TEMPERANCE MEETING.—A large number of persons assembled last evening in the First Baptist Church, corner of Broad and Arch streets, for the purpose of listening to addresses on the subject of temperance, delivered by several prominent divines of this city.

Rev. G. Dana Boardman presided, and opened the proceedings by reading the Scriptures, prayer, and a brief address, in which he depicted in vivid colors the evils resulting from the use of spirituous liquors. He was followed by Rev. Dr. Purnell, who read several interesting extracts from different writers, showing, among other facts, that there are annually five among other facts, that there are annually five thousand arrests made in this city for intoxication, and five thousand more from causes result-

Among the facts read was that which alluded Among the lacts read was that which alited to the large number of females who are addicted to this evil. It was stated that on a recent occasion no less than seventeen had been found in the short space of two squares lying drunk on the door-steps of the dwellings, and that more than three-fourths of the criminal cases in our courts are brought about from causes of this kind.

Rev. Dr. Crowell then addressed the meeting, and spoke of the evils resulting from the free use of intoxicating drinks. His address was listened to by the audience with profound at-

He was followed by Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, who made a thrilling speech, in which he re viewed the different plans proposed to remedy the evil alluded to. He had little hope of much good being done in this direction by our legisla tors, who, in many cases, are at times found under the influence of the intoxicating bowl. He contended that they could not be trusted in a matter of such momentous importance. In conclusion, he urged his auditors to go to work and use their influence in behalf of the thousands or young men and women who are liable to be drawn into this whirlpool of destruction. At the conclusion of these remarks the audience were addressed by Rev. Dr. Nevin, after which the meeting was brought to a close.

GAS IN DIFFERENT CITIES .- The following statement showing the amount of gas con-sumed in the various cities named, as obtained from the managers of the different works, will, no doubt, be read with interest.

The statements were ambedied in the report of the Council Committee on Gas. The state-ment submitted shows the following prices per 1000 cubic teet, including the Government tax:-

lows:—New York, 11,500 feet; Albany, 6912; Louisville, 12,890: Baltimore, 16,500; Philadel-phia, 23,791. In New York $50 per lamp was paid; in Albany, $23; and in Philadelphia, $48 in warrants.

The committee give the following as the actual price paid in the cities named below for each 1000 cubic teet of gas consumed in the public lamps:—New York, $4'34½, including attendance; Albany, $3'32; Jersey Ci'y, $2'30, besides $3 per annum for each lamp; Buffalo, $2'50; Chicago, $2'30; Boston, $2'50; Philadelphia, $1'69 34-100, or, including attendance, $1'87. In New York, it is stated, that 3 feet of gas per hour are consumed in the public lamps, and in Philadelphia 9½ feet. There are 3914 miles of street mains in New York, and 4752 miles in Philadelphia, and 15,519 public lamps in New York, and 7422 in this city.

The committee state that the average price paid for coal in ten of the cities named above was $11.28 per ton, while the average price paid in Philadelphia was $11.40.

"LECTURE UPON THE GLACIERS."-The cademy of Music was graced last evening by a Academy of Music was graced last evening by a brilliant audience, who had assembled to listen to a lecture by Professor Fairman Rogers, upon the above-named subject. This subject, apparently within the strict bounds of science, was most popularly discoursed upon by the eloquent lecturer. Indeed, he manifested a familiarity with his subject and a grasp of thought that, while presenting the topic as a comprehensive whole, intelligible to all listeners, yet enabled him to enter into the minuter details, not only without destroying the interest of his hearers but with the effect of even enhancing their pleasure. The lecture was graphic and absorbing, em-

The lecture was graphic and absorbing, embracing a description of several leading glaciers of Switzerland, with a scientific explanation popularly given of the causes that produced them, the forces that ruled their motions, and the attendant phenomena. By means of paintings and photographs, magnified upon a large screen, vivid illustrations were given of the peculiar features of glaciers, and incidental to these were presented views of the crystallization of water into ice. The subject was ably handled, and various illustrations were loudly applauded.

