

MATTERS OVER THE RIVER.

CITY FINANCES.—At the last meeting of the City Council, the Finance Committee presented a statement showing the amount of taxes due and uncollected in each Ward, for general purposes. Due in North Ward, $10,853.94; Middle Ward, $6537.12; South Ward, $9041.55. The duplicates are now in the hands of the constables, who reported the following sums collected last month:—J. C. Stone, for North Ward, special tax, $16.50; on tax warrant, school, $22.30; City and Ward, $221.75; J. W. Ayres, for Middle Ward, school, $289.55; City and Ward, $519.24; J. W. Campbell, for South Ward, school, $52.95; City and Ward, $435.35. During the last month $1600 was paid to the families of volunteers. Mayor Budd was voted $200 for extra services rendered in paying the families of our soldiers.

THE REWARD FOR INCENDIARISM.—The committee to whom was referred the claims for the reward offered for the detection and conviction of Richard Farrow, for setting fire to George Ward's barn, made a majority and a minority report. The majority awarded it as follows:—James D. Smith, $100; George Conner, $141.67; John W. Campbell, $141.67; John Graham, $75. The minority awarded the entire reward of $500 to Jacob Daubman. After some discussion the majority report was adopted, and Daubman was the lucky man. The other applicants and their friends manifest considerable dissatisfaction.

THE WATER WORKS ELECTION.—Messrs. Beary, of North Ward, Huston, of Middle Ward, and C. B. Cole, of South Ward, were appointed a committee by the City Council to make the necessary arrangements for submitting the question of purchasing the Water Works property to the vote of the people, at a special election, to be held on Tuesday, March 13.

PAVING.—An ordinance has been passed authorizing the paving of Market street, from Sixth street eastward to its junction with Federal street, and Federal street, from said junction eastward to the Camden and Amboy Railroad. This is a much-needed improvement, which will render access to the city far more safe and pleasant.

AMUSEMENTS.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The Magic Flute was thought by B.ethoven to be Mozart's finest opera. The instrumentation is the very perfection of harmony, and the melodies have all that purity which no modern master excels. Weber, Mozart's genius approached. Like Weber, Mozart's genius was poetic, or rather poetic; a tender sadness breathes through all his strains; yet in the Magic Flute the comic character of his music is not less apparent. The music that is gay, but not come under the denomination of the opera buff of modern times. Yet it is a strain of the most perfect kind. It is the work of Mozart, especially studying the Magic Flute, and applying it to the Barber.

When Mozart wrote, the diapason or pitch was nearly a tone lower than the standard diapason of the present day, so that the present day, so that the day is unnecessarily strained, for the air might be transposed without injury to the score. Mademoiselle Nadi, though very young is an artist of great finish, and of every vocal power. Her performance was a great success. Hermann as "Zoroaster," gave the grand and dignified phase of his talent. His voice is full of power, manly, depth and breadth. He never shows any need to give force and expression. He never shows or strains.

Madame Johansson, whose voice, excepting in one passage, was most powerful and rich, in the scene of the artist who are mutually of the high school that can sing and give effect to Mozart. She necked met the approval of the audience at "Cassano."

His voice, however, is more veiled and timorous than it was last season. He sang the popular duet with Madlle Djabali, and the Germans delight in with much effect, and was accompanied by the orchestra. The effect to the delight of the instrument, with all its numerous obligato accompaniments.

The opera was a most satisfactory performance, showing the superior talent and education of the German over the Italian school. The plot of the opera puzzled many. It is evidently a sort of operatic freemasonry, treating of the mysteries of Isis, and destined to remain a mystery to all. It is to be regretted that this loveless music should not have "sung married" to some interesting story. This evening Mozart will be given with the addition of Halévy's "Cendrillon" and "Robin Adair."

A FINE LECTURE.—Mr. Henry Peterson, (editor of the Saturday Evening Post) delivers as fine lecture entitled "The Quaker Façade," at Concert Hall, on Monday evening next. This lecture was read before the Pennsylvania Historical Society. The subject is one that will interest all Philadelphians, as the speaker refers especially to acts of the early settlers and the historical incidents which actuated them in their dealings with the aborigines.

MARRIAGES ON THE DECLINE.—I am called upon to record one of the strangest phenomena of the age, the growing unpopularity in that most popular institution, the marriage settlement. It is an important fact, one full of the deepest significance, as well to the political philosopher as the lightest gossip, that the number of marriages is relatively growing less every year. Especially in this so-called city, and in the metropolis. The records of the public journals, the statements of solemnizing ministers, and the current observations of the heads of families, all concur that there is a growing disinclination to marry, which, though just apparent now, may soon become a serious matter. There have been no marriages of consequence in what may be termed "high life" this season, nor anything like the usual number seen wedding here and there. Now and then we among the middle classes, a bride at the opera or evening parties, but the number is astonishingly small. People are of course marrying all the time, but who are they? People who nobody knows. The ever-tyring poor are tying themselves up for life as usual.

