THE SOLDIERS' MASS MEETING .- The soldiers' mass meeting in West Philadelphia, on Thursday night, was largely attended by the galiant veterans of 1861 and 1862, and many of their friends. A series of very strong resolu-tions were read and adopted with the greatest enthustasm. The object of the meeting was to urge upon our members of Congress the justice of the ciaims of the earlier soldiers of the Republic to bounties equal to the amount given to those who enlisted at a later period, and who had but little fighting to do. The meeting also endorsed by resolution the nomination of the late gallant commander of the famed "White Star Division" for the gubernatorial chair, and promised him a hearty support. General Genry and the soldiers understand one another. A number of eminent speakers addressed the meeting. Over one hundred and fifty new names were added to the rolls of the permanent

GENERAL B. F. MULLEN, Chief of the Military and Naval Department of the Fenian Brotherhood, was serenaded last night at the Girard House, by the sympa hizers in the move-ment for Irish nationality. Patriotic American and Irish airs were performed by the Liberty Cornet Band, and speeches made by General Mullen, District Centre Andrew Wynne, and John Hassan, Esq. General Mullen promised his friends that they need not have any fears of the violation of the neutral ty laws by Colonel O'Alahony. His remarks excited much enthusiasm. During the next week the Femian Brotherhood will hold a series of meetings throughout the city, commencing on Monday might at Jefferson Hall, when General Mulica, Stephen J. Meany, of Cleveland, and others, will make addresses. To-night the Fenians will participate in a social entertainment at Feniau Hall, S. W. corner of Twelfth and Chesnut

DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN. -On Thursday, Colonel Robert Carr, an old and well-known citizen of Philadelphia, died in his eighty-ninth year. He was a printer and publisher in the early part of the present century, and among other works printed some of Tom Moore's, while that celebrated Irish bard was in this country Colonel Carr, we think, learned his trade in Benjamin Franklin's old printing office, but of course after Franklin had retired. He had, however, a vivid recollection of Franklin. He was a soldier of the war of 1812, an early mem-ber of the Pennsylvania Mistorical Society, and also of the Typographical Society, and was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends.

NEW MILITARY ORGANIZATION .- A number of meetings have been held for the purpose of forming a regiment composed entirely honorably discharged soldiers. The work recruiting is progressing finely, and they will be able to parade on the 4th of July or before. Last Tuesday evening a meeting was held at the Western Engine House, and about twenty members joined. Nearly every fire company in the city is represented. The suit will be similar to that worn by the 72d Regiment P. V. (Baxter's Zouaves) in the army, and will cost but a trifle.

IMPORTANT SALE OF REAL ESTATE,-By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that M. Thomas & Sons will sell at public vendue the very valuable business property known as the "Central Buildings," No. 218 and 220 Walnut street, at noon of Taesday, April 3, proximo. The premises have two immense fronts, and the location can hardly be excelled in the city. This noble property is clear of all incum-

A day or two age the box was found in an anocou-pied garret, at No. 309 Walnut street, with a few of the papers in it, but none of the bonds.

MATTERS OVER THE RIVER.

CITY COUNCIL-Last evening the first meeting of the new Council was held at the City Hall, and was organized by the election of Jesse Hail, Esq., as President, and Mr. Joseph C. Nichols as Clerk. Mr. Hall was President of Council last year, but Mr. Nichols takes the place of Samuel W. Thoman, who has been an energetic and faithful clerk for several years past, and was the caucus nominee of the Union party for the clerkship last evening, but the Union members of Council after wards went for Mr. Nichols, who served during the entire

The committee to whom was referred the returns of the election held last Tuesday, reported the following figures as official on the City Ticket:—For Mayer, Paul C. Budd (R.) received 1305 votes; L. F. Fisler (D.) 1189. For Recorder, Robert Folwell (R.) 1362; John B. Thompson (D.) 1094. For Treasurer, Samuel Hutty (R.) 1312; Rellly Barrett (D.) 1182. Fr Solic for, General George M. Josiah D. Rodgers (D.) 461.

It was also shown that two Union members elected from North Ward, two from South Ward; but the Democrats carried Middle Ward by a small vote. After the transaction of the isual business, the Council adjourned.

Committed.-Yesterday atternoon Justice assady committed a young girl to answer charge of stealing articles of clothing, etc., from Mrs. Sailer, where she was living. The goods were found in her possession. The girl is an orphan, and has set out early on the high way of crime. Her lather was killed in the recent war, and her mother died a few months since.

ROBBERY .- A few nights since a young man named Shields was knocked down while passing along the streets of South Ward, and robled of about fourteen dollars by some high wayman, who made his escape.

BREAKING WINDOWS,-A small lad, of rather an unruly turn of mind, named Mitchel, was yesterday committed by Mayor Sudd, in default of $500 ball, to answer the charge of malicious mischief in breaking the large windows of a restaurant at Fourth and Federal streets.