SALE OF HORSES .- A sale of valuable horses took place yesterday morning, at Mar-ble Hall, the country-seat of Mr. Henry S. Hit-ner. Quite a large number of persons were present, most of whom went to the ground in private carriages. The stock offered for sale was celebrated for its speed. The first animal put up was the least valuable of the lot. It was knocked down at four hundred dollars. The next was a beautiful pony-such as are much oftener seen through the medium of pictuees than in living reality. The graceful little animal was sold for two hundred and seventy-five dollars. A pair of trotters, oraceful as gazelles, next came under the hammer, and realized the sum of forty-two hundred and fifty dollars. Another pair brought the even sum of three thousand dollars.

HALL FOR THE RED MEN .- A purchase has just been made by the Independent Order of Red Men of the three properties on the southwest corner of Third and Brown streets, containing[65 feet on Third street and 105 feet on Brown street. Plans for the new building have been furnished by the architect. It will be four stories high; the first floor will be divided into stores, a banqueting saloon, offices, etc., and in the second there will be a grand saloon for balls public [meetings, etc. The third and fourth stories will be divided into lodge and anterooms. The entire height of the building will be 78 feet, and from the foundation 98 feet high.

RECEIPTS OF CITY TREASURY .- There was paid into the City Treasury during the past week the sum of $118,572.69, of which $85,540.83 were from taxes of 1866, and $24,108.07 from water rents. The Treasury paid out during the same time, on warrants issued by the Departments, $82,634'44.

SLIGHT FIRE .- An alarm of fire was given between seven and eight o'clock last evening. It was caused by the ourning of a partition, which caught fire from a stove at the residence of Patrick Farrell, Callowhill street, above

According to an official return, the business in indigo in England last year was equal to eleven million dollars of American money. Most of it came from Bengal and Pegu. About three-fourths of the whote amount was reshipped for exportation, the United States receiving 6868 cwts.

CITY INTELLIGENCE From Girard College to the House of

To the Editor of the Evening Telegraph:-SIR:--I see that "a bill has been introduced into the Legislature authorizing the Directors of Girard College to send incorrigible beys, under their control, to the House of Refuge." This announcement must shock the sense of propriety of every right thinking person. Not only is it an open violation of the will of Stephen Grard, but an outrage on our citizens. They should inquire into the workings of this institution. It is of more importance to them than they may at first imagine. Every citizen has a right, at least, to hope, should he be taken off without leaving means for the education of his male children, that they would receive it at Girard College. The public know nothing of the workings of the institution, save the little the Board of Directors permit them to learn from the annual reports. The College is rapidly losing the proud name it once had Sometaing should be done. Where is the Girard Brotherhood? Why do not they take this matter in hand? Many of them hold positions of honor and trust, and are men of power and influence. Where are our Wards, our Chamberses, our Giberts? Why do we not hear your-volces? One there was who would not have allowed this affair to pass unnoticed—he had the interests of the institution at heart, but our orator, our Dunn, is dead. Still many able men remain, men who have the power, if they but exert the will, to crush such disgraceful measures. Shall we blush to acknowledge Girard College as our Alma Mater?—and yet, if we would avoid that shame, we must defeat such measures as the one now before the Legislature. We are strong in numbers, and I feel assured should we take any steps in the matter, we would meet with the hearty approval and cooperation of the citizens of Philadelphia at large. On us depends the honor or the institution. Let us not stand calmily by and see that honor sulfied, but convene the Brotherhood and take prompt and decisive measures to prevent this shame, and sustain the College in us original purity. it at Girard College. The public know nothing of cisive measures to prevent this sname, and sustain the College in its original purity. W. C. S., A GRADUATE OF 1857. Philadelphia, March 27.

THE INCOME TAX.

