CORONER'S INVESTIGATION .- An investigation was made yesterday atternoon, by the Coroner, into the cause of the death of Christian Berger, which occurred yesterday morning, an account of which was given in this paper at that time. The following evidence was given at the investigation:---

Andrew Fleming, sworn.-I am a keeper in the prison, and had churge of Christian Berger; Monday his mother was allowed to see him and gave him an apple, part of which he ate; since then no one has visited him but a minister of the Gospel and cilicial visitors; I never knew of his threatening to take his life; yesterday I was at his cell a little after seven o'clock; at din-ner time I was there again, and he asked to have more meat, about five o'clock I again went to the cell, and found him lying on his face on the floor: his face was a blackish red, and when I litted him up he could not spenk; I remained with him well on to six o'clock; I asked him if he had been taking anything, and he said he had not; Dr. Klapp had been sent for and he exam-ined Berger as d fell his pulse; before I left him he said, "Fleming, can you do anything for me?" I did not see him again until I found him this morning dead; he was lying on his side, head down; last week he complained of feeling un-well, and shid he was worried; he was a hearty

Dr. H. Klapp testified that he saw Berger about a week ago, when he was suffering from a slight bilious attack, gave him medicine, and he recovered. The next the doctor saw of him was on Wednesday about 5 o'clock, when he found him suffering from epilepsy: applied the proper remedies, and in an hour he came out of the fit and recovered his voice; sought to ascertain it he had been taking anything, which he denied. The doctor saw him again at half-past 9 o'clock, when he was asleep in a charr; called him three or four times before he answered; spoke to him about sleeping in a chair, and he said he would go to bed; noticed nothing unusual in him; never intimated that he intended to commit suicide. He left no paper behind; could not read nor write; on one occasion he asked as to the amount of pain by hanging. Dr. Shapleigh, sworn—I made a post-mortem examination of the body of Christian Berger; found a slight abrasion on the right side of the face, as if from a fall; the face, neck, and upper part of the breast were of a dark color; found the heart, longs, and liver in a healthy condi-tion; the bloodyessels of the scalp were filled with blood, and the brain was in a state of great congestion; also the membranes of the brain. I am of the opinion that Christian Berger came to his death from congestion of the brain. There are many causes of congestion of the brain. Convulsions will cause it; interruption of respiration also, and of the circulation of the blood. He might have had a convulsion in the atter-noon, and a worse one at night. There was no indication of poison. The drawing up of the mouth and frothing at the mouth indicate spasmodic motion. The stomach was nearly empty; the intestines were in a bealthy condition. Active poison would have caused inflammation of the stomach; narcotics could be detected in no other way except by the smell, or by chemical analysis.

The testimony was here closed, and the jury returned a verdict of death from congestion of the brain. Arrangements were made by the father of Berger to have him buried.

LECTURE ON TEMPERAN CE .- Last evening one of the largest audiences that even graced the Academy of Music assembled to listen to a lecture, which was delivered by John B. Gough, Esq., on the subject of "Temper-ance." Long before the speaker appeared the platform and other parts of the spacious build-ing were filled with the friends of the eloquent maker who on making his expression speaker, who on making his appearance was greeted with rounds of applause.

Mr. P. B. Simons, President of the Young. Men's Christian Association, under whose auspices these lectures were delivered, introduced the lecturer. The address, although mostly composed of thoughts contained in his previous efforts on this subject, was listened to with the most protound attention for about two hours. In commencing, he alluded to the fact that the subject which he intended to speak of had been so often brought before the mind of the public that but little that was new could be said in reference to its claims.

He nevertheless believed it to be his duty to speak in layor of this great reform as long as he

GOOD FRIDAY.—To-day will be celebrated by a large portion of the Church as the season which typides the cracifixion of our Saviour. To-day theagony of His death will be declared in a poignant manner. In England this day is celebrated with much exactness, business being colebrated with much exactness, business being suspended, and the people, as with one ac-cord, giving themselves up to its observance. On this occasion the Catholic Church, in its ceremonies, lays aside every expression of joy and festivity, her altars and their surroundings being stripped of their rich ornaments, for which a solemn dress of mourning is substituted. The a solemn dress of mourning is substituted. The sacrifice of the Mass is not offered on this day, but there is performed an office called the Mass of the Pre-Sanctined. The priest and his minis-ters, robed in black, proceed to the altar with-out lights or incense, and prostrate them-selves before it while the acolytes cover it with a linen cloth. After the reading of the lessons of the day, and the history of Christ's passion according to St. John, the priest puts off his vestments, and taking the crucify, which to this time was conceded hecrucifix, which to this time was concealed be-neath a veil, uncovers it slowly and with great olemnity, while the choristers chant the Pange Lingua. Next follows the veneration of the Cross, during which the candles on the altar are lighted, and the crucifix is elevated to its place upon the tabernacle. The priest and his minis-ters then carry in procession from the Reposi-tory the Host placed there on Holy Thursday, and return to the main altar, where the Sacred Species is offered up as that which has before been sanctified, a service different to that of the ordinary Mass. ordinary Mass.

