AMUSEMENTS.

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—Mr. Hackett opens to night in Henry the Fourth. as "Sir John Faistaff." His engagement is but for six nights, during which, however, he will revive some of the good old plays which are so contemptacusiv ignored by other artists. His engagement will be a treat to Phitadelphia, such as it has not had for some time, in these days of "semeation."

NEW CLESSUT STREET INFATRE.—To-night the new p ay of Cartonohe. or, the Stolen Jewels, will be given for the first time in this country. It has fine opportunities for magnificent scenery, and we need not say they will not be neglected at the Chesaut, where everything is so well put upon the stage.

ARCH STREET THEATRE,-To-night Mr. Dillon begins his engagement with Belphagor. All who love genuine talent and true art, should see Mr. Dillon. He is a fine artist, and especially great in Belphagor. We are glad to welcome him back to Philadelphia.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—To morrow Carl Welfsohn's seventh matines will take place in the Foyer of the Academy. In addition to the usual programme, Mr. Theodore Habelmann will sing "Adelaide," sy Beethoven and two of Mr. Welfsohn's compositions, "I Wept while I was Breaming," and the "Water Lily." These last two are worthy the genius of Mr. Welfsohn, tull of deep tenderness and sadness, whose exquisite melodics steal over your senses more like the music of a dream than anything else. We like Mr. Habelmann much better in a concertroom than in opera, and he sings these particular ballads more beautifully than anything else.

GOUGH'S LECTURES.—The two lectures by Mr. Gough, to be delivered at the Academy of Music on the evenings of March 26 and 29, on "Habit" and "Temperance," will prebably afford our citizens the last o portunity of hearing Mr. Gough for some time. That persons may not be disappointed in procuring tokons, we would state that their sale will commonly the for the common that for the commence to-morrow morning, and that for the greater convenience of purchasers it will be condusted at two paces—Claxton's, No. 606 Chesnustreet, and Ashmead & Evans', No. 724 Chesaut

GRAND CONFEDERATION OF FALERT.—The famous minstrel band of Messrs. Burgess, Pencergast & Co., will commence a short season at the Assembly Building, Tenth and Chesout streets, to-morrow evening, and it is highly probable that they will draw overflowing houses. They will give a grand series of recutations, songs, comical and sentimental. that cannot isit to prove very interesting. They promee new songs new music, and choruses, and will noterack any stale jokes.

MATTERS OVER THE RIVER.

ENGINE-HOUSE ON FIRE.-On Saturday the engine-house of the New Jersey Fire Company. In South Camden, was discovered to be on fire, and before the flames were extinguished a considerable portion of the floor and roof was destroyed. The fire is believed to have been caused by incenduarism. This property was recently sold at sheriff's sale, and the Company have thus far been unable to secure its redemption, although the sum of $200 was advanced the Company for that purpose by the City Coun-cil, on their regular annual appropriation.

ODD FELLOWS.—Yesterday morning the Wildey Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Camden, by invitation, attended service at the Tabernacle Baptist Church, from the words, "Friendship, Love, and Truth."

BAPTISM.—Several persons were baptized in the Delaware yesterday, near Cooper's Point, and others were also baptized in the different Baptist churches, by the process of immersion.

GONE TO TRENTON .- Both the steam fireengines in Camden went up to Trenton on Sun-day, to assist in spumping the water out of the Edwin Forrest, which was sunk on Saturday

HEAVY EMBEZZLEMENT BY A BOOK-KEEPER IN WILLIAMSBURG.—A heavy embezzlement, involving some $10,000, was recently discovered in Williamsburg. The accessed is named Joseph Bordeau, 24 years of age, and a native of Troy, N. Y. His mother resides in Cook street, near Broadway, and depended on him almost solely Bordeau and, for the past six months, been in the employ of Mr. William L. Wood, proprietor of the steam soap and candle works, Nos. 72, 74, and 76 Graham avenue, as book-keeper, in which position he was entrusted with the handling of all the funds of the establishment. He applied himself assiduously to business, and, studying the interest of his employer, soon succeeded in gaining his entire confidence. Latterly, however, he became somewhat dissipated, and did not attend to his duties as regularly as during the first few months.