Letter from Professor Goldwin Smith. The Albany Argus publishes a letter from Professor Goldwin Smith, of Oxford University, England, addressed to the Hon. J. V. L. Pruyn, of Albany, in reference to the policy of taxing incomes. Professor Smith, after recounting the adoption of the tax for the first time by Mr. Putt in 1707 and the same of t

the adoption of the tax for the first time by Mr. Pitt, in 1797, says:—

Its renewal by successive Chancellors of the Exchequer since that time, has been partly justified by the fiscal experiment commenced by sir Robert Peel, viz.:—The reduction of duties in the hope of relieving the consumer without loss to the revenue, and by the emergency of the sussian war, when the tax was temporarily increased. But the main inducement has been the dangerous facility of the fiscal engine, by means of which the Minister who has it is his hand is able, at any time, by a single turn of the screw to produce an additional revenue of large and c. rtain amount, and thus to keep up the war expenditure in time of peace, to which our Government, or rather governing class, is so incor-Government, or rather governing class, is so incorrupbly addicted.

The tax has been opposed throughout its existence, mainly on three grounds:—

First. The unfairness of its pressure on the different descriptions of incomes, those arising from labor and those not arising from labor, the certain and the precarious, to remedy which various attempts at dis-crimination have been made, but without success, so that the evil may be regarded as at once great and incurable.

Second. Its inquisitorial character, and the arbitrary power almost inevitably given to the Exche-trary power almost inevitably given to the Exchequer in assessing it.

Third, Its demoralizing tendency, at least when there is no great national emergency to stimulate the patriotism of the taxpayer, and induce him from a sense of honor to make true retuins. Notable instances of this tendency, even in the case of our most respectable class of citizens, are given in the historical sketch. Probably false returns to the income tax have been the easy and seductive first step in many a trader's downward path to mercantile dishonor. Nobody has admitted this more explicitly than Mr. Gladstone, though he has been to so great an extent responsible for the continuance of the tax. There is another objection to the tax, arising from an extent responsible for the continuance of the tax. There is another objection to the tax, arising from a socialistic tendency, as a tax imposed expressly on the rich, and capable of indefinite increase and class graduation, which is less felt in the country where the rich are the possessors of political power, but which, if I rightly remember a conversation which I had many years ago with a Swiss gentleman, was greatly felt in certain cantons of Switzerland, where principles bordering on socialism at that time prevailed.

The tax is attractive to our Finance Minister, as I

The tax is attractive to our Finance Minister, as I magine, not only from its facility and certainty as a source of revenue, but for the relie: which it affords him from the necessity of deciding between the conflicting claims of different great interests, agricultural and commercial, in the distribution of fiscal burdens. This advantage, however, would equally belong to any invarial system of invarious such belong to any impartial system of taxation, such as that or which, if I can presume to call myself an advocate or any system, I am an advocate—an equal tax off all realized property, combined with a stamp tax and an equal ad vatorem duty on all imports. I or course confine myself to the subject of the English income tax, without touching on the American question. But perhaps I may, without pre-sumption, mention one or two points affecting in different ways the applicability of our experience to the case of your nation:—

First. The socialistic tendency, which is here kep in check by the political power of the income tax in check by the political power of the income tax paying class, will perhaps in your case be equally kept in check by a different influence, viz.: by the absence of any sharp class divisions among your people, the more palpable identity of interest, and the greater expectation felt by the poor man of being himself one day numbered with the rich.

Second. We live under the system of free trade, you under that of protection. I will not enter into the vexed and, I fear, acrimonious questions as to the general merits of the two systems; but it is, of the vexed and, I lear, acrimonious questions as to the general merits of the two systems; but it is, of course, manifest that free trade, by encouraging the importation of articles on which duties can be levied, is the best for the customs revenue; and, therefore, the necessity for direct taxation may not be so great in our country as in yours.