A NEW STAYESMAN IN RUSSIA. DEMOCRACY UNDERMINING THE PEUDAL SYSTEM OF

THE NORTHERN COLOSSUS. M. Nicholas Milontine, the leader of the Russian Democratic party, has recently been called by the Czar to a prominent position in the direction of public affeirs. The importance of this appointment to regard to the future of the empire can hard y be overestimated, and already the power he has obstance over the mind of the Czar has produced remarkable results. The career of Micontine is thus sketched by a contributor to the London Pall Mail Guestles.

markable results. The career of Micotine is thus sketched by a contributor to the London Pall Mall Genetie:—

M Miroutine is a democrat of the most dogmatic and uncompromising kind, and at the same time a warm advocate of the principle of contralization. Being inspired with a violent haired of the nobility, he is a persistent leveller, and dreams of a sort of democracy of peasants, headed by an autocratic cant, and governed by an ail powerful bureaucraev. The chief cause of the extraordinary influence which he has acquired over the Empiror's mind is the success of his project for the 'pacification' of Poland. When the insurrection was at its height, and the Government was seeking in all directions for the means of subduing the Poles, M. Miloutine came forward with an offer of his services. He advised the Emperor to meet the insurrection by a social revolution—to set class against class, ruin the Polish nobility by confiscations, disorganize the Polish Church and corrupt the Polish schools. His advice was adopted, and he himself was entrasted by the Emperor with the execution of his plans. M. Miloutine's success was complete. Poland was ruined, but "pacified," and from that time forward he has enloyed the full confidence of the Czar, in whem he tound a ready listener to his projects against the nobles. Notwithstanding the weakness of his character. Alexander II is very tenacious of power, and fears 20thing so mich as parliaments, constitutions, and control over the finances of the State He has, consequently a profound distrust of the nobility, which has already several times manifested its constitutional tendencies in the provincial assemblies. M. Miloutine has carefully fostered this feeling of distrust in the Emperor, and his aversion to constitutions, and has induced him to adopt his idea of a "democratic Czar," supported by the peasants against the attacks on his privileges by the nobility. Already, in the course of last year, he became the most included and induced as sort of and directed all the proceedings of the Government. An important measure, which produced a sort of crisis in the internal policy of the empire, has now given him the uncontrolled direction of affairs. This measure was the decree for the expropriation of the Poles of Lithmania and Ruthentan provinces. M. Miloutine, seeing that, in spite of the girocities of Mouravieff and the zeal of his successor and imitator, General Kautmann, the work of Russification in these previnces was making no progress—for the very sufficient reasons that the no progress—for the very sufficient reasons that the propertion of Polessto Russian proprietors in them is eventy to one, and that the whole of the educated class is Folish—conceived the monstrous project of transferring all the landed preperty held by the Polish inhabitants into the hands of the Russians. In this plan he was strongly supported by his crea-ture. General Kaufman, and his powerful auxiliary, M. Katkoff, editor of the Moscow Gazette, who is the chief director of public opinion in Russia. Origi-nally it was intended to propose that all the Polish pally it was intended to propose that all the l'olish proprietors should be ordered to sell their estates within a period of two years, and then to leave the country. The enormity of such a proceeding, hewover, was even too much for M. Mi outine, and ulti-mately he decided upon proposing the following measures, which were calculated to produce the same esult in twenty years:—

1. No Pele shall in future be allowed to acquire mmovable property in Lithuania or the Ruthenian

2. No Pole shall be allowed to dispose of his immevacle property to any but orthodox Russians.

3. All Poles who were banished during the late insurrection, and whose estates are sequestrated, shall be directed to sell them within a period of two

4 The above order shall also apply to such Poles as have been confined in the distant provinces of the empire, at the same time remaining possession of their estates.

5 The estates of all Polish proprietors who owe money e taer to the State or to private persons shall money either to the State or to private persons shall at once be sold by auction.

The third and fourth of the above measures apply to the estates of thousands of Poles who have been banished or "interned," and under the fifth almost every proprietor will be itable to less his estate by a forced sale, as few of them are without debis either to the State, or to private persons. M. Mioutine's plan was adopted by the Emperor, but neither the Ministers nor the Privy Council were consulted on the subject, as it was feared they would oppose a measure involving so dangerous a political precedent. The only efficial body to whom the project was submitted was the "special committee for Polisk affairs." It is sommittee is composed of persons known to be This committee is composed of persons known to be hostile to the Poles, yet it declared itself against the plan, and the only votes in its favor were those of M. Micutine himself, his brother (the Minister for War), and General Kaufmann. The Emperor, bowever, adhered to the view of this minority land attacking the decree sent it to the minority fand after signing the decree, sent it to the Senate for registration and promulgation which was done at once. The Minister of the Interior, al. Waloulen, to whose department the decree more particularly related, then resigned, and his colleagues in the Cabinet leadir expressed their disapprobation of it. A ministerial crisis followed, leaving the field open to M. Miloutine, much to the consternation of the friends of constitutional liberty in

What We Owe to Balloons. M. de Fonville sums up, in the Pantheon de I'Industrie et des Arts, the services already ren-dered by the balloonists. "Without balloons," dered by the balloonists. "we should not know that parhella anthelia, etc., which used to be a subject of terror to superstitious populations, are caused by particles of ice suspended in the air by electric attraction; we should not know that the law of progressive refrigeration is not found to hold good at great altitudes, or that in the air there exists a sort of Gult-streams, if we may be permitted to call them so, consisting of hot air, and affording an easy explanation of the irregularity of the seasons. Without Mr. Glashier's ascensions it could not have been proved that the bands of the spectrum are all of terrestrial origin, and that consequently the astronomical theories built upon the supposed part they play in the universe have no reliable foundation. It is not, therefore, possible to assign any limits to the utility of serial navigation, such as is now practicable, by the labors of distinguished philosophers."

THE FIRE IN CHESNUT STREET

Letter from Wells, Fargo & Co.

$10,000 SAVED IN HERRING'S PATENT SAFE. MESSES. FAREEL, BERRING & Co .- Gentlemen :- We have just opened our Safe, one of your manufacture, which passed through the destructive fire in Chesnut s reet last night. The Safe was in our office, No. 60%, which building was entirely destroyed. The bate was in a warm place, as you may well suspose and was red hot when taken out of the embers. We are well satisfied with the result of this trial, and find our books, papers and some ten thousand do lars in money almost as perfect as when put in the Sate. Nothing is injured, it we except the leather bindings of the books, which are steamed; the money and papers are as good as ever. Truly yours, WELLS, FARGO & CO.,