An impressive service will be held this after-An impressive service will be held this atter-noon in St. Joseph's Church, S. Fourih street, on which occasion an imposing representation of the Holy Sepulchre will be creeted upon the main altar. The work is in imitation of rocks, and is surmounted by a large cross having upon it the other instruments of the crucifixion. A solemn office is chanted by a line choir, accom-panied with music other than the organ, which is not used upon this day. The Enjscoped is not used upon this day. The Episcopal churches were all open for Divine service thus COLORED THIEF.—A hearing took place yesterday afternoon in the case of a colored man named Samuel Davis, who was suspected of having stolen a chest of black te a and seve-ral pieces of calico. The heuse of the accused is in Emeline street, to which place officers Lemon, Tryon, and Levy paid a visit yesterday morning, in search of stolen property, informa-tion having been communicated that such was stored in the premises. On looking through the stored in the premises. On looking through the house they found the articles above mentioned. The tea was secreted behind a chimney in the garret. The chest contains the following marks:---"Benefactor, A. A. L. & B., F.; finest Oolong, No. 52. Ahkong." The prisoner was held in default of $3000 bail, for a further hearing on next Thursday attempts next Thursday afternoon.

SUDDEN DEATH FROM DISEASE OF THE HEART,-Early last evening Mr. A. P. Hackman, aged about forty-five years, a very wealthy man, owner of a large distillery near Mount Joy, owner of a large distillery near Mount Joy, entered the cellar under the Bull's Head Hotel, No. 1025 Market street, and called for a glass of ale. He had scarcely drank half the contents when he suddenly fell dead. He is said to be involved in a very important suit with the United States, being charged with (raud in the conduct of his business. Seven thousand dol-lats were found on his person. Coroner Taylor, who had abundance of work yesterday, held an inquest, resulting in a verdict of death from disease of the heart.

LAGER BEER SALOON ROBBED .--- An at-LAGER BEER SALOON ROBBED.—An at-tempt was made on Wednesday evening to rob the lager beer saloon of Charles Kahler, No. 525 North Third street. The robbers effected an entrance from the rear of the building. They took a good overcoat belonging to the bar-keeper, and no doubt would have carried of much more, had they not been alarmed by the jumates of the house, who heard them while eninmates of the house, who heard them while en-deavoring to effect an entrance. The robbers leit behind them in the building several of their burglarious implements, which may possibly lead to their detection.

NEW TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT .- In view of the general and increasing interest felt in the temperance work, and the recent organization of a National Temperance Society, Rev. Theo-dore Cuyler, of Brooklyn, and other clergymen. held a temperance meeting yesterday afternoon, in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Asso clation, for the purpose of conference with the active friends of the cause in this city. Several addresses were made, and a committee appointed to carry out the objects of the meeting. The movement bids fair to be productive of great good. SUICIDE FROM POVERTY AND SICKNESS .-Jacob Kock, thirty-nine years old, committed suicide yesterday at his residence, corner of Borden and Fifth streets, below Wharton, in a singular manner. He loaded a toy cannon, and placing the muzzle in his mouth, applied a match to the touch-hole. The load took effect in the upper part of the head, tearing most of it Cause, poverty and sickness. Deceased away. leaves a wife and three small children.

could claim the attention of an intelligent audience, and gather around him those for whom the sympathies of the friends of temperance were so freely enlisted. He then alluded to the evil consequences attending his course before he identified himself with the temperance movement. At that time he had little hope that he could gain a permament mastery over his former habits. He here drew a picture of the incbriate, and interspersed his mmarks with anecdotes based on facts which had come under his notice, to show how intem-perance would lead to poverty, vice, and not unfrequently to death.

In order to escape from the tight grasp of the passion which binds him, the incbriate must exercise decision of character, and under all circumstances avoid the enticements thrown in his way to partake of the intoxicating bowl. He felt happy in believing that he had been instru-mental in reclaiming some from this particular vice, some of whom had greeted him with the warm grasp of the hand, and with feelings of gratitude bid him God-speed for the good thus accomplished in their individual cases. The death-bed scene of the drunkard was pictured in vivid colors, and his final doom alluded to in a manner to cause a shudder through the audience. The inebriate has an enemy within, which is constantly crying "Give, give, give !" The speaker here alluded to the testimony of Dr. Kane, Professor Miller, Dr. Livingston, and others, in support of the temperance cause. They did not believe that the use of liquor as a medicine was necessary at all times. Some men, said he, even believe that they can better reconstruct the Government while under the influence of liquor. This remark was greeted with prolonged applause, In alluding to our late President, Abraham Lincoln, he said that he was noted for his firm ness of character, strict temperance principles and the fear of God.

The audience again showed their approval of the sentiments uttered by loud and continued applause, lasting for several minutes,

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT .- Last evening the commencement exercises of the South western Grammar School took place in the Fourth Presbyterian Church, corner of Twelfth and Lombard streets. The audience room was crowded in all parts with the friends of the institution. The female scholars were tastily arrayed in white dresses and different colored regalias. The exercises opened with prayer, by the Rev. Willard M. Rice; followed by a recita-tion, in concert, of the 23d Psalm, by the pupils. A very appropriate introductory address was then made by Lewis Elkin, Esq. The rest of the exercises consisted of addresses, recitations, the exercises consisted of addresses, recitations, and sincing by the pupils.
