the Company, received an anonymous letter, purporting to come from a passenger on the train, complaining that Thomas West the party who claimed to have removed the ob-trutione; had not been sufficiently rewarded. The letter further stated that those in the train at the time contemplated holding a meeting, and making up a purse for the man West, who had saved their lives. This excited suspiction that West himself was the author of the note, and that his story about removing obstruction on the road was all take from beginning to end, and merely gotten up to extort money. Soon after the communication was recived the following worden note was found pinned to a tree in Germantown:—"Pupples, beware of this. The next murger that is done in Germantown will be the young man that moved away the obstructions on the Germantown Railroad. Catch us, if you can." A few days after this again West started the story, while at his work in a actory where he was employed, that he was shot at with a bullet.

A pistol-shot was heard, and West produced a long piece of lead; but upon investigation it was shown that the shot had been fired from the inside of the building, through the window, the smoke from the pistol being on that side of the glass. The lead which West claimed was the builet was pronounced by a gunmaker never to have been used for that purpose.

A young lady who resides opposite the factory, and was about ten feet from the window through which the shot was alleged to have been fired, said she heard the report, but saw no man. Chief Detective Franklin, and Detective George Smith, who had the matter under investigation, at once became satisfied that West had fired the pistol, and also had written the anonymous comnunication, and the note on the tree.

Yesterday they took him into custody, and upon visiting his house found blue paper with red ruled lines, corresponding in every particular with that upon which the notes were written. The handwriting of West's wi'c was also dentified, it being said that the husband forced the poor woman to write these letter. The prisoner partially confessed his guilt.

The case was heard this morning before Alderman Bettler, who, in binding the defendant over for his appearance at court, said that the affair was one that had caused great fear among the good people of Germantown, who had not yet recovered from the effects produced by the brutal butchery of Miss Watts. Many of them, ince the affair was made public, were afraid to ride in the cars, and the business of the Com-pany, had not the conspiracy been thus ex-ploded, night have been seriously injured.

From Rev. W. D Seigified, Pastor of Twelfth Baptist Church, Philadelphia. Gentlemen:—I have recently been laboring under the Genilemen:—I have recently been laboring under the discressing effects of hollgestion, accompanied by a prostration of the hervous system. Numerous remedies were recommended by friends, and some of them test at but without relief. Your floofland's German, Bitters were recommended by priends, and some of them test at but without relief. Your floofland's German, Bitters were recommended by persons who had tried them, and whose havotable mention of these Bitters induced me to try them. I must confess that I had an aversion to Patent Medicines from the "flousand and one" quack "Bitters," whose only sim seems to be to had most sweetened and drugged liquer upon the comman by has sly way, and the tendency of which. I fear, is to make many a really a medicinal preparation, I took it with happy effect. Its action not only upon the stomach out upon the nervous system, was promit and stratifying. I less that I have derived great and permanent benefit from the use of a few bottles.

Indeed, it is likely to be of more consequence than all the other privileges which our treaty conters. Sir Harry Parkes is a very energetic minister, deservedly popular with the British community in the far East, and his action in the community in the lar East, and he action in the matter may have had some immediate effect; but the opening of these two ports—Hiazo as a port where foreign ships might lie and toreigners reade, and Obstaka as a place where trade might be carried on without the privilege of residence—was only a question of time. In Lord Elgar's treaty with Japan it was stipulated that Brilish subjects were to be admitted to them in 18:3; but in 1862 the Tycoon and the Japanese ambassadors to England prevailed upon Earl Russell to postpone the carrying out of this arrangement by granting other privileges, such as an open port in the island of Tsusima, and by urgently representing to him that the intercourse with strangers had brought their country to the verge of a revolution, and that the Government wanted time to deal with the disturbing influences infroduced. It was under stood, however, that the original arrangement was to be carried out as soon as the Japanese authorities could effect it with safety; and if the telegrams can be trusted, this is now done, Obotaka is a very large town, covering a semi-circle of nearly ten myles, at the castern end of the Su-Wo Nada, or inland sen of Japan, and at the mouth of the river Engawa, which runs down from Miseo, the residence of the Mikado, or Spiritual Emperor.

Large white palaces, sucrounded with trees, are scattered through it, and the thick line of lunks constantly pressing into the river indicates that its trade is already very great. It is the port of Miaco, and by far the largest commer-cial emporium in Japan; but large vessels would Hinge is situated in a small protected bay at the foot of some the mountains on the north shore of the Su-Wo Nada, and about twelvemiles distant from Obotaka. Large vessels can anchor off it, within biscuit throw of the bach; and were the bay only a little larger, few places in the world would be more convenient for shipping and transhipping goods. The climate is ex-codingly healthy, and the beautiful series of sea. akes in the neighborhood will afford find oppor-

If only discontented Loonins can be kept from occasionally cutting at them with long words, it may be said that their lines have fallen to them in a pleasant place.