Mr. Wood suspected nothing wrong, however, but becoming rather short of funds as proceeded to the Williamsburg City Bank on the 24th ult., to draw some money, when he discovered, to his astonishment, that the account had been everdrawn. Returning to the office he demanded an explanation, but receiving no satisfactory response, gave Bordeau until the following Monday to clear the matter up.

Being aware of his inability to do so, Bordeau started off for parts unknown on Sunday evening, leaving letters for his mother and late ployer, stating that he had appropriated funds unlawfully to the amount of about $7000, and asking their forgiveness. On reading the letter addressed to him, Mr. Wood proceeded to make an examination of the accounts, and ascertained that his loss was much greater than stated by Bordeau, to the extent of, perhaps, $3000 or The last heard of the delinquent he was at

Reading, Pa., having written to his mother that he was sick and in need of funds. She answered it by inclosing twenty dollars, having been under the necessity of disposing of some household goods in order to enable her to do so. She subsequently sent an additional sum, obtained from a man who swed her son $300 on a gam-bling debt. Mr. Wood refuses to take any action bling debt. Mr. Wood that he will reform and against him, believing that he will reform and again become an honest man. It appears that Bordeau last all the money he thus fraudulently Bordeau lost all the money he thus fraudulently obtained by gambling.—New York Commercial

-The Patria of Naples states that the evacuation of the Convent del Carmine in that city has commenced. The monks not being willing to accept the residence assigned them, prefer returning to their families.

-The Belgias Government has officially declared its neutrality in the war between Spain and Chili, and warned its subjects that any person subject to the laws of the kingdom who should arm privateers or take part therein, or commit any act contrary to the obligations of neutrality, would be liable to prosecution before the Belgian tribunals, independently of the rigorous treatment which he might receive —In the cellars of Baron Rothschild's mansion, Rue Lafitte, Paris, are twenty-four thousand bottles of every species of the wines existing at the commencement of this century, from the Lachryma Christi, which every visitor to Naples has tasted, to the purple-tinted sweet wines of the Cape; from the common wines of the Macon vineyards to the rare vintages of Medoc. The value of this collection amounts to 240,000 frances.

-A workman at the granite quarry in Quincy, Mass., a few days since completed a drill and ignited a fuse, which for want of air or some other cause went out. To complete the job in hand, the careless workman undertook the dangerous task of drilling around the fuse to remove it, and while so engaged a spark from the drill ignifed the fuse, causing an instanta-neous explosion, and blowing the unfortunate man to pieces. His mutilated remains were gathered together and duly buried.

Meeting of Major Generals at St. Louis. Major General George G. Meade and Major-General George H. Thomas arrived in this city yesterday, and took rooms at the Lindell Hotel. Each is accompanied by an Aid-de-Camp, the former by Major Emory, and the latter by Major Willard.

or the purpose of convening and composing a special Army Board, with authority to inquire into the matter of brevet promotions of officers of the regular army of the higher grades, and report to the Government thereon. Major-Generals Sherman and Sheridan are likewise members of the board. General Sheridan is the only absentee at present, but is hearly expected. The board will organize immediately on his arrival.—St. Louis Republican, Thursday.

The Author of Shakespeare's Plays.

A St. Louis correspondent writes :- "In a dismal den of an effice on Chesnut street has Nebe-A St. Louis correspondent writes:—"In a dismal den of an effice on Chesnut street has Nebemish Holmes, Esq., now Judge of the Supreme Court of this State, for the past flitteen years been studying and preparing a book to prove that the plays of Shakspeare were written by Lord Bacon. Judge Holmes has in his possession certain letters never before published, which are calculated to throw considerable probability in his favor. The following interesting piece of history, not generally known, bears upon that point. When Lord Bacon was Solicitor-General, prior to his appointment as Attorney-General, he was requested by his Mylesty to prefer charges against Lord Essex. Among other allegations there was one declaring, "that he was the author of a certain seditious play entitled Richard, calculated to excite discontent and riot among good and loyal subjects." Bacon declined prosecuting the charges, using the following significant language:—"Whereas it hath been bruited about that I myself am the author of said play of Richard, it would therefore be exceedingly unseemly in me to prosecute him for that which is charged upon me;' so that even in Bacon's day the theory was prevalent. I understand the work will be issued by the Riverin Bacon's day the theory was prevalent. I understand the work will be issued by the Riverside press in the course of a month or so.'
