Had he not given his personal attention to the matter, it is questionable whether the valuable conection would have been saved from the general wreck." -It has already been announced that Mr. Simms is editing a collection of Southern war poetry. He publishes the following notice:
"PORTRY OF THE WAR.—The subscriber is about to collect the poetry of the South during the late war, and begs of those who have written that they will send him copies of all such pieces as relate to the war or any of its incidents. would wish that the poems be dated if possible, and the names given of the periodicals or newspapers in which they originally appeared. Communications will be addressed to him at the office of the South Carolinian, Charleston, S. C. "W. Gilmore Simms."

-Southern biographies are multiplying. The Charleston South Carolinian says:-"We knew, some short time after the death of Mr. Pettigru, and some years before the death of Mr. Grayson that the latter had been busily engaged in procuring materials for a biography of the former. It was with Mr. Grayson a labor of love, and he pursued it heedfully and with affectionate in-terest, in spite of all the storms of war. We reoice that his own life was soured to its completion. The book has just been issued from the press of Harper & Brothers, and trust that it will reach our citizens without delay. To no hand could such a work be better confided than to Mr. Grayson's. An old intimate of Mr. Petti gru, he was as perfectly (amiliar with his subject as was any of his friends; and, surrounded by these friends in numbers, he enjoyed the most admirable opportunities for procuring his material." Mr. W. F. Samford, of Alabama, who is engaged in the preparation of the "Life of Wil-liam L. Yancey," already noticed, has issued a prospectus, in which he says:-"I hope to be able to complete the book of about five hundred pages, or avo, and get it to the public during the next year. Many years of the closest intimacy brought me thoroughly acquainted with the character, the principles, obect, and motives of my lamented friend. He is eyond the reach of human persecution; history demands a fair and impartial record of his life. I stand fearlessly before her august tribunal, in the hearing of posterity, to plead for justice to his memory. It may be proper for me to state, that I am loyal to the Government, and that my work has no treasonable or factious design. shall write the truth in the interests of history, humanity, and my country. I shall do this, as befits the sad and sacred funeral rites I owe to the hallowed memory of a great-hearted, true, and cherished friend."

CITY INTELLIGENCE

owing evidence was elicited to this case yesterday attennoon:-John H. Bates, sworn—I live in Germantown; I was examited before the Coroner; I kasw Miss Watt; I passed her house the morating of the murder; I recollect it, and always shalt; I should judge it was about seven minutes after seven o clock; saw some one standing on the steps of Miss Watt's house, at the front door; I should judge the door was onen, because I heard bould judge the door was open, because I heard Miss Watt speak; I suppose she was speaking to the person on the step; it was a man on the to the person on the step; it was a man on the step; I did not notice his dress particularly; I took it to be a glazed cap that he had on his head; he had on a dark blue coat, I thought; I thought he had been in the army; I think he was between 30 and 40 years of age; did not notice whether his hair was long or short; knew he had a black monstache. Frederick W. Lancaster affirmed that the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting, and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting, and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting, and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting, and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting, and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting, and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting and letter the prisoner had been engaged at wool syrting and letter the prisoner than the prisoner t concr had been engaged at wool sorting, and left because there was no more work. Prisoner's character was good.

Frank Sweaten testified to the prisoner's good character. Richard Allen, Isaac Nathans, John Gallagher, Rex Begler, George Berger, Sergeant Holden, Christian Barth, testified to the good character of the prisoner. Herman Bremen tes-tified that he sold the tather a razor about three years ago, and identified one produced by Mr. Berger. Lewis Wolf, W. Horrock, Mr. Wiseman August Jacobs, Patrick Mal'oy, Thomas Pritch and, J. P. Sallinger, Michael McMonegal, Mrs. Sieller, Frederick Ott, Thomas Carlyle, H. Hare Courad Albright, Frank Holden, testified to the

Dr. Levis, recalled for the purpose of cross examination by prisoner's counsel-ribrin exists in the blood of all animals, warm or cold blooded; it exists in other substances, such as chyle and lymph. The witness was examined at great length in regard to the chemical constituents of blood, the size and form of the globules, and the difference between the corpuscles of human blood and those of animals. He was satisfied that the marks on the razor

He was satisfied that the marks on the razor were blood but would not say positively that it was human blood, although indications and tests pointed in that direction.

To Judge Ludlow—From the examination I am satisfied that the spots on the razor are blood, but I cannot assert positively whether the blood is that of a man or a hog.

The delense then called Dr. Leedum, and offered to prove that the witness Ba ch was a men who had received a very severe injury by falling down a well, and that in consequence his mind and memory were affected. Witness testified—He knew Batch five years; attended him five years ago; attended him from October to November for this accident; he had an inci-sion of about three inches long over the left eye; he was unconscious; he had an injury of the brain; he was unconscious for about two weeks. Benjamin Stevens, sworn-I have known Baten for twenty years; he is a machinist; he works for me; have had many opportunities of noticing him; about five or six years ago he had an accident, and fell into a well; he worked for me previous to that; I visited him when he was sick, and found him insensible; when he got a around 1 took him into my employ, and kept him for a week or two, and found I could do nothing with him, and I had to discharge him; he could not remember anything for five minutes. The case was closed on both sides, and the Court adjourned until this morning at CITY COUNCILS.-In Select Branch yesterday, Mr. Freeman presented a resolution that a commutee of five from each Chamber be ap-pointed, to act with a similar committee of the members of the bar, to secure an increase of the number and compensation of the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas. Agreed to, Mr. Smith resented an ordinance that hereaster the heads of the city departments be elected for three years instead of one year. This was referred to the Committee on Law.

Mr. Page introduced a series of resolutions providing that the Mayor shall annually nominate and appoint all heads of departments, superintendents of trusts, e.c.

That the Mayor shall annually appoint at least one collector of taxes for each ward, who shall be charred with and give treehold security for the whole amount of the duplicate. And that the Mayor, the Presidents of Select and Common Councils, City Treasurer, Con-troller, the two members of the Board of Revision (excluding the City Commissioners, ex-officio members thereof), shall constitute a Board of Finance, who shall meet at least once n every month; shall keep minutes, etc.; shall ave power at all times to examine into affairs any department or trust.

The resolutions were referred. In the Common Branch a communication was ad from the City Solicitor, that the decision of the Supreme Court in Washington, in the Ches-nut Street Bridge case, has been in favor of the city. There is therefore nothing to prevent the rapid completion of the bridge. Mr. Griffiths offered an ordinance appropriating $11,854.50 to the Board of Managers of the Wills Hospital, which was agreed to. Mr. Nickels offered a supplement requiring each passenger railway company to pay a municipal tax for every passenger carried, the payments to be made on the lst days of April, July, October, and January, of one half cent when the fare is five cents; three-quarters of a cent when the fare cents; one cent when seven; and one cent and a half when eight; and to repeal the ordinance requiring the companies to thirty dollars. Referred to the City Solicitor.
