BOYS' CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

Semi-Annual Commencement at the Academy of Music This Morning-List of Graduates

-Highly Interesting Proceedings, Etc.

The Fifty-fifth Semi-Annual Commencement of the High School occurred this morning, at the Academy of Music. The immense building was crowded to its utmost capacity, the larger proportion of the audience being ladies, and the personal friends of the graduating class. Mr. Eaward Shippen presided. The exercises commenced at 10 o'clock, by the fine performances of the Germania Orchestra, under the leadership of Carl Sentz, followed by an eloquent prayer by Rev. J. Vaughan Smith.

John Davis Watson, of the North American. delivered the opening address. He referred to the fact that the existence of the High School had been threatened in certain quarters. He urged the people to sustain the institution. terming it the capstone of the educa tional system of Philadelphia. Twentyseven years ago the High School was established because the primary schools were inefficient and a head was needed. Mr. Watson referred to the charge that the High School sent ou drones into the community, instancing th fact that almost every department of civil and military life had representatives who wer graduates of the Philadelphia High School.

Mr. Watson went very thoroughly into a discussion of the system of education practised a the High School, maintaining that its course of study was equal to any college in the country. He believed that if the standard of the grammar schools was elevated, we might have a number of High Schools instead of one, too small to accommodate all the applicants. The speaker closed by asking the audience if they desired to see the High School abolished? which was answered by a unanimous "No."

The Salutatory Address was delivered by John B. Stauffer, commencing with a very flattering compliment to the audience, and the kindness which the public ever extended to those struggling to improve their minds by gaining an edu" cation. The speaker referred to the fact that education is the strong bulwark of a republican form of government, and urged a greater attention to the educational wants of the youth of the nation.

The Scientific Address was made by Benjamin F. Houseman, who treated of the connection between science and nature; drawing illustrations from every-day hte, and showing that every age had progressed only by developing natural forces. Mr. Houseman made a most excellent address, and received his due meed of applause. Mifflin D. Nece delivered a historical address. His theme was the importance of the study of the past, and the effects which bygone events exercise upon the present. He made a resume of important cpochs, and argued that no event of past time was without a controlling influence upon the generations that followed. The close of his address was devoted to our national annals, and contained many eloquent passages.

The next address was delivered by Samuel C. Coale, Jr., his subject being "Time, and its Influence on Man"- delineating the progress which DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT A COTTON MILL-Loss $25,060 .- At an early hour this morning the large cotton and woollen goods mill of Leason & Rummer, situated near the Falls of Schuyl kill, was the scene of a disastrous fire. The dry-house was burned down, and a large stock of cotton goods were destroyed. The machinery in the burned building was either entirely destroyed or r ndered almost useless. The origin of the fire has not yet been ascertained. It is estimated that the loss will reach the large sum of £25,000, on which there is an insurance of $10,000 in the Royal Insurance Company. Fire Marshal Blackburn is at present engaged in making an active investigation into the circumstances connected with the fire.

WHISKY WELL WATERED .- John Kinney was indiscreet enough last evening to make a too familiar acquaintance with a fluid composed principally of corn-juice. In consequence his head became muddled, and his eves refused to perform their proper duties. He inadvertently, therefore, found himself in close proximity to the Delaware river at the foot of Arch street, and quietly stepped overboard. Officer Myers, of the Harbor Police, was fortunately at hand, who rescued the non composimentis Kinney from his damp quarters, and sent him home a wetter but a wiser man. A DISHONEST COMMISSION AGENT .- A man named David Myers was intrusted last December with a quantity of goods by a firm in this city to sell on commission. David suddenly departed for parts unknown taking the proceeds of sales as well as the commission on the same with him. Yesterday he was arrested for such an irregular method of doing business, and held by Alderman Toland in $1000 bail. The goods alluded to were valued at about $60.

FROM THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF PHARMACY, May, 1865; edited by William Froctor, Jr., Prolessor, of Pharmacy In the Phinadelphia College of Phar-macy — "Will the finit extracts go out of use owing to the high p.ice, or can we have some anthorizative modifications of the formulas by which we can make them at a more reasonable cost? If the latter, shall the change be in the quality of the mension of the manner of applying it, so as to reduce the quantity requisite? Can there he a convocation of the Committee of Revision to authorize some new method or modification of the present recipes?" With reward to the contemplated change in the quantity, or in the mensionin itself, in the prepara-tion of finid extracts, I would take occasion to say that in medicine the health of the patient is the great object to be gained.

The cost of material is something, but when put into the scale with human h ath and often human life, it is hardly worthy of consideration at all. My Buchu (Heimbold's) will continue to be made as formerly, and if it cannot be maintained at present proces, they will have to be advanced to meet the advance in the process of material. For such as desire advance in the price of material. To such as desire quantity instead of quality we would usy that water is a cheap commodity, and may be readily added by the person using the medicine it he desires to do so.

THE A CME OF PERFECTION.-This is the universal verdict given to the Fiorence Sewing Machine wherever introduced. The objections heretofore to other first-class Sewing Machines have all ocen over-come in the Florence, and everybody is detighted with the beauty of its work, as well as the simplicity and ease of its operations. It makes no ease than four separate and distinct stutches viz :- Loev, knot, double lock, and double knot. Each sutch alike on denble lock, and double knot. Each such alike on both sides of the tabric. It also has the reversible-feed motion, enabling the operator to fasten off the ends of seams or stay any part of a seam without stopping the machine, thereby saving much hand labor Besides, it has a uniform tension or thread, and does not require alteration in changing from one kind of work to another. The agent for the Com-pany, at No. 650 thesaut street, challenges compari-per with a lactor. Inford who much comparis-pany, at No. 630 Chesnut street, challenges compari-son with a l others. Indeed, when such comparison is made, the preference always goes in favor of the Florence. Every machine warra ted to give entire satisfiedion or money returned. No charge for in-struction, whether you wish to purchase or not. Circulars and samples of work sent by mail on re-side of stamp. In our many scientific experiments with the Electric. Galvanic, Electro-Magneilo, and pure Magnetic Currents, and their numerous modifications on the bodies of various animals for the purpose of ascertaining with minute accuracy the direct and indirect influence of each on the organisation, we have demonstrated that Electricity is the vi al cloment-that it can be directed to any organ or part of the body, and even after the vital functions seem paralyzed. possesses the power of arousing the dormant energies equalizing the circulation, and restoring the system to a self-sustaining healthy condition. some instances the disease of years' standing yields readily at the first souch of the electric element, while in others it requires a more protracted treatment. One very important feature of our treatment is that no

By means of an electrical test, an accurate diagnosis is given at once, determining the locality and character of the disease, and indicating the treatment to be pursued. DR. P. Her great experience recommends her to the suffering of her sex.

the race had made in the successive ages of the world, and arguing a greater attention to the mental culture of the community. The speech gave evidence of deep study and thought, and was warmly received.

Frank H. Weish delivered a most excellent address upon the subject of Popular Reading. He referred to the low standard of the literature which is furnished to the public at the present day, especially those that are found on the shelves of circulating libraries and on bookstands. The seatiments of the speech were greatly appreciated by the audience, who testi fied their estimation by repeated bursts of applause.

Ernest A. Farrington delivered the honorary address, taking for his subject the "Value of Life, and the vast responsibilities which are attached to it." The effort was an exceedingly fine one, not only in regard to its composition, but on account of the fine manner in which it was delivered.

The degrees were then conferred by Edward Shippen, Esq., President of the Board of School Controllers.

After a fine Valedictory, by Robert Williams, the vast audience dispersed to their homes, satisfied that the High School had not this year proved a failure.
