Hanging for Horse-Stealing. THE Georgia Legislature are determined to hang somebody. Before the war the objects of their kind consideration were the negro-thieves. as they were called. To any one caught in the act of seducing slaves from their allegiance to their masters, was given "a short shrift and" a long rope;" but late events have rendered this style of capital punishment altogether unnecessary, as there are no longer any bondsmen to be released. But they cannot altogether refrain from chivalric exercises, and abolitionists and slave-stealers having been disposed of, the horse thieves next come in for their share of condign punishment. This may possibly be a dangerous experiment. It is strongly suspected that prominent Georgians were engaged during the late war in relieving good Union citizens of their equine and bovine stock. The Legislature of Georgia had better be very careful about passing an act whose stringency may bring some of their own necks within the bailiwick of the noose.

An old adage advises those who reside in glass houses to be careful in their use of projectiles; and may it not add to the bappiness of some of the citizens of Georgia if this proposed act should become a law. Prudence and discretion are virtues, even among legislators, though they are not always found where we might reasonably expect them. The felony of appropriating your neighbor's horse is a grave one, but hardly rises to the dignity of a hanging matter. Throughout the whole West such cases have usually been disposed of in "Judge Lynch's Court," and that right speedily. It is time that all barbarity and vengeance should be wiped from our statute-books. When just and appropriate punishment is affixed to crime, and the offenders find that they receive their deserts, they will cease to violate the law, and in most cases obey the law of nature and of God by obtaining their bread by the sweat of their brow.

TROUBLE ON THE BORDER .- We predict that before the arrival of the month of April there will have occurred difficulties on the torder of the Canadas. There is every pron ise at the present time that the termination of the Reciprocity Treaty will be the signal for skirmishes and miniature battles between the fishermen of the States and the Government officers of the Provinces. Already the Governor-General of Canada has issued a proclamation warning the United States fishermen that, after the expiration of the Reciprecity Treaty on the 17th of March next, the provisions of the laws previous to 1854 will again come into force, and they will be excluded from the right of fishing in British waters. Of course, no one the least familiar with the pugnacious tendencies of the fishermen will doubt for a moment that they will resist the proclamation. The fact that the traffic is illegal will act as an incentive to engaging in it. The right which is thus declared by the Governor-General to be abrogated has been claimed and exercised by the fishermen since the old colonial days; and they certainly are not inclined at this late hour, after making their living out of the trade for over a century, to bow meekly before an alleged right. and yield their means of maintenance at the order of a foreigner. We hope that proper legislation will prevent any conflict of interests, and that before the 17th of March. the date when the treaty expires, some arrangement will have been effected by the United States which will temporarily extend that provision which relates to the fisheries. our ladies are doing. We can hardly blame these men should they decline to yield to what they esteem an arbitrary demand, and persist in engaging in a business which is their only livelihood. The injustice which has been suffered under the Reciprocity Treaty has demanded that, for the general good, it be revoked. While, how, ever, the public good has been conserved, that particular branch of industry will be ruined, if the terms of the law be complied with. They have labored for years to perfect their system, and have at last acquired great proficiency in it because of their enterprise and their bravery. The Massachusetts and Maine fishermen derived large profits from the trade, and it was rapidly increasing, their superior energy and industry giving them a marked superiority in their business over the provincialists. New England will unquestionably suffer as much, if not more than the Canadians by the lapse of the treaty, which is likely to be improved upon the other side of the frontier into an oportunity for building up British interests at our expense. Knowing the ill-feeling held by the residents on the borders, we anticipate trouble, grave and serious trouble, unless some remedy be secured. If both Governments neglect to provide a cure, let them remember that the blame of breaking the peace lies rather with their refusal than with that spirit of daring which has induced the fishermen to demand a right which has been theirs for one hundred and twenty years.