When a man reaches that deplorable condition that he has not a change of shirts to his back, he is in a fit condition for the sacrifice. That has always been a strong incentive to the hard-earned, when things have gone to their worst, many a man dees fate, and takes a wife. It is his lot in life improves, and it can hardly do otherwise, he gives the institution the credit. In business circles, and in the social scale, there has always been a premium on marriage. The man who takes a wife gives hostages to fortune, and has bound himself more firmly to the cruelest of toil. Merchants and bankers raise the salary of a young man when he marries, and frequently refuse to do it until then. It is remarkable that the extraordinary natural proneness towards the dear sex should not require hindrances instead of stimulants. Yet it has passed into proverb that a man do not marry young, it grows with him, and this is, perhaps, after all, the best argument for early marriage. It perpetually happens that of all classes, the men who ought to marry the most, do not, while those who ought not, do.—N. Y. Cor. Illinois St.

Spain and Chili. The Spanish Minister at Washington, Sr. Senor Tassera, has made a representation to our Government concerning the alleged ships out of goods contraband of war to Chili from New York; and the customs authorities here have been ordered to take a strict and impartial view of the neutrality laws.

It is understood that the complaint of the Spanish Minister is founded on several facts. He speaks of the explosion of several barrels of a material of which the quality was unknown, but which barrels were sent from New York to Aspinwall. It appears that there was a leakage, and one barrel took fire and exploded, which communicated the fire to the others, and that all of them burst with a fearful noise. The explosion was great, and there was considerable damage. The minister regards the facts as suspicious, and he mentions reports that have come from Callao, to the effect that a torpedo and twenty-two cases that may contain torpedo material have escaped from the Aspinwall, and are likely to fall, or have already fallen, into the hands of the enemies of Spain, either in Peru or Chili.

Nothing is known here, so far as can be ascertained, of the escape of the torpedo, or the contraband articles, though two torpedo-boats that were to be shipped at this port for some southern destination did not start, owing to the fact that the authorities were watching them; and the torpedo-boats were ordered to return to New York, for shipment of "torpedo material" to be made up of some of the thousands of barrels which are constantly going on board vessels sailing southward.

The barrels that exploded at the Istimus were sent from this port, by direction of one of the Spanish agents, a well-known merchant. They were understood to contain oil.—N. Y. Evening Post, 28th ult.

The Commissioners to Disburse the State Relief to the People of Chambersburg. Judge Pearson yesterday announced his appointment of the Commissioners to assess the damages sustained by the people of Chambersburg during the Rebel invasion of Pennsylvania in 1864, and disburse the State relief pro rata among the sufferers. The following are the Commissioners:—H. N. Macallister, Esq., of Centre county; John H. Briggs, Esq., of Dauphin county; Thomas J. Jordan, Esq., of Dauphin county.

Perhaps if the Common wealth had been completely searched through more, and conscientious gentlemen, better qualified to discharge the duties devolved upon them, could not have been found. All are lawyers of the highest reputation, business men thoroughly versed in the value of real estate, as well as fully qualified to make the assessment necessary to carry out in its fullest, most practical sense, the munificent relief voted by the Legislature of the Commonwealth, to our suffering fellow-citizens of Chambersburg. We therefore presented to the people of Chambersburg interested in this business, on the fact of having thus secured, for the final indemnification of their immense losses, gentlemen who will do them all justice.—Harrisburg Telegraph, 28th ult.

The Surveyor-General's Report. The report is gotten up with considerable care, and in addition to the present operations of the Surveyor-General's office for the year, embraces some interesting facts of the history of Pennsylvania, including a copy of the charter granted to William Penn, and a report also gives a condensed review of the controversies in relation to the boundary lines of Pennsylvania, making in the whole a highly interesting and valuable document.

From the report we learn that from December 1, 1864, to November 30, 1865, the number of new warrants issued was 502; number of patents on warrants, 546; patents on actual settlements, 547; patents on Franklin, Waterford, and Erie lots, 62; miscellaneous payments, 37; certificates to the Treasury, 1305. The total amount received from patents on warrants, 546; patents on actual settlements, 547; patents on Franklin, Waterford, and Erie lots, 62; miscellaneous payments, 37; certificates to the Treasury, 1305. PERCEIVING that the sensation drama, Arrah-na-Pogue, is in such general favor in New York at present, it may not be uninteresting to your readers to know that Mr. Dion Boucicault is making great preparations for bringing it out in Paris on a grand scale early in May. It will be presented to the Parisians at the Gate Theatre, under the title of Le Noces Francaises. The directors are going to great expense for its speedy production, as they anticipate it will be eminently successful during the summer. The translation is from the very pen of M. Eugene Ibs, the author of the original of the Streets of London. I wonder how the French will respond to the spirited words of the "Wearing of the Green." At any rate, the stouter they are reminded of the coming year the better.—From London Correspondence of The Irish People.
