Suicide in New York. About 8 o'clock on Friday night a returned soldier, named William H. Foster, was found dead on a lounge in the spartments corner of Franklin and Noble streets. Greenpoint, with two small vials emptied and marked "laudanum" on a table beside him. Deceased had been living alone for some time, his wile and three ohildren having abandoned him in consequence of his intemperate habits. He had been a children having abandoned him in consequence of his intemperate habits. He had been a private in the 170th New York Volun-teers, and was honorably discharged from the service on the 10th of September, 1865. About four months ago his con-duct, as alleged, became so intolerable that his wife obtained temporary places for her three bildren the older of whom whit allows name children, the oldest of whom is but eleven years, and got a permanent home for herself in North Second street, Williamsburg. She then called Second street, Williamsburg. She then called upon her husband and requested part of the furniture. This he refused at the time; but atterwards sent her word that the could have whatever she needed. When Mrs. Foster went for the furniture her husband seemed quite re-pentant, and helped her to remove the things irom the apartments. Sosing that he was desti-tute she gave him a dollar, half the money she had. This seemed to affect him sensibly, and he remarked that he would drown himself, so as to give her no more trouble. He so as to give her no more trouble. He weat to work at his trade shortly afterwards, however, and seemed to have re-formed. On Thursday last he visited his wife and told her to remove the jurniture from his apartments, and she agreed to call at 8 o'clock on Friday night for that purpose. She found the door of his room locked and the key inside, and she received no answer when she knocked Mrs. Foster then went to the Forty-seventh Precint Station House and stated her case, when Officer Phelps went to the place, forced the door and found Foster in the position above stated. Coroner Smith was notified, took charge of the body, and ordered a post-mortem examinotion. The following letter was written by the suicide on Thursday, on the evening of which day it is supposed he took the fatal drug:---GREENFOINT, March 1 .- Dear Wife and Children

GREENPOINT, March 1.—Dear Wife and Children: —I will address you perhaps for the last time in this world. Through the course of family matters and self abuse by that demen of manxind, rum—it has caused me to commit self destruction by taking poison (laudanum). I would giadly love to see your-self and the children in order to give you all a part-ing kiss; but you reluse an audience to me. Alas! we mu: part, which, hoping through the mercy of our blessed Redeemer to all meet in heaven. Dear wife, take care of the children, and bring them up in the love and fear of Ged, and iniuss into their hearts the destruction that rum will do unto man-kind; learn them to remember that they once had a fa her that was a man, but not a ways a brute. The remainder of the urniture you may take, as it

The remainder of the inruiture you may take, as it may be of some benefic to you; and as regards my body, you may rive it into the hands of the author-ities, in order that it may fill a drunkard's grave. Good-by, dear wife and children; an everlasting good-by oil this earth, and may God, in His infinite meror, watch and care for you and the children mercy, watch and care for you and the children, is the fervent prayer of your once loving and happy

P. S.-My age is 32 years, 11 months. WILLIAM H. FOSTER.

-Salad is of such general use in Paris that there are many families who will not deprive themselves of it, no matter what the cost. Of late years it has been very scarce during the winter months, and the price was exorbitant. The narket is at present abundantly supplied from the south of France, Spain, and Algeria, and the price is so moderate that the vegetables may be seeen in the windows of the most infe rior cook-shops. The annual cost of the salad consumed in Paris is estimated at $200,000.

-English papers give an account of the steps taken by the Marquis of Westmunster to provide decent houses for the working classes. The Marquis lets a plot of ground for ninety aine years, at the rent of £40 a year, to the Metropolitan Association for the Improvement of Dwell ings, and on this plot suitable dwellings are to be crected for one hundred and forty-nine fami-lies. These houses, when let at moderate rates, are calculated to bring a return of five per cent. and the Marquis is to lend the capital on mortgage at three per cent., leaving two per cent, for expenses and trouble of management.