Mr. WILLITS moved an immeddment to the motion to give the contract for cleaning the streets to HENRY BIGKLEY, that for the purpose of cleansing the streets, lanes, and alleys of the city it shalt be divided into two districts, viz.—all south of Market street, including Market street and West Philadelphia, to be called the Southern District: all north of Market street to be called the Northern District, and that the Mayor be authorized to enter into a contract with competent persons," etc. Mr. Evans withdrew his amendment, and expressed his willingness to favor Mr. WILLITS' amendment. Here followed a general discussion, entered into by nearly every member. Mr. Franciscus called the previous question, and the amendment of Mr Willits was agreed to. The bill then passed—Yeas, 28; nays. 12, THE proceedings of Councils, if correctly reported, exhibit a most remarkable example of a legislative body giving into the hands of an executive that power which belongs by right to itself. The contract for cleansing the streets has always been esteemed one of the largest undertakings that the municipality could grant to any citizen. It is, in fact, the disbursement of hundreds of thousands of dollars out of the City Treasury, without any responsibility. To grant this power to any particular person was always esteemed the privilege of Councils, and the utmost discretion was always evinced in the selection of the contractor. This new bill, which has passed by so large a majority, makes the contract a double one, and gives it into the hands of the Mayor. We are opposed to any such delegation of power. It belongs by law to Councils, and it is a wrong for them to grant It to any one man.

Let them give the contract, and let it be given to the lewest bidder, and not have it doubled and then given into the hands of the Mayor. One man can clean the whole city much cheaper than two men can each clean a half. The amount of money, therefore, to be disbursed will be enlarged; and while we do not deny that the present plan may secure a more thorough cleansing, yet with the increase of cost should come an increase of the care with which the contract is given.

UP 10 TIME .- The New York Herald. influenced by a laudable desire to be always on the winning side, commences its nominations for the mext Presidency in the following article :--

"We are within two years, eight months, and twelve days of the next Presidential election. fime flies rapidly in these days, and the great struggle of 1868 will soon be upon us. The politicians, this clique, that clique, and the other, are sayping and mining to secure the prize, and working to turn the Administration to their purand to befog and betray the people. head them of, and to simplify the ridical way upon the Administration, we proclaim General GRANT as the independent champion of the army and the people for the next Presidency."

It is a notable fact that the policy of the Herald has always been to nominate every prominent man for the Chief Executiveship of the nation, and when any one is selected, to reter to the particular article in which his claims were favored, and claim the credit of being his original nominator. Hence we may expect that to General GRANT will be added a long list, including every man to whom the popular partiality could possibly turn. By such a course BENNETT is always up to time-THE LADIES' HOME OF EMPLOYMENT .-The last annual report of the Board of Managers of the Western Association of Ladies for the Employment of the Poor, places that institution in the foremost rank of the charities of our city, to which the liberal should extend a helping hand. The Home of Employment has been in active operation for twenty years. and has aided the destitute women in our midst to support themselves without the degradation of accepting alms. It furnishes work for them to do, pays them for it, and allows them the use of well-furnished rooms and good substantial meals, at the Home, Nos. 19 and 21 South Seventeenth street. During the past few years the demand upon the treasury has been lightened because of the number employed by Government. As this avenue of labor will be closed to them during the coming season, and other resources also [stopped. every exertion will be needed to meet the increased demand there will probably be upon the funds of the institution, to admit as great a number as possible within its walls. Their annual income was $3500, of which all has been expended except $200. The claims of this Association are undoubted, and it is but just that the most liberal of all the cities of America should sustain its reputation by giving cheerfully to aid the good work which

RETROUVEY'S TURKISH BANDOLENIAN.

Retrouvey's Turkish Bandolenian. What can be more acceptable than anything that will beautify ? that will restore nature's decay by stopping the hair from failing out, restoring its naturalfcolor, making it to grow in luxuriance and beauty, assist in putting up according to the present sivle and fashion and keep it in place ? This, Retrouvey's Turkish Bandolenian Hair Tonic will do, and for proof we refer you to any person who has tried it. It is acknowledged to be the beautifier of the age, the only Hair Tonic and Restorer worthy of the name. In Turkey, in France, in England, in America, everywhere where the Bandolenian is known, it is pronounced the "ne plus ultra" of Hair Preparations. Remember, it is free from all metallic poisons that are contained in most Halr Colors and dressings. It is the extract of many flowers and herbs, beautifully put up, an ornament to the Toilet.
