NEW CREEKUT STREET TREATRE. - Never too Late to Mend, by Charles Reads, is not only a sensa-tion piece, but its production in London was the cause of a sensation scene amongst the audience on the first night of its representation. Its revelations of the secrets of the prison house were so strong, so revolting, and so harrowing, that the audience actually refused to allow the piece to proceed. These scenes have been modified, and as it is, the piece is eminently interesting, and, besides, has a high moral aim.

eminently interesting, and, best dess has a high moral aim.

Miss Annie Ward took her benefit at the New Chesnut Street Theatre on Friday evening. Ars. K., formerly a popular member of the company, volunteered her services to play the character of "Zoe," in the Octorom. Instead of going to the Chesnut Street Theatre, and enjoyed Mr. Dillon's enactment of Beiphegor. In this distinuing the manager had to call on Miss Josic Orton to perform the part, which that lady accomplished most acceptably, although she had no exportantly to rehearse the part, and had not "looked up her lines" for several months. The audience appeared plessed at the change, and the affair passed off as happily as could be expected. It is given out as a cause for this misbehavior of "Zoe," that she has threatened that she would be instrumental in closing the Chesnut Street Theatre for one night at least, and hence this neat little "set-up" plot, as the sequel showed, failed, and was called before the cartain to receive the congratuations of her friends. She assumed the part with diffidence, and her perfection in it seemed to come from inspiration, as she surprised not only her heavers, but herself as well. rom inspiration, as she surprised not only her learers, but herself as well.

WA NEW ENTERPRISE.—Most of our readers have witnessed the tight-rope performances of Master Edward Rivers during his engagements in this city. He is better known to the public by his stage name, "El Nino Eddie." He is remarkable not only for the gince and agility of his performances, but for his daring and courage. He will attempt feats (and perform them successfully) which even Blondin himself would besitate to try. His great popularity in this country has induced Mr. Fox, the Proprietor of the American Theatre in this city, in connection with some other gentlemen, to enter into an engagewith some other gentlemen, to enter into an engage with some other gentlemen, to enter into an engagement with him for a European tour. He will open at the Crystal Palace in London, about the latter end of the present month, and probably remain in England, ireland, and Scotland for a year or more. He will then make the tour of the continent previous to his return to the United States. John C. Curran, Esq., an accomplished gentleman, very familiar with sinusemente, and having large experience in the taste of the public, left New York on Saturcay last in the steamer City of Washington, for the purpose of making appropriate arrangements. for the purpose of making appropriate arrangements for his debut. We predict for "El Nino" an unqualified success, and for those who have embarked n the venture, remunerative returns that he will give us a touch of his quality before he

ARCH STREET THEATRE.—On Saturday the popular actor, Mr. E. L. Tilton, took a benefit, and we are glad to say his many friends turned out in full force to give him a hearty welcome. On that occasion his daughter, Miss Fanny V. Tilton, trod the boards for the first time in the character of "Martha Roseblade" She played the character with wonderful nerve and calmness, for though not a fine part, in our estimation it is a very difficult one. The manner in which Miss Liton acquitted herself was truly wonderful for a first attempt. She has a clear voice and very distinct amounts for a first attempt. very distinct enunciation, and seems periectly at home. We congratulate the lady, and wish her all the success which her talent and study will surely gain for her. The piece was very nicely put upon the stage. the stage.

Mr. Murdoch is at length sufficiently recovered to give us the admirable artistic treat or twelve nights of his exquisite and highly finished performances. The opening piece will be Wild Oats. ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Mr. Wheatley, who seemed to have forgotten us in the vortex of New York, presents to us this evening the Ravei Family, which seems never to be wanting in talent or in new members. They all come dancing and skipping into the world, and they never fall down stairs, but fall naturally down trains. rally down traps—the girls dance before they walk. Altogether the Raye s came juto the world for the express purpose of adding lustre to the dramatic combination known for the last twenty years as the Ravel Family. The pieces will be put on the stage with every advantage of decoration and mise en

WALNUT STREET THEATRE—Mrs. D. P. Bowers appears this evening in The Lady of Lyons. This lady will be welcomed with the deepest feeling of sympathy, as well as admiration, for Mrs. Bowers, by the special quality of her talent, interests all who come within the magnetism of her presence. She will be supported by Mr. McCollom, a gentleman who brings a high requisition from Beltimore. who brings a high reputation from Baltime