Third. On the other hand much of the income paying the tax here is hereditary, or at least belongs to persons not engaged in any industry or trade, the curtailment of whose expenditure, especially when it is devoted to the maintenance of great domestic it is devoted to the maintenance of great domestic establishments, though it is an evil, and if carried beyond due limits, an injustice to the persons themselves, does not interfere with the production of wealth by the community; whereas, in America the great incomes are generally the prizes of industry, which cannot be rendered inscours without injuring itself and the leading shoots of commerce, which cannot be lopped without stunting the growth of the whole tree.

THE VAULTS OF THE BANK OF FRANCE. -Of the vast additions to the buildings of the Bank of France now in progress, the cellars are the most important part, being destined to receive, like the old ones, the metallic reserve or the esta-blishment, amounting generally to several hundred millions of francs. The walls of these vaults, says a correspondent, are of stupendous thickness. On descending the first steps leading o their entrance, the first obstacle is an iron loor, locked with three keys, one of which is in the hands of the Governor of the Bank, the second is kept by the cashier, and the third by the censor; so that this door cannot be opened without the simultaneous consent of these three functionaries. The first compartment contains the funds for current use. The safe kept here is so curiously constructed that if you do not know the secret of its construction the slightest touch anywhere will set a noisy alarm agoing, loud enough to startle all the inmates of the establishment. The next compartment is circular, and called the Serre; it cannot be entered without the same ceremonial, and it is fitted up with fireproof shelves. It contains all the important deeds, notes, and papers belonging to the bank; also deposits of private persons. Here the Duke of Brunswick used to leave his jewels, previous to going on a journey. After the Serve come the vaults properly so called, the entrance to which is closed by an iron door secured by several combination locks; it turns on central pivots, like Italian doors. It gives access to a well hole containing a winding staircase, admitting but one person at a time, and leading to subterranean galleries four hundred and twenty metres in length. These are alled with iron casks con-taining lingers and colu, and labelled according to their contents. By way of additional secuand the vaults with water at a minute's notice if the safety of the treasure were menaced in the slightest degree.

-St. Louis is all ablaze with the Fenian movement. Both the Roberts and O'Mahony actions hold nightly meetings, and the bonds of the Irish republic meet with a ready sale.

The Land of this Company consists of about 129 Acres, in Mecklenburg county. North Carolina, about 35 miles from the town of Charlotte.

On this property fifteen shafts or pits have been opened and sunk to various depths, from 10 to 85 feet, demonstrating the existence of three parallel vens of ore of about 2 feet in width and about 15 feet apart, converging to a come on centre at the depth of about 150 feet, forming one immense mass or vein of ore, extending in length through the property more than half a mile. There are also on this property other vens of ore mexplored. All these ores are known as the Brown Ores, and are very rich, yielding an average of about $200 per ton in gold, the above results having been demonstrated by the rude working of the mines for several years past, the risk of investment in undeveloped property is not incurred, and by the application of modern mining and reducing machinery the Company anticipate an immediate and large return for their money.

Having an ore that readily yields $200 per ton, some estimate can be made of the value of this property. With the present imperiect system of mining, ten tons of this ore can be taken out and reduced daily from every shart opened, at an expense not exceeding $25 per ton, leaving a net daily profit of $1750 for each shaft worked by the Company.

The large working capital reserved will enable the Company at once to procure and erect the best modern These mines, whilst they produce ores richer than those of Colorado or Nevada, have many advantages over them, particularly m an abundance of their and cheap labor, and the facility with which they can be worked during the entire year; whilst those of Colorado and Nevada can only be worked during the warm weather.

A test assay of an average (specimen of the ore from the Carson Mines was made as late as the 27th of January of the present year, as will appear from the iol-lowing certificate of Processors Booth and Garrett, the Assayers of the Philadelphia Mint:—

PHILADELPHIA. January 27, 1866.

Dear Sir:—We have carefully assayed the sample of ore from "Carson Mine," North Carolina, and find it to yield ten ounces nine penny weights of pure gold to the ton of ore. The coin value is therefore $216.02 per ton of ore.

Yours, respectfully.

BOOTH & GARRETT.
